STEAM SHIP FOR SALE.

THE new, fast sailing, clipper-built screw steamship SIR JOHN HARVEY, 620 tons register, two engines, 500 horse power. Her dimensions are:—

Length .... 170½ fee
Breadth 27 8-
Depth 18⅝

MACHINERY.

Condensing engines
Diameter of cylinders, 44 inches
Length of stroke, 33 inches
Diameter of boilers, 8 1-6 feet
Length of ditto, 28 feet
And carries 25 pounds steam
Revolutions per minute, 40
Warrington engine bilge pumps
Propeller 4 fans, 12½ feet diameter
And one spare ditto, 3 fans, 11½ ditto

This boat was built in Medford, Mass., in 1852, expressly for a packet, of the best materials, and in the most thorough and substantial manner, coppered, copper fastened, and diagonally strapped.

Naval architects have pronounced her one of the best models afloat.

The engines were built in Boston, under the superintendence of Charles W. Copeland, civil engineer, of New York.

The ship has three cabins between decks, and a large house and large saloon on deck; is well furnished with beds, bedding, silver ware, &c. She has splendid accommodations for 68 cabin passengers and 150 second cabin, carrying upwards of 240 tons cargo, with sufficient room for coals.

For further information apply to H. E. WOODWARD, at the office of Messrs. Wilkinson, Brothers, and Co.; or on board the ship, at Circular Wharf. 3578

FOR SALE.—The iron screw steamship OSMANLI, 403 tons register, and 700 tons burthen, with fuel room for 250 tons. Length overall, 180 feet; beam, 23 feet 6 inches; depth of hold, 16 feet. Her engines of 100 horse power were made by Caird, of Greenock, in 1847.

The Osmanli was built in the Clyde in 1846, lengthened and thoroughly overhauled in 1852, and had new boilers seven months ago. Is fitted with Beattie's patent screw, working behind the rudder, thereby adding to the speed and steering qualities of the vessel, and preventing vibration, so common in steamships. Has accommodation for 24 first class cabin passengers, and can fit up for 200 others. Is well found in sails, spars, and everything connected with the engine department.

The Osmanli's voyage from Liverpool to Port Phillip was made in SIXTY-NINE DAYS.

If not sold she will be immediately placed in the Port Phillip trade, for which she is refitting.

Terms and full particulars will be given upon application to the commander on board.

SALES BY AUCTION.

PRELIMINARY NOTICE.

HEIGHTS OF WAVERLEY—10 ACRES.

MR. A. POLACK will sell by public auction (if not disposed of by private contract), on an early day,

All that piece or parcel of land, containing by admeasurement situated on that high eminence lying between the property of the Corporation of Sydney and the estate of W. C. Wentworth, Esq., M.C., near Cogee, being a and a selection made by a Government official.

TEN ACRES,

GRANT FROM THE CROWN,

These ten acres are well watered, with plenty of building materials.

For further particulars apply to the auctioneer, Hunter-street.

CONCORD, PARRAMATTA ROAD.

MR. A. POLACK has received instructions to sell by public auction, on MONDAY next, the 1st August, at eleven o'clock,

At Russell's Long Room, Pitt-street,

An allotment of ground, being a first-rate, sound, and valuable adjoining the property of Mr. F. Ellard on the west, and Mr. Cohen on the east, not far from Neich's public house, and opposite the Burwood gate.

FREEHOLD BUILDING SITE,

It has a frontage of 100 feet to the Parramatta-road, by a depth of 249 feet to a street known as Concord-street, to which it has a frontage of 100 feet.

This property is too well-known to be described. It was selected by one of the best judges of the colony, and requires no comment from the auctioneer.

The forthcoming railroad, and the easy access to it by the present conveyances, are in themselves a first-rate recommendation.

Terms at sale.

A plan on view at the rooms of the auctioneer, Hunter street. 4006

BRIGHTON ESTATE.

MR. A. POLACK will sell by auction, on an early day, as soon as he receives the plan from the surveyors, 65 acres of that well-known BRIGHTON ESTATE.

After the well-known description which has been given from time to time of this daily rising and importantly situated landed property, Mr. Polack deems it already unnecessary to expatiate on the very many qualifications it possesses. Suffice it to say, this estate has important buildings of every description. It has splendid spots, approximating to parks in England, and this may be selected from among them without the aid of artifice to imitate that which Nature has so bountifully provided. The whole of this reserve has been strongly recommended by the auctioneer to be sold in ONE LOT, but the proprietor is determined to give the invalid from India, as also the thousands that are flocking to our shores from all quarters of the globe daily, an opportunity that will never again occur. It is a well known fact that upwards of 200,000 persons are expected between this and next year —not making any allusion to the 12,500 that have arrived on our shores during the last four months; not forgetting the railroad, which Mr. Polack, who was the first projector of this gigantic undertaking (see the Times, Morning Herald, &c., &c., &c., of 1840) when in London, will, as he prognosticated would, be fulfilled, and there is not a doubt will be so in about 12 months (vide report of Engineer to Railway Company). The rise of property will at that time prove his assertions to be correct. That is:—The lucky purchaser may look forward for a bonus of 500 per cent. 3912

CHIPPENDALE.—12 HOUSES.

MR. A. POLACK begs to notify to the numerous enquirers for these Freehold and substantially built Houses in Waterloo and Henrietta streets, Chippendale, that as soon as a description of each messuage has been taken, and the boundaries properly defined, the day of sale will be duly announced. 4007

MAITLAND DRAUGHT HORSES.

MR. S. WOOLLER has received instructions from Thomas Brown, Esq., to sell by auction, at the Bull's Head Horse Repository, George-street, THIS DAY, Saturday, July 30th, at 11 o'clock,

40 head of horse stock, from the Maitland district, comprising

Heavy draught horses, warranted, suitable for the Melbourne market

Light ditto, suitable for gig and carriage

And

A few first-rate hackneys.

The auctioneer begs to call the attention of buyers for the Melbourne market, draymen, and others, to the above lot, as they are, without exception, the best batch of horses that has been in Sydney for some time.

Terms at sale. 3638

GENERAL SALE OF HORSES, &c.

MR. WOOLLER will sell by auction at the Bull's Head Horse Repository, George-street, THIS DAY, Saturday, July 30th, at 11 o'clock,

50 Head of Horse stock, all fresh from the country, comprising

40 head of heavy draught horses, from the Maitland district, purposely selected by Mr. Thomas Brown, to meet the demand for the Melbourne market; among them are several heavy horses, suitable for draymen, Melbourne buyers, and others, all warranted, and a trial will be given.

And

10 first-rate hackneys
Pair of horses, carriage, and harness
Carriages, gigs
An English-built four-wheel spring waggon
Carts, drays
Spring carts
Several lots of cart and gig harness
One set of double harness
Saddles, bridles, &c.

Terms at sale. 3938

WEDNESDAY, 3rd August.

GREEN POINT,
Parramatta River.

EIGHT MARINE VILLA PLOTS,
Delightfully situated in the above locality, will be sold by auction

BY PURKIS AND LAMBERT, at their Rooms, 451, George-street, on WEDNESDAY, 3rd August, at 12 o'clock precisely,

As per plan on view at the Sale Room.

These allotments occupy a beautiful peninsula on the Parramatta River, known as GREEN POINT, with which there is communication by a road leading out of the Parramatta-road, nearly opposite Neitch's Inn, at Burwood. Their convenient distance from the city by land or water renders them highly desirable sites for VILLA RESIDENCES: indeed a more beautiful spot can scarcely be found on the banks of the river, although it abounds with delightful scenery. The allotments have each a double water frontage of about 165 feet each to the river, viz., on the Sydney side and on the Parramatta side, where they are bounded by Major's Bay. The water frontage is deep towards Sydney. Mr. Darvall's Cottages, at Kissing Point, are immediately opposite; and it is scarcely necessary to remind purchasers that the river steamers are constantly passing.

The beautiful properties at Concord adjoining and at Kissing Point opposite, which are so celebrated for the production of fruit for the supply of the Sydney markets, as well as for exportation to the sister colonies, are instances of the capability of the land to produce to any extent.

Terms: 25 per cent. cash deposit, the residue by approved bills at 3 and 6 months, dated from the day of sale.

Title unexceptionable. 3471

WEDNESDAY, August 3.

MOST ELIGIBLE INVESTMENT IN CHOICE CITY PROPERTY.

Consisting of two neat and substantially built brick Houses in Bourke-street, Surry Hills, between Fitz Roy and Arthur streets, and opposite those well-known premises called Somerset Lodge.

PURKIS AND LAMBERT have been favoured with instructions to sell the above by public auction, at their Rooms, 451, George-street, on WEDNESDAY, 3rd August, at 12 o'clock precisely,

These houses are most pleasantly situated in Bourke-street, Surry Hills, near the Cockatoo Inn, each containing three rooms, with a detached kitchen, and a capacious yard, the ground running from the front to the back 100 feet. There is also the convenience of an excellent well of water on the premises affording a constant supply, and which has never failed even in the driest season.

The present rental of the premises is only £93 12s. per annum; but from the great scarcity of houses, and the pressing demand for them in that healthful locality, the Surry Hills, doubtless a much higher rate might be obtained if demanded for them.

 The Auctioneers deem it superfluous to add a single word to the above bare outline of the premises, city property being so urgently sought for and only requiring to be announced for sale to be bought up.

Terms—25 per cent. cash deposit, the residue on completion of the conveyance within fourteen days.

Further particulars on application to the Auctioneers. 2406

FROM OUR LONDON CORRESPONDENT.

London, May, 1853.

From a conversation that occurred in the House of Lords, on the 28th April, it would appear that the Government have really made up their minds to do away with the system of transportation, and that a first batch of 1050 convicts is to be released before the expiration of their sentences. The question of how to deal with our convict population for the future is one surrounded with difficulties. Whatever may be done, two things are quite evident—the system must be for ever abandoned of forcing upon the eastern colonies cargoes of vagabonds fresh from the gaols of England, and ripe for all the mischief which the temptations of a prosperous settlement might offer. Then, again, convicts cannot be permitted to remain in this country. If a few months' imprisonment had the effect of reforming our most hardened criminals, no danger would be apprehended from allowing them to mix again in society; but such unhappily would not be the case. Experience too painfully demonstrates that, in a large majority of cases, men no sooner turn their backs upon the prison, than they begin to pave the way for another and more lengthened residence within its walls. The severity of prison discipline may have been productive of good in many instances, but, generally speaking, men once fairly launched in crime become hardened in vice, and progress from minor to more serious offences. At present it is quite certain that to abolish transportation would be attended with vast inconvenience to this country; and, however difficult it may be to Government to solve the problem which presents itself, they will find it imperative upon them to do so sooner or later. Prudence would suggest that the difficulty be met at once—delay will only augment the evil.

The Election Committees are proceeding with their work. The following members have been unseated for having been through their agents guilty of bribery:—Conservatives: Sir W. A. Fraser and Mr. Bremridge (Barnstaple), Mr. A. Mills (Taunton), and Mr. G. Dodd (Maidstone). Liberals: Mr. Forster and Mr. Stapleton (Berwick on Tweed). The disputed return for Knaresborough has ended in the rejection of Mr. Westhead (Liberal), so that the borough is now represented by a ministerialist and an oppositionist. At Athlone, Mr. Keogh, the Irish Solicitor-General, has been re-elected by a large majority, whilst Captain Bunbury (Conservative) has been returned unopposed for Carlow county, vacant by the death of Colonel Bruen. At Lancaster the poll stood thus:—Greene (Conservative), 686; Armstrong (Liberal), 554. At Taunton:—Sir J. Ramsden (Liberal), 373; Badcock (Conservative), 366. There are yet more than twenty vacancies to be filled up. A select committee of the House of Commons have been investigating the proceedings of the late Board of Admiralty in relation to Dockyard appointments. Mr. Stafford, the ex-Secretary of the Admiralty, has placed himself in an awkward position by the manner in which he used the Dockyard influence for the advantage of his party. Mr. Stafford was always considered a high-minded, honourable man, and great allowance must be made for "the pressure from without" upon the Secretary of the Admiralty, which is always very hard to withstand. He has, however, committed a grave error in making the wants of the public service subservient to party claims. Lord Aberdeen has declined to reduce the new rate of Colonial Postage below 6d., the amount fixed by Viscount Canning. The Dublin Exhibition is on the eve of opening, and the New York International Exhibition will be inaugurated on the 1st of June. The English deputation to the latter will consist of the Earl of Ellesmere, Sir C. Lyell, Mr. C. W. Dilke, assisted by Professor Wilson, Mr. Wentworth, and Mr. Wallis. The ceremony of Churching the Queen was performed yesterday week. The infant Prince will not be christened until the end of June. The names of the young Prince, it is understood, will be "Leopold, George, Duncan, Albert." A delicate domestic event has occurred at the Tuileries, which has not a little annoyed the Emperor of the French, who had looked for a young heir to the throne. A premature birth has, however, for the present, disappointed his ambition. The "accident" occurred on Louis Napoleon's 46th birthday. The Empress, it is stated, is no longer in danger. The united efforts of England and France are tending towards an early settlement of the differences between Russia and Turkey. All fear of a war between the two powers has subsided. A regular Congress of Sovereigns is announced to meet at Vienna during the summer. The Emperor of Russia proceeds to Warsaw, thence to Berlin, and from Berlin, with the King of Prussia, to Vienna. The King of the Belgians visits Berlin and Vienna at the same time. The King of Bavaria is also to be one of the party. Louis Napoleon is, of course, not invited.

The usual monthly returns of the Board of Trade continue to indicate an active and healthy state of trade. The shipping returns are also favourable, particularly with respect to English vessels. The departures for Australia from London are on the increase, whilst the number of emigrants who left Liverpool for the eastern colonies during April have exceeded those in the corresponding month of any preceding year. The wool market at Rochdale has been somewhat dull, and manufacturers will only purchase for present purposes. Prices remain firm, and the hands in the woollen mills have full employment. Here in London, English wools continue in good demand. Colonial parcels, as well as English, command full rates. Southdown hoggets are quoted at 1s. 4d. to 1s. 6d: Kent fleeces, 1s 1½d. to 1s. 3d.; flannel wool, 1s. to 1s. 4d.; blanket wool, 8d. to 1s.; and Leicester fleeces, 1s. 2d. to 1s. 3d. Large parcels of low foreign wools have lately been sold at fair prices. Since the last series of public sales 21,000 bales have arrived from the colonies, and about 12,000 more are looked for before the next series of public sales, expected to commence about the 26th instant. Since the prospect of the repeal of the soap duty, tallow has been in a rather active demand, at advanced rates. P. Y. C. has sold at 47s. 6d., and for the next three months at from 47s. 9d. to 48s. per cwt. Town tallow 47s. 6d. nett cash. The corn trade continues very languid. The last weekly average of wheat is 44s. 4d. The favourable news from Australia, conveyed by the Admiral and the Kate, caused for a moment a re-action in the land and mining shares; but they have since experienced a decline, and further good news from the diggings must come to hand before any decided re-action can be expected. Two or three quotations will suffice to show the position of these shares:—Great Nugget Vein, 2¼ premium; Colonial Gold, 2¼ premium; Port Phillip, ½ to ¼ premium; Australian Agricultural, 82—81; Peel River, 4½—¾; Scottish Investment, 1½—2½ premium. The latest sales of tallow have been effected at prices a shade lower than those above quoted.

SUMMARY OF ENGLISH NEWS.

(From the Home News, May 9.)

The progress of business in Parliament is no less remarkable for the importance of the topics brought under consideration, than for their variety, and the activity with which they have been carried forward. We scarcely overrate the efforts of the Cabinet in saying that we never had a ministry which made so much practical progress in so short a period. In spite of all opposition, rising up in various quarters, and disclosing the strangest diversity of opinions, Government has persevered in its useful labours, and turning neither to the right nor the left, always calling back the desultory debate to the actual point before the House, and showing a dignified indifference to the tactics of party, has never suffered the objects of legislation to be impeded by the oratorical displays and Parliamentary stratagems that have been got up with considerable skill to frustrate their policy.

The discussion on the Budget has been taken in successive sections, beginning with the proposed modification of the Income-tax, and then proceeding to the consideration of its extension to Ireland. It was resisted energetically in both directions.

The struggle was opened by an amendment from Sir Bulwer Lytton, who, championing the landed interest while he protested the utmost tenderness for the trading classes, proposed a resolution to the effect that the tax was impolitic and unjust. Upon this theme he delivered a speech, which was curiously enough addressed to an entirely different aspect of the subject. While his amendment condemned the tax as impolitic and unjust, his speech demanded a re-adjustment of its unequal pressure on different kinds of incomes. While the amendment demanded the absolute repeal of the tax, the speech demanded a revision of it. For three dreary nights, swaying between conflicting arguments, and chasing them through an infinite number of loopholes, the House of Commons surrendered itself to a discussion, relieved of its hopeless inconsistencies only by the personalities of Mr. Disraeli, and a "howl" of savage violence raised by some of the Irish members. On Monday last this first assault on the first main feature of the Budget—by which revenue is to be raised on the one hand in order to enable the Government to remit taxation on the other—came to an end, and the amendment was thrown out by a division of 323 to 252, giving a clear majority to Ministers of 71. We hear it rumoured that a renewed attempt in much the same form will be made by Lord Derby in the House of Lords, and should it succeed (which is in the last degree improbable) Ministers will neither resign, nor swamp the Peers by a new creation, but appeal at once to the common sense of the country.

The proposal to extend the tax to Ireland was the signal for the uproar among the Irish members. Mr. Lawless boldly moved an amendment to omit Ireland altogether. The scene that followed can scarcely be described by any more significant or creditable expression than an Irish row. Mr. Gavan Duffy, one of the colleagues of Mr. Smith O'Brien in the cabbage-garden revolution, made a speech of unusual violence, in which he declared that, in his belief, more scandalous corruption had not existed in the days of the Walpoles and Pelhams than he had witnessed under his own eyes, practised on some of the Irish members. This loose charge called up a perfect storm of indignation. Mr. Duffy's words were taken down, and he was called upon to explain, retract, or prove them; all of which he hesitated or refused to do, declaring that, if the House would grant him a committee (which he well knew it would not), he would bring forward the evidence upon which his belief was founded. The matter being thus seriously taken up, the House was compelled to do something; and, by way of compassion to an inexperienced member, and a very rash patriot, Mr. Duffy was allowed a night to meditate over his language, and was called upon, in his place, the next day, to make such an apology, or tender such an explanation, as would satisfy the House. In the interval, he had taken counsel of a little reflection, and he now stated that he did not mean to violate the rules of the House, and that all he intended to assert was, not that money corruption had been resorted to, but that certain members (alluding to Mr. Keogh and Mr. Sadleir) had accepted office under Government, in open violation of their pledges to their party. To this lame and impotent issue the fury of the Irish invective was reduced; and the House of Commons, having more important matters to occupy its time, treated Mr. Duffy with humiliating pity, and passed on to the order of the day.

The order of the day was the resumption of the debate on Mr. Lawless's amendment, but as nobody rose when the question was put, the amendment was negatived at once. Mr. Lawless, however, was not yet satisfied, and moved another amendment, to exempt trades from the tax, which after a little discussion he withdrew. A third amendment, proposed by Mr. Mitchell, was withdrawn in the same way, and thus through a labyrinth of petty obstacles the extension of the Income-tax to Ireland was affirmed.

That Ireland will be a considerable gainer by the Budget as a whole is obvious. The necessaries of life will be cheapened, her old debt of four millions will be cancelled, and as nobody but people having incomes will be called to pay the tax, it cannot, by any sophistry, be made to appear a tax upon poverty. It is full time that Ireland should be enclosed in the circle of English legislation, and that, receiving the benefits of the connexion, she should be called upon to contribute her fair proportion of the cost of the advantages it brings her.

The Bill for commuting the South Sea and other annuities is an integral part of the general scheme. A successful opposition to it would, in effect, destroy the Budget. Opinions, of course, are divided about the details; but it is some evidence of the feeling out of doors that the Funds have sustained their position, and that the South Sea Company have formally acquiesced in the commutation by declining to discuss it. Sir Fitzroy Kelly opened the contest in the Commons by an amendment, backed by a speech in which he betrayed singular incapacity for dealing with the subject. Beaten upon the general principle, he returned to the attack by assailing the clauses in detail. Here, too, he was equally unfortunate, and the Bill was carried in its integrity through the third reading. In the House of Lords, where there exists no power to alter financial measures, which must be either accepted or rejected as a whole by the Peers, the Bill was carried almost without a discussion, notwithstanding some cavilling on the part of the Earl of Derby and Lord Monteagle.

Lord Derby succeeded no better in his resistance to the Canada Clergy Reserves Bill. Finding it useless to attempt to throw out the measure, he endeavoured to damage it on a vital point. Giving up to the colony the right of control over all other funds, he proposed that the Imperial Government should retain its control over the fund already derived from the sale of the clergy reserves. That at least, he contended, did not come within the local jurisdiction of the Colonial Legislature. Upon this item he rested the whole debate, and when the question went to a division he found himself in a minority of 40, no less than 117 Peers voting against him.

Amongst other useful measures that have been introduced, we may include several that aim at administrative reforms, such as those bills for the better treatment and cure of lunatics, a bill to secure the more honest management of charitable trusts, and a bill to amend cathedral appointments. Ministers also announce a measure for the regulation of savings' banks, which will be of great importance to the middle and trading classes.

The election scandals, whose name is Legion, have occupied a considerable portion of the time of the House of Commons; and certainly at no period of our history has so much bribery and corruption been developed as since the opening of the present Parliament. The most conspicuous instance has been that of Chatham, the writ for which place, in common with many others, has been suspended. In this case, the committee unseated Sir Frederick Smith, and reported him guilty of bribery. It also reported that a certain elector had been bribed, and the House directed the Attorney-General to prosecute that elector. Upon these facts, Sir John Shelley moved that Sir Frederick Smith, who had bribed this man, should also be prosecuted, and he founded the motion on a sessional order, which directed that all members found guilty of wilful bribery should be proceeded against with the utmost severity. An angry and instructive debate took place on this motion. It seemed hardly credible that the House of Commons would prosecute a poor man for taking a bribe, and suffer the rich man who had bribed him to escape; and Lord John Russell, declining on the part of the government, to influence the House either way, declared at the same time that if the House rejected this motion he would vote against any future prosecutions. The House, however, did reject the motion, 78 voting for it, and 188 against it, thus giving a majority of 110 against the prosecution of the briber. The result is discreditable to the House, and looks as if it were not thoroughly sincere in its determination to probe political corruption to its core. A great deal has been done, notwithstanding, in the way of exposure and punishment, all telling with cumulative force against the late Government.

The Committee on Mr. Stafford's case has been prosecuting its labours indefatigably, and, after examining a number of official men, has applied to the House of Peers for permission to examine the Duke of Northumberland. The inquiry has been conducted with fearlessness and integrity, and Mr. Stafford's explanations have helped to damage his character as a public man much more seriously than the original charges. The admissions he has made reflect equally on himself and on the system pursued by the Administration of which he was a member. Lord Derby and Mr. Disraeli have felt themselves so fatally compromised by these disclosures, that they have offered themselves for examination, with the avowed object of clearing themselves of all alleged complicity in Mr. Stafford's proceedings. The unfortunate gentleman is thus disavowed by his own chiefs when it is found to be dangerous to the character of their party to "march through Coventry" with him. This investigation, taken in connection with the affair of W. B., the revelations of the Chatham Committee, and the numerous facts disclosed in other election inquiries, may be said to have dragged away the screen behind which official corruption has worked in secret; and the public, while they feel compassion for men like Mr. Stafford, who are made the convenient scapegoats of greater delinquents, treat with undisguised satisfaction the courage and independence with which those impunities have been traced out and detected.

Our readers are already apprised of the efforts that have been made, and are making, for the establishment of an ocean penny postage. By an incidental allusion to the subject which occurred in a recent conversation in the House of Lords respecting the Mail Packet Service to Australia, we find that the scheme has obtained an unexpected supporter in Lord Grey. We apprehend, however, that we must not look for a very early admission of so grave a reduction on the part of Government. Lord Canning stated the case very fairly and reasonably. It appears that by the contracts we have entered into (and which have yet many years to run) for the mail packet service, the revenues of this country are chargeable with the enormous annual expenditure of £800,000. While such heavy expenses continue, the Government are unwilling to tamper very materially with the income out of which these expenses are to be defrayed, of which the postage of letters forms an important item; and having already reduced the rate of postage to 6d., they consider it prudent to await the results of that reduction before they venture upon any greater diminution. They do not think that cheap postage is likely to be so fruitful of results between the mother country and her distant possessions as it has proved here at home in England; and it must be admitted there is a wide difference between inland and sea postage—between the cost of transmission and the relative increase of correspondence. Inland correspondence grows rapidly upon the facilities offered by reduced rates of postage; but the same expectations cannot be entertained where a long interval of time and distance interposes. It must not be overlooked, however, that financial arrangements are not the only ones that enter into such questions; and that the gain in other respects is of a nature to justify even a loss to the revenue. These considerations will not be forgotten whenever a readjustment of the present expenditure for the mail packet service, by diminishing the cost of transmission, will justify Government in a still further reduction of the postage of letters to our possessions in the East and elsewhere.

It will be seen by our Parliamentary report that the subject of Transportation, with the full assent of Lord Aberdeen, is to be submited on an early day to the consideration of the House of Lords. This is the wisest course the Government could have adopted, and will have the effect of transferring to Parliament the responsibility of a measure already resolved upon by the Executive.

The arguments adduced against the abolition of transportation are inconsistent with each other. It was urged as a reason for sending our criminals to the colonies, that it would be attended by the most injurious results to the people of England to throw them upon this country. But this argument applied with tenfold force to a young community which is corrupted to the core by their presence, and which is perpetually thrown back in its progress towards social and institutional advancement, by importations of condemned delinquents, whose liberation is so much dreaded in the mother country. Lord Grey and Lord Campbell aim at the same object, by lines of reasoning that lead to opposite conclusions. Lord Grey calls upon Government to keep faith with the convicts, who look forward to transportation as a boon; Lord Campbell demands transportation as a punishment which convicts regard with horror. Both statements cannot be true. But that is immaterial. Legislation may be governed by other motives than that of adjusting itself to the wishes or the fears of criminals. The interests and well being of the colonies are paramount to all other considerations, and have been so clearly ascertained and pronounced that, with the exception of the reserve in reference to Western Australia, transportation is practically abolished already. The only perplexity remaining is to find an adequate substitute; but there is hardly any doubt that Government will come to the debate prepared with a solution of the difficulty.

Our foreign intelligence presents few points of novelty or interest. The negociations at Constantinople have moved slightly towards an amicable adjustment, and now that matters are about to be settled Prince Menschikoff declares that his intentions have been quite pacific all throughout—an assertion which the armaments of Russia palpably contradict. The question of the Holy Places is understood to be definitively arranged, and nothing remains for discussion but the Patriarchate of the Greek Church. On both sides the preparations for hostilities have been suspended; so that, after much crooked and threatened diplomacy, Turkey is once more permitted to exist as an independent power. This satisfactory result, however unsatisfactorily obtained, is to be entirely ascribed to the presence of the English and French ambassadors.

In France, the dulness of the latter time has been a little enlivened by several small incidents. A number of arrests have taken place in Paris and the provinces, under the usual plea of putting down conspiracy and socialism. An "infernal machine" was said to have been discovered on board a vessel at Havre; but subsequent information justifies the suspicion that it was a mere invention of the police, got up for the purpose of justifying the proceedings of the Government. The Empress has disappointed Louis Napoleon's hopes of an heir, and lies ill in her chamber; and Louis Napoleon himself is suffering from some mysterious indisposition, supposed to originate in a disorder of the spine. Trade is rapidly declining, in spite of all the artificial means that have been resorted to, in the hope of sustaining it; provisions are growing dear; and the working classes are showing symptoms of insubordination. House rent is rising alarmingly in Paris, and the state of society generally is represented to be unsettled and discontented.

In other quarters we hear of fêtes and social gatherings of kings. At Vienna their Majesties of Prussia and Bavaria are enjoying the hospitalities of Austria, and his Imperial Majesty of Russia is expected to join them. Whether there be any political purpose "looming in the distance" out of these royal festivities has not transpired, and the world must put its own construction upon them. There is no doubt however, that the visit of the King of the Belgians to Berlin is connected with political objects. Fortunately the Turkish difficulty is settled, or we should be obliged to attach greater importance to this visit than it will now bear. It seems that France, feeling itself isolated on the Eastern question, took offence at the conduct of Austria and Russia, and transmitted a note to that effect to her ambassador at Brussels, which he was instructed to read to the Minister of Foreign Affairs. In this extraordinary note, Belgium was desired to take notice that France was displeased with the other powers. An explanation of this most mysterious communication was requested, and refused; and King Leopold immediately transmitted a statement of the fact to the Powers by whom the independence of Belgium is guaranteed. They could see nothing in the transaction but an implied menace, and it is stated that they tendered to King Leopold an assurance of their determination to fulfil the obligations they had entered into for the protection of Belgian independence. The motives of this strange proceeding have since been cleared up. From the turn which the negotiations at Constantinople appeared to be taking at first, an apprehension of the dismemberment of the Turkish empire between Russia and Austria naturally enough seized upon the mind of the French Emperor, who at once determined upon the course he would pursue in that event. The communication to Brussels, which was also made at the same time to the Courts at the Hague and Turin, was the shape in which he announced his resolution, and the meaning of it was simply this, that if Austria and Russia seized upon Turkey, he would seize upon Belgium, Holland, and Piedmont. This was a mode of balancing the relative strength of continental states which, had it been carried into effect, would have inevitably precipitated an European war. Fortunately we are spared so disastrous a convulsion by the pacific termination of the protracted diplomacy of Prince Menschikoff; but it seems we have had a very narrow escape after all, if we may judge from the spirit in which these revelations are treated in some of the foreign journals. The moral of the business is, to impress a salutary caution on the great powers as to the necessity of maintaining the integrity of the Ottoman empire if they are solicitous about preserving the peace of Europe.

There is no domestic feature more striking, or more important, than the increasing prosperity of trade, which increasing rates of wages all over the country in every shape of industry seem rather to stimulate than repress. The demand for increased wages, an irresistible corollary from the diminution of the sources of labour, has been, for the most part, cheerfully acceded to by the masters. We no longer hear of combinations of workmen to wring the rights of labour from the hands of reluctant employers. Between the two classes the utmost desire prevails to strike the mean that shall be mutually just and beneficial, and in the end trade gains more than it loses, of which we have ample proofs in the surprising facts disclosed in the returns of the exports and imports. In the first quarter of the present year, the Board of Trade returns exhibit an increase of some £4000 upon the exports, as compared with the same period of last year; and the exports of the last month show an increase of nearly £1,500,000 on a declared value of £6,400,000, as compared with the corresponding month of last year. The imports are equally satisfactory, showing a considerable increase in articles of food and luxury, and a still greater increase in the raw materials of our staple trades.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

(From the Home News, May 9.)

France.—The Empress Eugenie has for the present disappointed the hopes of those who looked forward to the birth of an heir to the Bonaparte dynasty. The alarming symptoms appeared after the ceremony of presenting the new Cardinal Morlot with the barette. It appears that during that ceremony the Empress was obliged to stand four or five hours, and that she was greatly fatigued. The French papers are silent on the subject, and no bulletins are issued; "but I understand (says the correspondent of the Chronicle) that the situation of the Empress is so far satisfactory that no apprehensions of danger to her life are entertained. Louis Napoleon is said to be greatly affected by the disappointment. On the other hand, the mishap is the subject of great rejoicings in other quarters, where it would be better taste to show less exultation. When the indisposition of the Empress first manifested itself, it was considered so serious as to justify the postponement of the ball at the Tuilleries; but when the miscarriage actually took place, it was proposed to countermand the ball. On consideration, however, it was found impossible to give notice to the 5,000 guests who had been invited, and it was therefore thought best to let it proceed, as if nothing had happened. The Emperor showed himself, but only remained for a few minutes. He appeared greatly depressed. The news of the accident which had happened to the Empress was soon circulated in the salons, and it was hoped the guests would show their good taste by retiring at an earlier hour than usual. But it would appear that they had no thoughts of the kind. The dancing was kept up till past three in the morning, and the supper was demolished with as great gusto as if the host and hostess had had nothing to disturb them. The company was very mixed, and seems to have been selected from among the rejected of all former balls." A vessel called the Empereur du Brésil, from Rio Janeiro, arrived at Havre on the 25th ultimo. The captain immediately delivered to the health officer who visited the ship five sealed letters, addressed to official persons. Soon after the delivery of these letters all communication between the shore and the vessel was, by order, intercepted; four police agents went on board, and those restrictions were said to be adopted in compliance with an order from Paris received by telegraph. Such measures naturally excited a good deal of curiosity, and every one was inquiring the cause. It is now stated that two large cases were seized on board, which on being opened were found to contain an infernal machine in complete order. It is further stated that a locksmith who had been concerned in the fabrication of the machine, and who had been for several years residing at Rio, and who was on board at the time, has been arrested, with his wife, and lodged in prison. It is not stated for whose benefit this new "infernal machine" was intended, nor are any further details given than those mentioned. Some important disclosures are of course expected. The original information proceeded from the French Minister at Rio. [Since this statement originally appeared, the locksmith and his wife have been released, and it now turns out that there was no "infernal machine" on board, except in the lively imagination of the police.] Fresh arrests have been made among the Ultra Democratic party within the last few days, and it is stated that the police are on the traces of an extensive affiliation of conspirators. A person described as "a delegate from the London Committee" is of the number of the arrested, and is now in custody in the prison of Mazas. He had been invited to dine at the house of a former confidant of one of the least reputable actors in the revolution of February, and it is said that the whole of the guests were arrested as they were at table. Some sensation has been created among the friends of the House of Bourbon, by the announcement that the Duke de Nemours is about to take a trip in Germany, in the course of which it will be arranged that he shall meet and have an interview with the Comte de Chambord. Certain negotiations which have been going on with a view to this meeting have been brought to a favourable termination. Before leaving Venice, lately, the Comte de Chambord was visited by a considerable number of Frenchmen, a circumstance which is not very satisfactory to the present Government.

Spain.—M. Bermudes de Castro, the Minister of Finance, the most efficient and popular member of the Cabinet, has tendered his resignation, which the Queen has declined to accept. The reason given for his resignation is, that since he has been at the head of the national finance he has suppressed numerous useless offices in his department, as well throughout the provinces as in the capital, and otherwise effecting retrenchments of the most important character; and that none of his colleagues have imitated his example. It is probable that a parliamentary ministry will be formed under the direction of Mon and Pidal.

Italy.—A deputation from the Milanese to Vienna, respecting the hardships to which the people of that city are exposed, was very ill received, and treated not only with coldness but insolence. In the meanwhile the military are irritating the inhabitants of Lombardy by their spoliation and excesses. Wherever they are lodged, they insist upon occupying whatever rooms they choose, and break, spoil, and destroy, and rob without restraint. Whenever ordered into fresh quarters, they carry off the beds and other furniture that suits them, no one daring to prevent them. Mazzini is said to be still in Sardinia, which he has not quitted since the Milanese outbreak. A new manifesto of his has been seized in circulation. An English subject (a Mr. F. Sichel), son of a German merchant, long resident in Manchester, has been arrested at Pavia, and taken under escort to Milan, and there imprisoned. Mr. F. Sichel named various wealthy and respectable residents to whom he was well known, and who would be answerable for his appearance; but he was coolly told that he must remain in prison until orders should have been received from Vienna. He contrived to communicate with friends in England, the case was instantly taken up by the English Government, and despatches were sent off to Vienna; the result is not yet known. The chief object of Mr. F. Sichel's visit to Milan being to recover a debt, the debtor, finding it inconvenient to pay, found an alternative in the notorious suspiciousness which characterises the Austrian police officials. Letters from Rome, of the 20th ult., announce that, in consequence of the conclusion of the loan of twenty-six millions with the house of Rothschild, a decree will shortly be issued by the Pope, declaring that all paper money now in circulation is to be withdrawn and cancelled within the space of eight months. The shareholders in the Pia-Latina Railway have unanimously accepted the offer which had been made to them, and the parties interested are looking forward anxiously to the 8th May, when the 40 days' delay fixed for the payment of the sum agreed upon will expire. A quarrel took place recently between some French invalid soldiers and some Roman dragoons; the former, though unarmed, were attacked by the latter with their sabres, and one of them was seriously wounded. A sergeant of the 21st Light Infantry, who happened to come up at the time, endeavoured to restore order, but two of the dragoons attacked him. He managed to lay hold of the sabre of one of his assailants with which he ably defended himself, and the dragoons were at length overpowered and arrested, and will be tried by a court martial for insubordination. The Austrian troops in Tuscany are to be diminished by 2000 men, in consequence of which one regiment is to depart to Romagna. A number of English, French, and Italian works have been forbidden to be read by Catholics, by the Inquisition at Rome, including Macaulay's "History of England."

Switzerland.—A Swiss journal publishes the observations addressed by the Government of Ticino to the Federal Council, respecting the charges brought by Austria against that canton. The Ticinese Government asserts that an efficient surveillance is exercised over refugees in the canton—a surveillance so strict that the enemies of Austria have given up the idea of making Ticino the starting point of their operations. No arms have been discovered, because none have been hid. The police at Ticino had been more vigilant and better informed than that of Austria, and it was contrary to the law of nations for the Imperial Government to interrupt commerce, transit, particularly the execution of existing contracts. As to the guarantee demanded by Austria, the conduct of Ticino during the events of February and the Federal decrees, are the best guarantee for the future. It would be to renounce not only the the national honour, but also independence, if a neighbouring nation had a right to point out dangerous refugees, and to demand their expulsion. It belongs also to the State to which the demand is addressed, to decide whether it is or is not well-founded, and to act on it or not. The Cantonal Government was willing to change its law with respect to foreigners, and has ordered the presentation of a bill on the subject; it will also increase its police, although in so doing it will incur considerable expense. As to the Capucines, Austria has replied by the expulsion of the Ticinese from Lombardy. The aggregate number amounted in the month of March to 3176 men, and 1106 women; in all 4282 persons, without speaking of those expelled since that period. Let Austria indemnify the Ticinese who have been expelled, and the Government will maintain the offer to accord for three years a pension to the Capucines. After speaking of the injury sustained by the trading classes in the canton, as a consequence of the blockade, the Cantonal Government observes that it cannot make any amende honorable, or yield to pretensions the injustice of which has been admitted by the Federal authority, and thus concludes:—"We are far from throwing obstacles in the way of the goodwill of the Federal Council, which will, without any doubt, recognise our sentiments of conciliation, but there are limits which, looking at the antecedent conduct of the Canton of Ticino, cannot be passed over in present circumstances, without trampling under foot public morality. Such are the observations which your note has suggested to us, and which we make known to you according to your formal desire. We have abstained from all reflection on the higher policy of the case, for by your position you are alone competent to judge such matters, and you can alone measure all the elements of strength which the nation can dispose of, to reject the offensive insinuations in question."

Portugal.—Saldanha, it is said, will soon have to resign office, from ill health. The Duke of Terceira is named by rumour as his successor. The French emperor has made a demand on the Government for the payment of French subjects having claims arising out of a loan to Don Miguel, a great portion of which fell into the hands of the Government of Donna Maria. The Portugese ministers are in the utmost alarm at this demand, and have solicited the intervention of the British ambassador.

Turkey.—The question of the Holy Places has been arranged according to the wishes of Russia, and with the concurrence of France. The negotiations on the subject of the Greek Patriarchate still continue. All armaments are suspended. The newspapers speak in a tranquillising tone.

Austria.—The English at Vienna have signed an address of congratulation to the emperor, in which they affirm that the sentiments expressed by them respecting the recent attempt on his life, will be participated by their countrymen at home. The Austrian Government has claimed 106,888,800 florins from the diet for the repression of the revolts at Prague and Vienna, and the wars in Hungary and Italy, by which the frontiers of Germany were protected. The Diet has adopted a resolution on the proposition of Austria respecting the measures it may be right for the Diet to adopt in case the means employed by the British Government shall not prevent the political refugees from making an abusive use of the right of asylum, to the injury of the Germanic Confederation.

MR. SMITH O'BRIEN.

(From the Times, March 31.)

The Easter recess has been enlivened by the opportune receipt and publication of an address from one who would not unwillingly be reputed an object of interest to Europe. From the distant solitudes of Van Diemen's Land Mr. W. Smith O'Brien has despatched an elaborate epistle to those gentlemen who recently concerned themselves with memorializing the Government in his behalf. "During the last four years," says his address, "I have been induced by various considerations to abstain as much as possible from every sort of appeal to public opinion." It would have saved himself and others a good deal of trouble if this sensible resolution had been adopted some twelve months earlier, and "considerations" of common sense and sobriety been attended to in better time. Even the moderate amount of self knowledge which this misguided man now evinces might have sufficed to persuade him that such treason and insurrection as he contrived to hatch could end in nothing but ignominy for himself and imminent peril for his countrymen. It is some satisfaction to reflect upon the farcical course and bloodless termination of the last Irish rebellion, but nobody can forget that the conspiracy was directly calculated to involve a whole nation in the inexpressible miseries of civil war.

In the year 1848, when a French revolution had conveyed its accustomed impulse to all the restless spirits of Europe, when every capital of the continent quivered with the shock, and the contagion of the barricades even crossed the Atlantic and developed itself in the city of New York, Mr. Smith O'Brien attempted to array the people of Ireland in arms against the people of England. He now designates this proceeding as an overt "resistance to an unconstitutional enactment of the British Parliament," just as if some particular resolution of unjustifiable tyranny had driven him into rebellion. We confess ourselves unable to remember the provocation referred to. It is certainly not uncommon to see Irish members setting their lives and their allegiance on a cast of no very obvious magnitude. A very slight opposition elicits vows of "dying on the floor" of the house. Mr. Smith O'Brien himself underwent imprisonment rather than serve as an Irishman on a Parliamentary committee; and a few days ago considerable impediment to public business was created by an Irish demand that Parliamentary committees should always include Irishmen. It is a habit of Mr. Smith O'Brien's countrymen to describe every question as one of life or death, and to threaten rebellion more or less overtly upon every political annoyance, but we cannot profess to recollect the special occasion on which Ireland was really challenged to rise. We remember very well that the year 1848 was thought favourable to every species of insurrectionary madness, and we have heard, as Mr. O'Brien even now takes an opportunity of repeating, that the "native Royalty" of Ireland "had been for many centuries hereditary in his family." We know that he crossed the Channel to cement an alliance with the Revolutionary Government of Paris, and we know that a party of police surprised him in arms, as far as intention went, against his Sovereign; but even at this distance of time he cannot allege any grievance more substantial than the vague complaint of "unconstitutional legislation."

The simple truth of the matter is, that Mr. Smith O'Brien, being rather vainer, rather sillier, and rather more incautious than the generality of Irish agitators, was induced by the unusual temptations of a revolutionary season to do in reality what a great many Irishmen have talked about. He actually did expose himself to the responsibilities of open insurrection. He imagined, as he now tells us, that he could conduct this little transaction from a glorious opening to a happy consummation, without any bloodshed worth mentioning, and with a "total abstinence from revolutionary excesses." We have no great difficulty in supposing that he really entertained this conception of an Irish rebellion. The consistency of his childishness is so complete, and the sufficiency of his folly so perfect, that there is no necessity for the imputation of motives more criminal though scarcely more dangerous. We can allow him the benefit of that plea which is now usually urged in mitigation of the most heinous offences—that he was "not in a sound state of mind," and this benefit, indeed, he has already experienced to the full. He has read history, he says, without finding an example corresponding to that of Ireland. He may continue his studies without discovering any case corresponding to his own. He is expiating overt treason and armed rebellion—crimes which might have cost thousands of lives—by nothing worse than a compulsory residence in a British colony to which multitudes of his countrymen are swarming of their own accord. If his delinquency proved fortunately harmless, his punishment has proved so too. He complains, indeed, of the "restrictions" to which he and his compatriots are subjected, but he forgets to say that the escape of one of them suggested the precautions.

With characteristic logic, Mr. O'Brien appeals to the "census of 1851" as a complete and total justification of the rebellion of 1848. "Upon these revelations," says he, "I rest the vindication of my design." In plain terms he avers that two millions of human beings, or one-fourth of the Irish nation, "have been swept from their native soil or consigned to a premature grave through the conduct of their rulers." "These appalling calamities," he says, "might have been altogether prevented by wise and beneficent government," and it was to avert the national ruin that he appealed to arms. Nor are we left in any doubt as to the nature of the remedial process which was thus to operate. "Had the abortive insurrection," he writes, "which was occasioned by the misgovernment of the British Parliament been successful, a Republic would probably have been established in Ireland." We have seen now what came to the French Republic, the Roman Republic, the Hungarian Republic, and sundry other recreations of that period, but so superior in all respects would have been an Irish constituency—so stable, sage, and moderate all the institutions and counsels adopted in that tranquil island—that the Irish Republic of 1848 would infallibly have prevented the potato rot of 1845, the famine of 1846, and the gold discoveries and emigration of succeeding years! Ireland has certainly suffered much, but of this Mr. O'Brien may assure himself,—that neither famine nor plague could work such havoc as would have been wrought by a single year of a "Republic."

And now one word as to the immediate subject of the address. Mr. Smith O'Brien would evidently be glad to undo his folly and return to England; indeed, as far as his egregious vanity will permit, he is fain to say so. "It is difficult for him," he observes, at so great a distance, to understand fully the impulses of public feeling." Of course it is, but we think we can put him in possession of the required intelligence. There are not a hundred people in Ireland, and not three in England, whose thoughts he ever crosses for a moment. Every body, when reminded of the subject, recollects that a piece of political idiocy was happily enacted without mischief, and punished without vindictiveness, and there all opinions end. As to the "expediency" of condoning his folly, the national clemency, if it is ever exercised, will certainly not be based on motives so substantial. Englishmen are never malignant, and there may perhaps be a certain amount of willingness to let a man loose who has at any rate shown himself incapable, even under the most extraordinary circumstances, of doing much harm. In fact, so far as anything but principle goes, it matters infinitely little whether he is in exile or at large; but even his own discretion, we should think, would teach him that it was not judicious, with a view to the contingency of pardon, to abuse and vilify those on whose favourable opinions he must depend.

IMPORTANT TO WOOL-GROWERS.—The Journal du Cher relates an account which, if correct, may turn out very advantageous to wool growers. About two years since a farmer named Virel, residing in the canton of Chatalet (Cher), had one of his sheep seriously torn and injured by a dog. Although he had but little hope of saving the animal's life, he decided on dressing its wounds, which he did with some fatty substance mixed with the juice of certain plants. The animal soon recovered, and in about two months after the farmer remarked that the wool on the parts which he had rubbed with this preparation was much finer and longer than elsewhere. Determined to try a further experiment, he last year pulled off all the wool from the bodies of six of the sheep, and rubbed them with the preparation for three days following, and then turned them out with the others. At the end of August they were shorn when they produced a much larger weight of wool than ordinary, and of a very superior quality. It is needless to say that he afterwards extended his experiment to a greater number, and a few days since he proceeded to what he calls his spring shearing, when each of the animals yielded about five pounds of very superior wool. He calculates that by the aid of his process he will be able to have two shearings a year, spring and autumn. The grease he uses is said to be only mutton fat, but the herbs employed are a secret which he, however, says he is very willing to sell to those who will pay him for it.

The Roman Catholic divines, Drs. Ullathorne and Moore, were released from Warwick Gaol on Wednesday last, under the following circumstances:—The bishop's solicitor made an application to the Master of the Rolls for leave to give notice of a motion to discharge his lordship and Dr. Moore out of custody, supported by affidavits of the bishop, Dr. Moore, the Rev. E. Estcourt, and Mr. Harting, to the effect that the two rev. defendants had repeatedly offered to give up all the property they were possessed of, amounting to about £200, and that they had no means whatever of meeting the demand made upon them. No evidence being tendered in contradiction to the affidavits, the immediate discharge of the bishop and Dr. Moore was ordered without costs.

TESTIMONIAL TO BISHOP BROUGHTON.

COMMITTEE:—
Chairman—Capt. P. P. KING, R.N., M.C.
BARKER, JAMES Esq.
BOBART, Rev. H. H.
CAMPBELL, ROBERT Esq., M.C.
CAPE, W. T. Esq.
HASSELL, Rev. T.
JONES, J. W. Esq.
KEMP, CHARLES Esq.
METCALFE, M. Esq.
WILKINSON, Rev. FREDERICK.

JOINT SECRETARIES AND TREASURERS:—
CHARLES COWPER, Esq., M.C.
Rev. W. H. WALSH.

THE Members of the Church of England having, at the Public Meeting holden on the 30th May, determined that the most suitable testimonial to the personal character and eminent services of the late Bishop Broughton would be the establishment of a FUND FOR WIDOWS AND ORPHANS OF CLERGYMEN, to be called the BROUGHTON MEMORIAL FUND; and also that a Second Subscription List should be opened, to provide funds for purchasing the Eastern Window of the Cathedral, to be called the BROUGHTON WINDOW FUND; the committee appointed by the Meeting desire to make known that they are now prepared to receive contributions from those members of the Church who may wish to testify their sense of the many virtues, and pious self-devoted labours of their late lamented Metropolitan during the twenty-three years of his ministry in these colonies.

The committee respectfully commend both the objects proposed to the consideration of their fellow-churchmen;—the Clergy Widows' and Orphans' Fund, as supplying a want, which besides in itself deserving of general sympathy, was an occasion of continual anxiety to the late Prelate himself;—the Window Fund, as permanently connecting the name of the first bishop and metropolitan of Australasia with the Cathedral, which may be said, notwithstanding the previous commencement, to have been really begun and carried on during his episcopate, and under his auspices.

Subscriptions to the Clergy Widows and Orphans Fund may be paid by instalments, as may be most convenient to subscribers, it being proposed to keep it open either for an indefinite period, or for a time to be hereafter agreed upon. No subscription to the Window Fund is to exceed Two Guineas, in order that the lesser object may not interfere with the greater.

Doubts having been expressed as to the propriety of the late Meeting having appointed Trustees for the management of the Funds now to be raised, as interfering with the rights of the subscribers to elect their own trustees, the committee have much satisfaction in announcing that the gentlemen then appointed have voluntarily placed their resignations in the hands of the committee, with the view of enabling those who may contribute to the funds to elect trustees, when a sufficient amount of subscriptions shall have been collected to render such a step advisable.

Subscriptions may be paid into the Australian Joint Stock Bank, where an account has been opened with the treasurers. They will also be received by any of the Clergy of the diocese, or members of the Committee.

Sydney, June 27.

N.B.—Printed subscription lists will be supplied to any person desirous of aiding the committee. 970

TRAFALGAR ASSURANCE ASSOCIATION.

CAPITAL, £250,000.
OFFICE, 40, PALL MALL, LONDON.

THIS Association has been established for the purpose of providing Annuities to the Share and Policy holders, in the event of pecuniary misfortune, incapacity, or old age; which are not liable to forfeiture in cases of bankruptcy, insolvency, or failure of any description; and also securing Education, Apprenticeship Fee, or Endowments, to their children.

Combination Policies payable in the event of casualties of any kind, totally disabling the assured, or death, are issued at moderate rates.

This important addition to the principle of Assurance deserves the serious consideration of persons in all positions of life.

All policies are indisputable, whereby the power on the part of the Office in resisting a claim, under any circumstances whatever, is removed.

The general business of this Association embraces:—

Granting policies from £50 upwards.
Loans in connection with Life Assurance.
Immediate and Deferred Annuities, on favourable terms.
Endowments, and every risk contingent on life.

Independently of the premiums arising from policies, the transactions of the Association are guaranteed by a subscribed capital of £250,000, by nearly 1,100 shareholders, whose names and addresses are published with prospectus, assuring thereby most perfect responsibility.

Detailed prospectuses, containing the rates of premium, explanation of the system, &c., &c., may be had on application to

All debts owing to and by the said partnership firm will be received and paid by the said George Batty, at Nos. 101 and 102, Leadenhall-street aforesaid.

As witness our hands this 11th day of August, 1852.

(Signed) GEORGE BATTY,
ROBERT FEAST.

BATTY AND CO., Leadenhall-street, export oilmen, having determined to give their undivided attention to the export branch of their business in the shipping of oilmen's stores and provisions, in consequence of the increasing demand for goods of their manufacture, and more especially for the Australian colonies, for the convenience of concentration have removed their offices from Finsbury Pavement to their manufacturing premises, Nos. 101 and 102, Leadenhall-street, where, by the increased facilities it affords, they are prepared to execute all orders that may be entrusted to them with punctuality and despatch.

Batty and Co. request their friends to address all communications for them to Leadenhall-street, where only their business is now conducted, and to observe that all their goods bear the mark of the Crown Royal of England. 3702

NOTICE. — In a few months a BAZAAR OF FANCY WORK will be held for the purpose of raising funds to procure a suitable Residence for the Sisters of Charity, and to render their services more extensively useful to the public. The objects of their institution are to visit the sick, to relieve the poor, to attend the Hospitals and other charitable institutions, without regard to religious distinctions. Several ladies are actively engaged in making arrangements for this truly benevolent undertaking. In the mean time, donations are solicited, and will be thankfully received by the Honorable J. H. PLUNKETT, Attorney-General (at his residence, Macquarie-street), who has kindly consented to act as treasurer on behalf of the Sisters of Charity. 2800

SYDNEY MECHANICS' SCHOOL OF ARTS.

DRAWING CLASS.

ARRANGEMENTS have been made for the re-opening of the Drawing Class in this Institution, in the beginning of August proximo, and students are invited to attend with specimens of their drawing, at the Mechanics' School of Arts, on Friday, the 5th of August, at 7 o'clock in the evening.

For the future there will be three distinct classes:—

First—A preparatory class, for students of all ages above 8 years; but younger students will not be precluded from entering this class, if they can give satisfactory evidence of taste and ability in any branch of drawing they may wish to pursue.

Second—A class to which none but pupils who have attained a certain proficiency will be admitted; the standard of such proficiency to be determined by the teacher.

Third—A School of Design, to which no pupil will under any circumstances be admitted unless he thoroughly understand the rudiments of perspective, and has prepared himself by preliminary study in the second class.

This third class will embrace the higher branches of perspective, copying from the antique, and the principles of design as applied to manufactures; and will be of the highest importance to those young men engaged in the occupation of carving, or in the plastic and decorative arts.

In all cases, punctuality of attendance and prompt obedience will be rigidly enforced.

As in most cases students are in the habit of purchasing useless drawing materials, the Committee, at the request of the Drawing Master, have made arrangements to supply, at cost price, the requisite paper and pencils.

Those students who may wish to attend are requested to send in their names to the Secretary, on or before the 30th instant.

Every half year two prizes in each class will be given.

The terms will be—
1st Class 2 guineas }
2nd Class 3 guineas } per annum.
3rd Class 4 guineas }

To be paid quarterly, in advance.

3541 S. W. MANSFIELD, Secretary.

GLOBE HOTEL, YASS.

To Travellers to and from the Diggings south of Sydney.

CHARLES STEWART QUAIL begs to apprise the public, and particularly those in the vicinity of Yass, that he intends to open his old establishment, the Globe Hotel, opposite the Court House, Yass, on the 1st of August next.

In consequence of the necessary repairs to the premises, after an absence of two years, C. S. Quail will not be able to complete his establishment in that style which will ensure the comfort of gentlemen and families travelling through this town before that time.

C. S. Quail begs to solicit a share of that patronage from his old friends and supporters that was so liberally bestowed on him for a number of years, in Yass; and C. S. Q. promises that there shall be nothing wanting to make his establishment replete in everything necessary to ensure comfort to all kind patrons; and he flatters himself that he can give that satisfaction to those that will favour him with a call that will gain their esteem and support.

Yass, July 16. 2440

OPENING OF THE EXCHANGE HOTEL,

George-street, opposite the Commissariat Office.

THE undersigned respectfully invites his old customers and the public in general to an inspection of the Establishment, the opening of which he now does himself the honour to notify.

In every department THE EXCHANGE HOTEL will, it is confidently asserted, be found to be unrivalled in this colony. The luxurious arrangements of the great hotels of England, Continental Europe, and the United States, have been carefully kept in view in the rich furnishing, and in every other appointment of this splendid mansion.

To a few features the undersigned respectfully calls attention.

The magnificent and continuous extending from George-street along Margaret-street, at once meet a great desideratum so long adverted to by the leading classes of Sydney. Communicating by large folding doors, the rooms of this suite can be made available for Public Dinners, Balls, Musical Soirées, Meetings, &c.; and, for accommodation and sumptuous equipment, surpass anything of the kind hitherto made available for large assemblies in Sydney.

In respect to the CULINARY DEPARTMENT, for which the undersigned has obtained so much credit at his old establishment in Lower George-street, and in his catering at some of the most approved public fêtes, it is notified that, from 12 to 2, LUNCHEONS, comprising Chops, Steaks, Cold Meats, &c., will be provided in the Lower Coffee Room; and at 2 o'clock a upon which all the resources of a luxurious cuisine will be lavished, will be served in a grand saloon on the first floor.

With respect to the CELLAR, purchases have been made only of the best brands, whether as regards Wines, Spirits, Beers, or Liqueurs; and to this department particular attention is solicited.

Not only as an eligible establishment for réunions for professional, commercial, and maritime gentlemen, but as a most comfortable this unique establishment will, upon inspection, be found to be unrivalled. The private apartments have been fitted up in a style in which cost has been disregarded.

FAMILY HOTEL,

3190 H. JOHNSON, Exchange Hotel.

WATCHES! WATCHES!! WATCHES!!!

SAMUEL DAVIS AND CO. in announcing the receipt of another extensive shipment of Gold and Silver Watches, well selected from the manufactories of the most eminent London makers, confidently assure their customers that these are really equal (if not superior) to those charged considerably more for at establishments whose exorbitant prices will not admit of quotation.

S. D. and Co. need only remark that these Watches now advertised are of the same superior class as usually sold by them, which have hitherto afforded their customers so much satisfaction, and gained for their establishment the patronage of a discerning public.

The proprietors have much pleasure in being able to quote the following low prices:—

Superior detached, anchor escapement, silver patent levers, jewelled in 10 holes, sunk seconds, going fusee, &c.	5	5	0
Superior patent levers, capped and jewelled, double bottomed engine turned silver cases, enamelled dials, sunk seconds	4	4	0
Superior three-quarter plate horizontals, jewelled in 4 holes, figured silver dials, made on entirely new principles	4	4	0
Superior silver horizontal watches, jewelled in 4 holes, solid silver domes, well adapted for the vest pocket, all sizes	3	3	0
An equally large selection of gold watches, possessing all the superior and valuable additions so recently invented, commencing at	5	15	0

Also an elegant selection of fine gold jewellery, diamond rings, beautiful armlets, and magnificent brooches, the whole stock being of the newest patterns and really very handsome.

All articles are warranted to be as represented: if proved otherwise the money will be immediately returned.

All watches sold at this Establishment are warranted to kept in repair free of any charge for two years, and at the expiration of which period (if required) they will be taken to pieces, cleaned, oiled, and thoroughly examined on payment of 5s.; they will then be warranted for two years longer.

SAMUEL DAVIS AND CO.,
Watchmakers and Jewellers, 494, George-street, two doors south of Hunter-street. 3546

EVERY ONE TO THEIR TRADE.

WHEELER AND M'KONE feel happy in returning thanks to their friends and the public for the patronage so liberally bestowed on them: since they have been in business they have always endeavoured to give every satisfaction, and they now venture to express a hope that their continued exertions will meet the same success as hitherto.

They are now, by recent purchases, enabled to offer to their customers an opportunity of selecting their patterns from a choice and varied stock, consisting of,

West of England cloths, doeskins. and cashmeres, fancy trouser patterns of the most modern styles, fancy silk and satin vestings, not to be surpassed (if equalled) by any other house in the city. Also a very choice assortment of embroidered silk, satin, and cloth vestings, newly imported.

It is perhaps scarcely necessary to remind their friends of the advantages they derive from dealing with bonâ fide tradesmen. The practical knowledge of the trade being indispensable with the principals, to ensure satisfaction to patrons and success to proprietors.

Once more returning thanks for the favours extended to them, they respectfully solicit a continuance. Address

WOOLLOOMOOLOO DISPENSARY,

Post Office, William-street.

FREDERICK E. SLOPER (Member by examination of the Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain), and five years Head Dispenser in the house of Savory, Moore, and Co., Queen's Chemists, New Bond-street, London, begs to inform the Medical Profession, and the resident families of Sydney and Woolloomooloo, that he has purchased the business lately carried on by Mr. J. Marshall, at William-street, Woolloomooloo, where he will devote his personal superintendence to the careful dispensing of all those Physicians' and Surgeons' Prescriptions and Family Receipes, with which he may be entrusted. Every article in his house may be relied upon as being of the purest quality, and his stock comprises all those requirements which the Family Chemist is expected to supply.

☞ The Grocery Business, as conducted by Mr. Marshall will henceforth be discontinued.

Mr. J. MARSHALL, in retiring from business, begs to offer his thanks to those friends and customers who have so liberally supported him during his residence in William street; at the same time he feels much pleasure that his Dispensary and Drug Business will be carried on by so competent a successor,—Mr. Sloper's qualifications as a Pharmaceutist and Dispenser being of so high an order as to ensure to his patrons that their Medicines, &c, will be faithfully prepared. 3194

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL TAILORING

VALUABLE FREEHOLD PROPERTY.

FOR SALE, by private contract, that well known substantial stone building, known as the Albion Inn, Hartley. It is situated on the banks of the rivulet, and commands a never failing supply of pure water, and situated on the direct road to Bathurst and the Turon. It is licensed and in full trade. The present proprietor, in consequence of a recent family bereavement, is about to retire from business.

THE HOUSE

which is built of stone, measures 75 feet by 36, and contains 3 parlours, 4 bed-rooms, bar, and tap-room and double cellar, with a spacious verandah. The rooms are all lofty, being 11 ft. from floor to ceiling, and well ventilated.

THE BAR AND TAP-ROOM

are exceedingly spacious, of the same height as the other rooms, and are decidedly superior to anything of the kind from Sydney to Bathurst.

THE VERANDAH

measures 80 ft. by 9 ft., flagged with freestone and ceiled, and is in every respect in character with the magnificent building to which it is attached.

CELLARS

capable of storing 600 tons of goods.

KITCHEN.

A detached kitchen with servants' apartment attached are in first-rate condition; one a nine-stalled stable, slabbed, weatherboarded, and flagged, with loft; also two out stables, 4 stalls each, shingled, and sheds attached. There is also a blacksmith's shop, with full complement of tools, and is under a rental of £25 per year.

THE STABLES

THE FURNITURE, which is of a superior description, and consists of everything requisite for a first-rate establishment, will be sold by public competition if not sold by private contract, previous to next transfer day

The premises will be ready for inspection from the 10th of August, and possession can be given next transfer day.

For further particulars, apply to Mr. J. NAIRN, Albion Inn, Hartley. 2301

NEW GOODS, EX OSMANLI.

FLAVELLE, BROTHERS, beg to inform their numerous customers and the public that their large stock of goods, ex Osmanli, is now landed and ready for inspection. The jewellery consists of every novelty in bracelets, rings, brooches, necklets, ladies' and gentlemen's chains, &c.; and will be found to be really genuine goods, being made expressly to their own order, and imported by themselves direct from the manufacturers.

They solicit particular attention to the present importation of watches which they have had made, not merely for sale, but to gain for them a reputation for selling only really good time-keepers. They consist of English gold and silver lever open-face and hunting-cased watches, enamel and gold dials. Also flat Geneva watches, from the well-known house of Mottu, Brothers. Two years warranty will be given with each watch, and they will be sold at as low rates as watches of the same quality can be sold in England.

They have also made a large addition to their stock of Brazilian pebbles, French crystal glasses, concave and convex; coloured glasses of every tint and focus, cataract glasses for couched eyes; and from their long experience in adapting glasses to the various defects of vision, will have no difficulty in suiting any sight,

FLAVELLE, BROTHERS,

For Hobart Town—By the Emma, on Monday evening, at 6.

Custom House.—Entered Outwards: July 29. Mary Montague, barque, 392 tons, Barclay, for Batavia.

The ship signalled to the northward yesterday evening, supposed to be the Tartar, from California, had not entered the Heads up to two o'clock this morning.

Cargo of the Adonis, from Bordeaux: For Port Phillip—490 cases 2 casks wine, 1558 cases brandy, 62 cases sardines, 3 cases preserves, 40 cases sweetened spirits, 25 cases preserved fruit, 25 cases syrup, 4 cases cigars. For Sydney—34 casks 1188 cases wine, 320 barrels flour, 39 casks 159 cases brandy, 98 cases sardines, 2 cases truffles, 70 cases olive oil, 30 cases sweet wines, 3 cases absynthe, 4 cases perfumery, 2 cases lamps, 18 cases preserves, 20 cases sweetened spirits, 30 cases fruit in brandy, 12 cases olive oil, 36 cases dried fruit, 8 cases pepper, 36 cases various goods, 66 cases vinegar, 5 bags coffee, 5 parcels sperm candles.

The Director Pencida, from San Francisco, reports the Baltimore, Captain Moody, as having sailed from Honolulu for this port on the 12th June. The Australian, whaler, Captain Wiles, was spoken off the Feegees, with 50 barrels sperm. Her chief officer has come on to Sydney by the Director Pencida.

The barque Sabrina, from Hobart Town, arrived at San Francisco May 14.

The barque Salem, and Jessie Byrne, hence February 24th, arrived at San Francisco May 15th.

The Lascar portion of the crew of the Tory, 19 in number, came up in the Rose last evening. Captain Pryce and the English sailors are encamped in the vicinity of the wreck, employed in saving as much as possible of the ship's cargo, stores, &c.

A most exciting whaleboat race took place yesterday evening, between the two splendid boats of H.M.S. Torch. The course was from the man of war, round Pinchgut, and back again, the distance being accomplished by the leading boat in 7 minutes 25 seconds. The start was taken in admirable style, and was beautifully kept up until within a short distance of Pinchgut, when the winning boat took the lead, and eventually beat her opponent by about 30 yards.

Water Police Office.—Yesterday, Robert Spooner, a seaman belonging to the Allandale, was charged by Captain Dewron with having, whilst drunk, broken almost all the glasses in the ship's skylight, and three panes of plate-glass in the deck-house. The prisoner offered no defence, and the Water Police Magistrate made an order that the amount of damage done, viz., £8, be deducted from the prisoner's wages.—George Spooner, another seaman belonging to the same ship, was sentenced to pay a fine of 20s., or to be imprisoned for seven days, for being drunk and disorderly.—The first prisoner, Robert Spooner, was afterwards placed in the dock, charged with assaulting the chief officer, and was sentenced to be imprisoned for fourteen days.

THE REPORT ON THE NEW CONSTITUTION.

Until we have before us the two Bills prepared by the Committee on the New Constitution, one for conferring a Constitution on the colony, the other for granting a Civil List to Her Majesty, we cannot give an unqualified opinion upon the measures recommended. So far, however, as we can judge from the Report brought up by the honorable and learned Chairman, Mr. Wentworth, on Thursday evening, we are inclined to think very favourably of the conclusions at which the Committee have arrived, with not more than one or two exceptions.

The most important and most difficult of the questions with which the Committee had to deal was the one relating to the composition of the Upper House,—the most difficult, because there prevailed in the Committee of last session, and still prevails, we believe, in the Council, a great diversity of opinion as to whether the Upper House should consist of elective members or of Crown nominees, or partly of the one and partly of the other,—the most important, not only because upon the composition of the House will in great measure depend the efficiency of our future legislation, and the political bearings of our form of government through all times coming, but because Her Majesty's Government had laid it down as an indispensable condition to their making the concessions we had asked, that our new Legislature should be established "on the basis of an Elective Assembly, and a Legislative Council to be nominated by the Crown." To have deviated from this latter stipulation would, in the estimation of Ministers, have been an inexcusable breach of faith on the part of the colony, its representatives having, in their Declaration and Remonstrance of December, 1851, demanded a Constitution similar in its outline to that of Canada, with which demand the Ministers engage to comply on the understanding that the Upper House in Canada is to be the model of our own. The Home Government regard this as an essential part of the bargain between themselves and us, and as the more binding upon us because it was of our own proposing.

We rejoice, therefore, that the Committee have taken this view of the case. "Your Committee are of opinion," says the Report, "that the offer contained in their declaration and remonstrance necessarily included a nominated Legislative Council in the first instance; and from this offer they see no reason to depart." They recognise our self-imposed obligation as fully as it is recognised in the despatches of Sir John Pakington and the Duke of Newcastle, and, like honest men, are prepared to abide by it. But they abide by it, not merely as a bond which it would be dishonourable to break, but as an engagement intrinsically wise and beneficial. "They desire,' proceeds the Report, "to have a form of government based on the analogies of the British constitution. They have no wish to sow the seeds of a future democracy; and until they are satisfied that the nominated or the future elective Council which they recommended will not effect the object they have in view, of placing a safe revising, deliberative, and conservative element between the Lower House and Her Majesty's representative in this colony, they do not feel inclined to hazard the experiment of an Upper House based on a general elective franchise. They are the less disposed to make the experiment, as such a franchise, if once created, will be difficult to be recalled."

In these sentiments we are sure the great majority of our intelligent fellow-colonists will heartily concur,—the more so since the elective franchise has of late been practically monopolised by a democratic oligarchy. And if democracy is to have the ascendant in the Lower House, it is the more important that its power should be checked by a conservative spirit in the Upper. Democratic domination in both Houses would be fatal to constitutional liberty, in the sense in which constitutional liberty is understood by subjects of the British Crown. Whether these views be entertained by the majority of honorable members or not, we trust for the sake, at all events, of being true to our own compact, and of making sure of the full benefits which Ministers are waiting to bestow upon us in virtue of that compact, there will be no attempt in the House to disturb this part of the arrangement recommended by the Committee. Indeed it is desirable, with a view both to our character and to our interests, that this part of the recommendation should be unanimously affirmed.

There is, however, another feature in the Committee's plan which, though we do not disapprove of it in the abstract, we regret to see, because it is sure to prevent that spirit of unanimity which should grace the adoption of this important measure. We refer to the suggestion respecting hereditary titles. The Council do not recommend the introduction into the colony of a right by descent to a seat in the Upper House. But they are of opinion "that the creation of hereditary titles, leaving it to the option of the Crown to annex to the title of the first patentee a seat for life in that House, and conferring on the original patentees and their descendants, inheritors of their titles, a power to elect a certain number of their order to form, in conjunction with the original patentees then living, the Upper House of Parliament, would be a great improvement upon any form of Legislative Council hitherto tried or recommended in any British colony." We are inclined to think so too, provided the colony were ripe for hereditary honours, and colonial taste were favourable to them. But we fear the materials for such an aristocracy are as yet wanting in our community, and we are strongly of opinion that, even were materials at hand, the temper of the public mind is not prepared to treat such an aristocracy with respect. Unless we are very much mistaken, a colonial baronetcy would be an object of ridicule rather than of deference.

But the recommendation appears to us to be superfluous. The Queen already has the power to confer whatever honours she may be graciously pleased to confer upon any of us; and as the Upper House is to consist of members nominated by Her Majesty, she may nominate those whom in other respects she delights to honour.

The only other point to which we can advert just now, is the proposed extension of the franchise. In addition to the present franchise, it is proposed to give the right of voting for the election of members of the House of Assembly to all persons having a salary of £100 a year, and to all occupants of any room or lodging, paying £10 a year for their board and lodging, or £10 a year for their lodgings only. We see no objection to this in principle, though we think there will be some difficulties of detail in carrying it out.

[After this article was prepared we received copies of the Bills, of which an abstract will be found in the next page.]

CALIFORNIA.

By the Director, which arrived here yesterday, we have San Francisco journals to the 18th of May, being twelve days later than our previous advices.

They contain little of interest beyond mere local matters. We are indebted to the Alta California for the following extracts.

The political progress of the Australian colonies begins to be theoretically considered by our calculating and go-a-head friends, and we have been amused to find that they guess New South Wales to be in a state bordering upon insurrection.

The following morceaux are from the Alta of May 17:—

The discontents so manifest two years ago in the British colonies in the South Pacific, and which seemed for a short time to have been partially silenced by the gold discoveries, is at present manifest and increasing. It is indeed the great feature of the news, apart from the mining reports, and is suggestive of very stirring and perhaps bloody events at no very distant date. Formerly the chief cause of complaint was the transporting of felons to those colonies. Now it is the license laws which are declared tyrannical, unjust and oppressive, ruinous to some sections, and beneficial to none.

How this discontent may terminate it is not easy to tell. But it is evident that a great people, which Australia is rapidly becoming, must have a Government of its own, nearer, at least, than the mother country. The day for pro-consulships has passed away—the people who will long endure them are not the Anglo-Saxon race. A nation three months' sail from its King and Legislature cannot be well governed, no matter what the wishes and intentions may be. London cannot legislate for Melbourne. It could not do so for South Carolina and Boston. The people of Australia want a responsible Government, and they will have it. England must meet them half way, or they will take their affairs into their own hands. They have progressed half a century in two years, and it is doubtful if the mother can keep up with the footsteps of the child.

With regard to local matters, we take the following extracts:—

A debate of considerable interest took place in the House on Saturday, on the Revenue Bill. Several members from the mining counties endeavoured to get an amendment into the Bill reducing the capitation tax from three to two dollars. We are glad to see the amendment was voted down, for we believe that three dollars capitation tax is as little as any man can in reason ask. It is well known that the great majority of the miners pay no other tax, and unless the poll tax is reasonably large the State will derive little revenue from a large class of citizens. Any man in California, in health, can pay a tax of three dollars, and we believe that the miners generally are desirous of conforming to and abiding by the law, and that they are not only willing but desirous of contributing a reasonable share towards the support of the Government. In view of the complaint that has been made, so long and so frequently, that the miners have exercised the power in the Legislature at the same time that they have paid but little into the public treasury, we must say that the attempt to reduce the poll tax to less than it hitherto has been, does not evince a willingness to bear a fair share of the State burden, and we do not believe it was in accordance with the wishes of most of the miners themselves.—Alta, May 16.

An attempt was yesterday made to get a resolution through the Legislature asking Congress to donate tracts of land in quantities of 640 acres to each of a company of men that went out in the year 1852 to assist the emigrants. It is put on the ground of Indian fighting, as it is presumed that Congress will view applications of that character more favourably than those of a philanthropic character or adventurous and exploring character. We are glad to see the proposition was voted down, for a more absurd request we can hardly conceive of. One half the people of California have at some time or other gone out on some kind of an exploring or Indian fighting expedition, and if such claims are sufficient to entitle persons to land grants of 640 acres each, there will be small occasion for sending on the memorial to Congress asking to have the public lands within our borders given to the State, for there will be none to give, if such requests are granted.

The bill for the suppression of gambling we are glad to perceive has passed the Senate, and in the House the amendments proposed in committee were adopted by a vote sufficiently decided to convince us that it must become a law. We regard the success of this measure as a positive step towards social and moral reform—the harbinger of a better day for California.

The wild project of raising a company of mounted men, under authority from the State, for the capture of Joaquin and his band, received a blow in the mouth from which we think it will not recover.—Ibid

Excitement and Deadly Affray in Santa Barbara.—By the arrival of the steamer Ohio, Captain Briggs, from the southern ports, we have dates from Los Angeles, San Diego, and Santa Barbara, several days later. From San Diego to the 23rd ult., Los Angeles, 30th. The following painful intelligence comes to us from Santa Barbara. For some time past the ranch known as the Arroyo Burro has been in possession of one John Powers who held it under a squatter claim. On Saturday last the sheriff, W. W. Twist, was about to proceed to serve a writ of ejectment on Powers. It being intimated to him that to get possession he must do so by force of arms, he called upon the citizens to meet in the Plaza to render him assistance in the execution of his duty. The party procured a large cannon to take with them, and while on the Plaza a man threw his riata over it to draw it away. The sheriff ordered him to desist; during the dispute a Californian stepped behind Twist and stabbed him, the latter turned round and shot him dead. A general firing then commenced, during which J. A. Videl was killed.

Monday Morning.—The excitement has somewhat subsided on account of the arrival of the cutter Ewing, whose commander offers to render all assistance in his power in the execution of the law. At last accounts Twist was very low, but hopes were entertained of his recovery.

We are indebted to Purser Deane for the above account, our correspondence having from some unaccountable cause failed to reach us. There is not much other news from the South.—Alta, May 8.

The Alta thus adverts to the abandonmen by the central government of the States of the Japan expedition:—

Japan is still to remain a sealed book after all. The squadron is to be recalled, Commodore Perry is to be taken out of his element, and hauled up on the dry dock. We are to have no port in Japan for a steamer depôt, no further knowledge of its people, no treaties of peace and good will, no protection for our wrecked seamen, no harbours for our Arctic whalers, nothing but mystery and non-intercourse, nothing but stripes and prisons, and death by starvation, bastinado and poison, for the poor sailor whom storms and tempests hurl upon those chartless and unsurveyed shores. All our boasting about opening Japan is to prove only boast and gas, our ships are to return to rot, and the nation is to become the jeer-target for all civilization.

Since the Japan expedition was first decided upon and known, only one opinion has prevailed respecting its necessity. Whether the details were satisfactory and the force sufficient has been perhaps a question. But it is impossible to know what force is necessary until a trial. That trial we are not to have. The Government cannot be brought up to the character and progress of our people. Our whalemen have found a summer mine in the Arctic, but they want a harbour for protection somewhere along the Japan coast during winter. They are not to have one. Our clippers are ploughing the Pacific waters every where, and our commerce, already large, promises a glorious future, provided it be fostered and protected by the national arm and force. But this is not to be—the Atlantic only is worth attention.

Cannot our statesmen break the shell which encases their minds like the oyster, and let their souls and ideas expand a little? Must they be like the merchants of old, who dared not to go beyond the pillars of Hercules? Can they not follow in thought and calculation our merchants and people? When the whaler from Nantucket and the merchant from Boston and New York, the sailor and trader from all the States, and the citizens generally in all the States have found out and pointed out new places and sources of wealth and aggrandisement, cannot the men who rule, keep somewhere within hail-call of the popular mind and popular movements? It seems not. And the recent galvanic movements of our national government, first attempting to wheedle or to bully Japan, and then slinking out of it before trying either, reminds one of Elia's "poor relation," who "holdeth out his hand to you to shake, and—draweth it back again."

President Pierce could scarcely do a more unpopular thing than to recall the Japan Expedition. Not only here, not only through the Eastern States, but in Europe and wherever commerce and civilisation have made men think and read, the attempt to open Japan to both, has been most favourably received. The senseless failure will therefore meet with execration here, disappointment at the east, and ridicule everywhere.

MEXICO.

The following particulars are taken from the Alta California of May 13.

General Santa Anna made his public entry into Mexico at half-past eleven on the morning of April 20th, passing under a triumphal arch erected in the first street of Santo Domingo. Our papers contain no account of the proceedings on his arrival, the above intelligence being embodied in a short postscript added at the moment of publication, but great preparations had been made for his reception. He was to swear to the Constitution in the Hall of the Deputies, immediately on his arrival, before the Supreme Court of Justice, after which a Te Deum and other less religious festivities. Before leaving Guadalupe, the General President nominated his Ministry, though the list was not published officially.

The Cabinet is composed as follows:—Alaman, Minister of Foreign Relations; Tornel, War; Haroy Tamaric, Finance; Teodosia Lares, Justice; Manuel Janregui, Fomento, (Public Industry), an office of new formation.

The conservative element preponderates throughout these appointments, and the daily press have already prepared for the forthcoming conflict of interests. The Administration will be supported by the Orden and Universal—the Siglo and Monitor taking sides with the opposition.

The President arrived at Guadalupe on the 16th, and remained there three days. He received the visits of numbers, who were eager to assure him of their attachment and fidelity; though some of them were ci devant friends of Arista. There, as at Vera Crus, he maintained considerable reserve, and in his countenance, remarks the Trait, "was noticeable something of a gloom and melancholy, the probable result of an intense pre-occupation of mind, which is easily enough to be comprehended." His most intimate friends give out that he has some great projects in contemplation, the realisation of which will not be long deferred; others affirm that his alliance with the Conservative party is only a trial step, dictated by circumstances, but that it will not be of long duration.

General Woll arrived at Tampico on the 7th of April, and the following morning issued two proclamations, one to the citizens the other to the garrison. By the last accounts he was prepared to march upon the Rio Bravo with 2,000 men, but he has probably modified his plan on learning the capture and probable execution of the redoubted Carabajal. This "too celebrated filibustier" had passed the Rio Bravo and possessed himself of Reynosa, where he maltreated the authorities and held them to ransom; but the moment of his retreat, he was attacked by a force sent from Camargo by Colonel Cruz, and pursued to the passage of the river. After this he appears to have attempted another raid, in which he was made prisoner by the troops of Colonel Cruz. "Such," says the Trait of the 26th, "is the intelligence brought in the day before yesterday by a special courier. If true, as there is every reason to believe, it is very likely Carabajal has been shot before this, and that his execution has, for a time at least, given tranquillity to the frontier."

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

SUPREME COURT.—Friday.

Sittings in Banco.

Before the full Court.

IN RE SHUTTLEWORTH.

This was an enquiry into the professional conduct of Mr. James Nainby Shuttleworth, an attorney of the court, in relation to and connexion with Mrs. French, Mr. William Bligh Gore, and others, for whom he had been concerned in the defence of an action of ejectment, having reference to the estate of Artamon on the North Shore.

The affidavits were very voluminous, consisting on either side of a detailed statement of the interviews, correspondence, &c., which had taken place from time to time between the parties. The following however is believed to be a correct statement in brief of the main facts.

Mr. Shuttleworth having been retained to defend an action of ejectment, wherein Mr. R. J. Want, the attorney, was the real plaintiff and the before mentioned parties the real defendants, took from them a conveyance of the Estate of Artamon, in fee simple to himself, as a security for such costs, &c., as might be incurred; at the same time giving a written undertaking that, on being paid, he would execute a reconveyance to the parties, or such of them as, by arrangement among themselves, they might select. The tenants in possession were made nominally the defendants, by Mr. Shuttleworth's advice, and the proceedings went on. At first Mr. Shuttleworth appeared confident of success, but subsequently, on becoming better acquainted with the title and position of his clients with reference to this property, he appeared to have arrived at a directly opposite conclusion, in fact to have become convinced that they had no maintainable title. Negociations were opened with Mr. Want with a view to some settlement, and this gentleman finally agreed that, rather than continue litigation in a case where the parties nominally opposed to him were men of straw, he would dispose of his claim for £1000. Mr. Shuttleworth had many communications with his clients, and especially with Mrs. French upon this subject, and strongly urged an acceptance of these terms, expressing his opinion that, if the offer was not closed upon they would, by reason of their defective title, lose all; while if it was accepted, the probable increase in the value of the property would enable them in the end to pay off the various claims against it. But the clients were not convinced that the view taken by Mr. Shuttleworth was a correct one, and would not assent to the proposed arrangement with Mr. Want. Upon this, Mr. Shuttleworth, having the legal title and being really the party recognized by Mr. Want, concluded the purchase from that gentleman of his own authority, having, however, first notified to his clients his intention to take this step even without their assent, in the belief that he should best consult their interests by so doing. The matter being thus settled, Mr. Shuttleworth suffered judgment to go by default. There were many other negociations arising out of offers on the part of Mr. Shuttleworth, (in whom the absolute proprietorship would thus rest if his clients should be unable to pay off the demands) to give certain portions of the estate to the clients (all of which offers were rejected), or to hand over the papers, &c., to any other attorney on payment of his taxed costs. Nothing came of all these negociations; and finally there was an application to the Court to set aside this judgment already alluded to, and to demand an explanation from Mr. Shuttleworth. The judgment was set aside, but the personal application by the clients against their solicitor, Mr. Shuttleworth, was reserved for the consideration of the Court, and was now gone into in pursuance of that reservation. The question as to who should pay costs of setting aside the judgment had been reserved to await the result of this proceeding. The substance of Mr. Shuttleworth's explanatory statement was that he had acted in the bona fide belief that the course he took was not only the one best calculated to advance the interests of his clients, but the only one which would preserve to them any portion of the property, and that he regarded himself as a mere trustee in this matter, being ready and willing to surrender and reconvey absolutely on being paid. There were, in effect, three questions for the determination of the Court arising out of this set of facts; first, whether or not Mr. Shuttleworth had acted wrong in taking the absolute conveyance from his clients in the first instance to secure costs, which were then only contemplated; secondly, whether he did right or wrong in effecting the settlement with Mr. Want; and, thirdly, whether in this settlement he had acted with a single view to his clients' interest, or with a view, more or less strong, to the advancement of his own.

The matter having been argued very fully between the Solicitor-General and Mr. Darvall for the complaining clients, and Messrs. Foster and Broadhurst for the attorney,

Their Honors decided that, although it might have been open to Mr. Want to complain of the course taken by Mr. Shuttleworth, in accepting a conveyance of the property then in dispute to cover, prospectively, the costs of defending its possession, this formed no reasonable ground of complaint on the part of Mr. Shuttleworth's clients. By accepting such a conveyance the interests of the attorney were not opposed to that of his clients, but rather identified with them; for it became quite as much to his advantage as to theirs, that possession should be maintained. The transaction was, indeed, an irregular one, and one which ought not to be encouraged, but the Court could not regard it as one which rendered the attorney liable to punishment or even to rebuke. The proceeding was one in which there was nothing morally wrong; it was simply one which, for its irregularity, was a fair matter for observation; or to reprehention in its mildest sense. But he had acted more irregularly, and had laid himself open to actual censure, in concluding the purchase from Mr. Want, not only without the assent of his clients but against their will. The Court was fully assured that Mr. Shuttleworth had acted under the bond fide belief that there was no good defence to the action of ejectment, and that at the time of making the compromise he thought he was doing the very best thing for his clients. But no attorney was justified in forcing a compromise or any other proceeding, even to promote the client's best interests, if it was not the wish of his client that this course should be taken. And, in the present case, it was clear that in promoting his clients interests Mr. Shuttleworth had had still more strongly in view the promotion of his own. He had, doubtless, taken a course which he believed would be likely to ensure his clients a portion of the land of which they would otherwise be dispossessed; but this course was one which, he also saw, would ensure him the payment of his costs, or the possession of the estate as his own property, leaving him to make whatever terms he pleased with his clients the original claimants of it. Bearing in mind the admitted belief of Mr. Shuttleworth that this was the only course which would ensure to the clients anything, the transaction might not amount to a moral wrong; still it was one which mixed up his own private affairs with the private affairs of those for whom he was professionally concerned; and placed his interests in a position of antagonism towards the interests of his clients; or, at all events, towards what they believed to be their interests. And if transactions of this kind were permitted, the confidence in professional men might be shaken. An attorney must not only act with a single eye to his client's interests, and to these alone, but he must not even seek to force a benefit upon a client against the will of the latter. The justice of the case would be fully met by imposing upon Mr. Shuttleworth the costs of the present application, and the costs incurred by his clients in setting aside the judgment which had been obtained by default under the circumstances already detailed. The Court would not at present pronounce any decision as to whether the conveyance to Mr. Shuttleworth ought or ought not to be set aside. This was a matter which must be left to substantive proceeding, and dealt with, not as one of a personal nature, but as the equities of the case might seem to demand.

Mr. Broadhurst, as counsel for Shuttleworth, and by suggestion of the latter, expressed a willingness that, in order to save further expense and trouble the Court should include in its present decision an order for the cancellation of conveyance alluded to, and for a re-conveyance by himself.

Their Honors accordingly made this a part of the decision, remarking at the same time that Mr. Shuttleworth had shewn not only by this offer, but by the statement or offer with which he closed his explanatory affidavit, a perfect willingness to pursue that which the Court had pointed out as the proper course.

EX-PARTE M'CULLOCH V. SPAIN.

Mr. Broahurst moved for and obtained a rule nisi returnable on the first day of next term, calling upon Mr. Spain, the attorney, to show cause why a criminal information should not be filed against him for libel on Mr. M'Culloch also an attorney of the Court.

Court adjourned until ten o'clock this morning.

Central Criminal Court.—The sittings of this court will commence on Monday. The calendar contains, at present, a list of but fifteen cases for trial, viz, two cases of stealing from the person, one of horse stealing, one of keeping a common gambling house, one of stealing in a dwelling to greater value than £5, one of indecent assault on a child under 12, one of larceny, one of assault on the high seas, two of uttering a forgery, one of robbery, one of assault with intent to commit a rape, one of breaking and entering a shop and stealing therein, one of wounding with intent to do grievous bodily harm, one of common assault, and one of occasioning bodily injury—the defendant being a coachman.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE.

NEW SOUTH WALES CONGREGATIONAL HOME MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

A public Meeting, the last of the series of services in connexion with the anniversary of the New South Wales Congregational Missionary Society, was on Thursday evening held at the Congregational Church, Redfern, the Rev. Joseph Beazley in the chair. After singing and prayer, the Chairman introduced to the meeting the object for which they had been called together,—not to glorify or benefit themselves, but to adopt measures with a view to the glory of their Lord and master Christ, and to benefit, by promoting the salvation of, their fellow-men, failing in which their loyalty to their Divine Master might well be questioned. There was in these days an universal movement among all denominations of professing Christians for the promotion of the same glorious object. While he rejoiced most sincerely at witnessing the exertions and successes of other churches, he could not but remember that Congregationalists had a denominational existence of their own, and, having tasted the preciousness and value of the truths of the everlasting gospel, felt it to be his and their duty to do something as a Church to bring those saving truths to bear upon the hearts and consciences of those who were destitute of their advantages. To-night they were met together for the promotion of this object. The rev. gentleman concluded by giving an outline report of the proceedings and position of the Society, of similar purport to that read to the meeting at Dr. Ross's Church on Monday.

The Rev. J. T. Waraker, in moving the first resolution—"That it is the duty of Christians to spread the Gospel of Christ, the most precious gift of God to man, as widely as possible,"—took occasion to congratulate the Chairman, and the Church of which he is the pastor, on the favourable circumstances under which they were met—no longer in need of assistance for themselves, they were able to extend a helping hand to others. No man liveth to himself, nor dieth to himself; the Christian finds it cruel bondage to live to himself, and therefore lives to the Lord: to promote and encourage this was the endeavour of the Congregational Home Missionary Society for New South Wales, and therefore he had no selfish object to accomplish. If they would have the prosperity and civilization of this colony to advance as they hoped, they must see to it that that prosperity and civilization had its rise in true Christian soil,—as witness the exalted condition of Great Britain and of America, which was not owing to mere political advantage, but to the superiority of their religion over that possessed by any considerable number of any other nation under heaven, which would be apparent on the most cursory glance at the state of Rome, Spain, Portugal, and which indeed might be found on the map of the world, but were of no political force or influence whatever—were, indeed, in the way, hindrances and clogs to the onward progress of civilization. Christianity is no longer to be regarded as an experiment, but as a great and glorious fact. For eighteen centuries they might look back, when Christianity appeared as a little stone cut out of the mountain without hands: it has rolled onward and onward, until at length it reached the shores of Australia; it is rolling still; and the time is drawing nigh when it shall cover and fill the whole earth.

The Rev. Dr. Ross seconded the resolution, which was adopted by the meeting.

The Rev. Mr. Gordon moved the next resolution, "That the views of the Gospel usually entertained by Congregationalists are of high importance in the formation and growth of any civil community, and pre-eminently so in this."

The Rev. Mr. Slatyer seconded the resolution. He wished it to be distinctly understood that there was no material difference between the views of Congregationalists and those held by other churches of evangelical Christians. In May last year he was in London, and heard Dr. Harris in a public address lay down the following as the principle of Congregationalism:—First, That we recognize the superior authority of the word of God; secondly, The right of every man to interpret the word of God for himself; thirdly, The unsecular and voluntary constitution of the Christian Church; and fourthly, The power of every Christian church within itself to manage its own affairs. The distinction lay chiefly in the third and fourth of Dr. Harris' propositions; and the resolution before the meeting avers that they are of importance in the formation and growth of any community, and especially in this. Congregationalists discard all support but that arising from the liberality of those who love the truth, looking for the blessing of God upon their endeavours, by the pouring out of his Spirit, to give them success—making a distinction between those things which belong to God and those which belong to Cesar. Let these principles be worked by those who have them in their heart, and they will make their way in any community, leavening the whole mass of society. Let us but have a number of churches working these principles, and we shall ultimately have a population the best which can be provided for any nation; and happy is the people in such a case.

The resolution was put, and carried.

Mr. Fairfax moved, and Mr. G. A. Lloyd seconded the third resolution:—"That this meeting is determined to aid in prosecuting the work to which the Congregational Home Missionary Society for New South Wales has committed itself—namely, the diffusion of Christianity in accordance with Congregational principles—with zeal and vigour, and in dependence upon the Divine Spirit."

Put and passed.

A psalm was then sung, the Chairman offered prayer, and the meeting was terminated.

The meeting was very numerously attended, and the collection amounted to upwards of £340. The total sum raised, either paid or promised, at these anniversary services, is about £1500.

Fancy Ball.—His Excellency the Governor-General has accepted the invitation of the Committee of the Ball to be given to his worship the Mayor, at the Royal Hotel, on Thursday, the 11th of next month.

Armidale.—The Justices of the Peace for the police district of Armidale, in Petty Sessions assembled, have appointed Mr. Lloyd Bradshaw, of Armidale, to be an Inspector of Weights and Measures in that district.

We are requested to draw attention to R. Muriel's sales this day of valuable effects, books, guns, pistols, &c., at 11 o'clock; and at 12 o'clock one of the finest pianofortes in the colony.

Church of England College.—A meeting of members of the Church of England was held last night, for the purpose of forming a college in connexion with the Sydney University. After considerable discussion it was resolved to establish a college, to be called Trinity College; and a committee, consisting of the committee of Queen's College, and a number of gentlemen who have stood aloof from that body, were named a committee for carrying it out. A meeting of the subscribers to Queen's College is to be held in a day or two for the purpose of determining upon the propriety of handing over the subscriptions, already amounting to £7000, to the Trinity, which, it is understood, from a desire of unity, most of them will do.

Stealing in a Dwelling.—On Thursday last, one gold watch, with two keys and one seal, and a shawl, were stolen from the premises of Mr. Molineaux, of Cumberland-street, publican. The property, valued at £25, was found by Sergeant Wilson, in the course of the same day, at a pawnshop in Kent-street, and there is every reason to believe that the thief will ere long be brought to justice.

Police Act.—There were several convictions under this Act yesterday. John Murphy, for an assault upon Sergeant Hodge, who had him in custody for disorderly conduct, was sentenced to pay a penalty of 40s. and costs, or be imprisoned for one month. Thomas Goyner, for an assault upon Constable Sheeves, who had apprehended him for making use of obscene language, was fined 20s. and costs, or to be imprisoned for fourteen days. John Galbert, Patrick Downey, and James Alison, for causing obstructions in the streets, were each fined five shillings and costs. A builder named O'Brien was summoned by Mr. Stubbs for an obstruction of the carriage-way of Wynyard street, by the erection thereon of a shed under which his men carry on their masonry operations, and which, with the outlying materials occupy about half the road. A link was, however, wanting in the evidence, and the information was dismissed.

Female Servants.—Mary Taylor yesterday appeared before the Mayor and Mr. M'Lerie, to answer the complaint of Mrs. Shipley for having on the 21st instant unlawfully and without leave absented herself from her service. It appeared that on the evening of the day named defendant wished to go out, a request with which her mistress could not comply inasmuch as she intended to go out herself, and it was therefore necessary that the servant should for once give way. Not so however thought the servant. About 9 o'clock Mrs. Shipley returned home, but there was no admittance for her at the front door, while the back of the premises were quite open for any one to enter who thought proper. In about an hour afterwards the defendant came home, and in reply to her mistress's remonstrance saucily said that indeed it was the place of the mistress and not of the servant to take care of the house—she did not engage for any such duty, and what was the house to her! There was the sum of 46s. due to the defendant for wages. The Bench considered that this was a most aggravated instance of ill-conduct by the defendant, and, with a view to the warning of other female servants as well as the punishment of this defendant, sentenced her to forfeit the whole of the wages due.—Mr. William Gritten was summoned by a young woman lately in his service for £2 14s., for six weeks' wages at 9s. In cross-examination it appeared that, although she gave a week's notice, she left her service two day, before the expiration of the weeks whereupon their worships made an order for five weeks' wages, mulcting of the difference. Mr. Gritten paid the money, and the forfeited wages were handed over for the benefit of the Destitute Children's Asylum.

Vagrant Act.—A man named Whitaker was yesterday convicted of using obscene language in the street, and was sentenced to pay a penalty of ten shillings or be imprisoned for three days. An old man named Beard, who has been six or seven times before the Bench within the past fortnight—sometimes taken into custody for protection, and at other times as an idle and disorderly character—and who as many times evaded punishment by undertaking to go at once for admission into the Benevolent Asylum, but as many times was again found sleeping at night under verandahs and in such like places, was again brought before Mr. Dowling yesterday, and as a last resort sentenced to be imprisoned at Darlinghurst for the period of one month.

Insanity.—A man named Gray, a resident at Cook's River, was brought yesterday before the Mayor, charged by Mr. M'Donald, of Newtown, with having on the 27th threatened to settle him, at the same time aiming a blow with an axe which he (complainant) scarcely avoided; he prayed protection, considering defendant, from this and other circumstances which he detailed, as of unsound mind; and dangerous to be allowed at large. In default of sureties to be of good behaviour Gray was forwarded to gaol for three months.—A young man named Adolphus Johannes Peters was brought up by constable Bunch, of the Water Police, for having on Thursday attempted to commit suicide by throwing himself over the side of a vessel into the harbour. Dr. Rutter, police surgeon, stated his belief that the poor fellow was decidedly lunatic, and required medical treatment. Peters was therefore sent to gaol for one month in default of sureties to be of good behaviour.

Coroner's Inquest.—Yesterday an inquest was held before the Coroner, at the Fortune of War Inn, Lower George-street, on view of the body of Mr. John Downes, of Lower George-street, trader, an old and respected citizen of Sydney. From the evidence in this very melancholy case, it appears that the deceased had been suffering from severe illness during the last month. He had been attended by Dr. Mackellar and Dr. O'Brien, during the last fortnight. They treated him for dropsy and ana archa arising from disease of the heart. They saw that the case was hopeless, and deemed it necessary to give him morphia for the amelioration of his pain. He was at times delirious, and on Thursday evening, having been left alone for a few moments, he inflicted a severe wound in his neck with a razor which was in the table drawer by his bedside. Dr. Mackellar was sent for, but deceased had expired before his arrival. The Coroner having commented in feeling terms upon this sad case, the Jury found that deceased had put a period to his existence by cutting his throat whilst labouring under temporary insanity.

We are requested by Mr. Dean to remind buyers at auction of his sales this day—at 10 o'clock prompt, at Brodie and Craig's Wharf, foot of Bathurst-street, the cargo of the Caroline, consisting of hay, bran, oats, barley, maize, &c., and 11,300 lbs. sandal wood; at his Mart, at 12 o'clock, grand pianoforte by Broadwood and Sons Baltimore barrel and Adelaide fine flour, country made and seconds flour; also 600 bushels of wheat For further particulars see our advertising columns.

Mr. Rishworth begs to direct particular attention to his sale of beds, blankets, &c., at Mr. Mort's Rooms, Pitt-street, this day, at half-past 10 o'clock; at 11 o'clock, household furniture, engravings, clocks, &c., &c.

Woman's Rights.—David Hale, late editor of the Journal of Commerce, once wrote a jeu d'esprit on the "Rights of Woman," in which he showed the balance of wrongs was decidedly on the side of men. When the simple question of superiority is at issue the men always have to give up. If ladies and gentlemen meet on the side walk, who has to turn out? If there are not seats enough for the whole company, who has to stand up? When there is danger to face, who must go forward? If there is curiosity to gratify, who goes behind? If there is too much company for the first table, who eats at the second? Who has always the right hand and the most respectable position? We could mention a hundred other cases, in which, on the simple question of right, everything is yielded to the woman. But there are many cases in which the condition of men is still worse. For instance, if on any public occasion a pew at church, or a seat anywhere, be occupied by men ever so respectable or aged, a smirking little beauty trips along and presents herself at the top of the seat, and they must all jump up and clear out as if they had been shot. Especially ought it to be noticed that when matrimonial negociations are to be made, the whole burden of performing the delicate and often very embarrassing parts of making proposals is thrown upon the men, while the women sit and say, No, no, no, no, as long as they like, and never say Yes, until they have a mind to.—Savanah Republican.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

Friday.

The Speaker took the chair at half-past three.

BATHURST COPPER MINING COMPANY'S BILL.

Mr. BLIGH brought up the report of the Select Committee on this Bill.

Mr. NICHOLS presented a petition from Henry Vaughan, of King-street, in the city of Sydney, agent, praying that a provision be introduced in the Court of Requests Bill, giving to suitors a right of appeal. Petition received.

BLAKE AND MEEHAN'S MARRIAGE VOIDING BILL.

Mr. WENTWORTH postponed the second reading of this Bill.

AUSTRALIAN JOINT STOCK BANK

Mr. COWPER moved the second reading of this Bill.

The Bill having been read a second time, the House went into Committee.

The two first clauses, incorporating the Company and confirming the deed of settlement, were passed.

On the 3rd clause, providing for the commencement and nature of the general business, some conversation took place, but from the noise which prevailed we were unable distinctly to catch the point which was under discussion.

The ATTORNEY-GENERAL wished that the bill should be postponed, some doubt resting on his mind as to some of its provisions. At the request, however, of the Attorney-General, Mr. Cowper offered to adjourn the further consideration of the Bill for a fortnight, expressing his hope that the hon. members would read the bill in the meanwhile.

Ultimately the Chairman left the chair, and obtained leave to sit again on Tuesday.

THE BAR AT BRISBANE RIVER.

Mr. RICHARDSON moved that an address be presented to the Governor-General praying that His Excellency may be pleased to caused to be placed upon the Supplementary Estimate for 1853, the sum of £5000, for the purpose of deepening the Bar at the entrance of the Brisbane River. In moving for the sum of money, he would briefly call the attention of the House to the importance of this subject. He found from the returns recently furnished that in 1852, nearly £200,000 worth of produce had been shipped from Brisbane, and there was every probability of an increase in its trade; and considering the great value of the district in an agricultural point, and its mineral riches, consisting of immense beds of coal, he felt that the removal of the obstructions to the navigation of the river was a matter of great importance. The entrance at the bar was between three and four miles, and although, the present anchorage outside the bar was safe, still it was highly desirable that vessels should be enabled to enter the river, and if the entrance were deepened about two to three feet, vessels drawing fifteen feet could proceed up the river. He was of opinion that the Government would derive very considerable advantage from such an operation, since it would probably increase the value of the crown lands tenfold. A sum of money had been voted for the survey of the bar, and a report had been made in which the manager estimated the expense at £30,000. It was not for him to say what sum would be sufficient for the purpose, but he believed it could be accomplished for much less. No doubt he should be told by the Colonial Secretary that there were no funds applicable to this purpose; but he would suggest that there was plenty of money in the Savings' Bank, which could be borrowed at a very low interest.

Mr. RUSSELL seconded the motion.

The COLONIAL SECRETARY regretted that he felt again obliged to oppose this motion. It was quite impossible the Government could accede to it, considering the large sums which had already been voted for public works He admitted that this district was a most important one, and entitled to every consideration; but the claim had been brought forward too late, nor was it put in a sufficiently definite shape. A memorial had been sent down to the Government on this subject about the middle of last month, but the memorialists had been informed that the financial arrangements of the year had been already settled, and that it was impossible to make any alteration then. He had said this motion was not in a definite form. He meant that there was nothing to show that the object in view would be effected with such a sum as £5000, which, according to the hon. gentleman's own showing, was only a sixth of the estimated cost. He did not himself recollect having seen the report alluded to, nor did he think it could have been sent to the Government. What he was about to say would perhaps not be very palatable to the constituents of the hon. gentleman, who had, at all events, done his duty to them; but he believed there were physical obstacles against Brisbane ever becoming an important shipping port, which would never be overcome. But he thought that at Cleveland Point a very excellent port existed, and would probably become an important shipping port for the district. With the information before him, therefore, he should scarcely feel justified in acceding to this vote, even if there were available funds, and he felt compelled to oppose the motion.

Mr. RUSSELL briefly supported the motion.

Captain KING had not sufficient knowledge of the port of Brisbane to give a decided opinion on this subject, but, from the charts he had seen, he believed it was of great importance to facilitate the river communication. As to Cleveland Point, he was not satisfied that the harbour there was as good as had been said. He quite agreed with his hon. friend the Colonial Secretary, that this motion was brought forward too late in the session; but he thought the subject ought to be considered early next session. He believed there were means of deepening the bar by pile driving, which could be effected for less than £5000, but he should like to see the locality surveyed, and a proper estimate made of the cost, before next session.

Mr. HOLROYD concurred in this view, and suggested that the hon. member for Stanley should withdraw his motion, provided the Government would pledge itself to enquire into the matter without delay, otherwise he should feel compelled to vote for the motion.

Mr. CAMPBELL complained that the Government did not take measures for the improvement of the country in general. (Laughter.) The Colonial Secretary was continually objecting to the expense of the proposed improvements; but it was obvious that in order to render the crown lands valuable it was necessary that large sums of money should first be expended upon these works. The Government admitted the importance of this district, and, considering their constant nibbling at the public money, and their schemes for establishing new settlements at Port Curtis and other places, their arguments about the expense were most fallacious. He thought the hon. gentleman, and even the Governor-General, should personally travel about the country and inspect these various localities, and if they could not afford it let them come down to this House for their travelling expenses. (Loud laughter.)

Mr. COWPER hoped the Government would adopt the suggestions which had been thrown out. The house at present knew nothing about the cost of this matter, and it would be highly desirable before any vote was come to, that they should have an estimate.

Mr. FLOOD could not but admire the tact displayed by the hon. gentleman opposite, on all occasions. Not Wellington, nor the great Napoleon himself, could beat him in tact. (Laughter.) With reference to this vote, it was true they had no estimate, but it behoved the Government to set an enquiry on foot at once. The hon. gentleman was always taunting this side of the House with their prodigality, but this taunt came with a very bad grace, considering that the liberality of the House had been chiefly shown in voting the large increases to Government salaries. He hoped that, in future, more attention would be paid to these works, and if it were necessary he saw no objection to going into debt for them. The present course could only be described as penny wise and pound foolish.

The COLONIAL SECRETARY would state that an enquiry should be made (hear, hear); but he could not undertake to pledge the Government to any particular course until the financial state of the country next year should be ascertained. In reference to what had been said by the last speaker, he declared he had never taunted hon. members opposite for their prodigality; and as to their liberality in voting increased salaries, he had been enabled to express his sincere thanks for that liberality, not having been a participator in its advantages which however he considered but an act of strict justice. But the fact was that these votes had just turned the scale of the public balances, and the government must exercise prudence, and pay due regard to economy. The house had voted £33,000 in excess of what the government had proposed as the expenditure for the year. He repeated that this district was a most important one, but there were hundreds of other claims of more or less importance also, and these could only be considered in reference to the available funds to meet them. It happened, indeed, that owing to the settlement of the Port Phillip balances the government would be in possession of money they had not anticipated, but this he believed would only be sufficient to meet the claims already gone into. The great difficulty in this matter was, that the Government had no officer at their disposal whom they could detach for the purpose. It would be necessary that an engineer of great skill should be employed, and this could not be done without considerable expense. He must study on the spot the nature of the localities, and of the tides,—and must make intricate and minute calculations before he could form any approximate estimate of the expense. In reply to what had fallen from the hon. member for Sydney as to his undertaking the personal inspection of these localities, he could only say, he should be very glad if the hon. member would guarantee him his expenses, to go travelling about in preference to remaining all the year round in his office, as he was compelled, unfortunately, now to do, and he cordially thanked the hon. gentleman for the hint. (Laughter.)

Mr. RICHARDSON, after the assurance that the matter should be enquired into, begged leave to withdraw his motion.

Motion by leave withdrawn.

NEW CONSTITUTION.

Mr. WENTWORTH moved that an address be presented to His Excellency the Governor-General praying that His Excellency will be pleased to recommend to this House the following schedule to be annexed to a Bill "to confer a Constitution on New South Wales; and to grant a Civil List to Her Majesty in lieu of the schedule A appended to 13 and 14 Vict., cap. 59, and as an equivalent for the surrender of all territorial, casual, and other revenues of the Crown from whatsoever source arising within this Colony." (The schedules will be found in the abstract of the Act in this day's issue). He made this motion simply to enable him to move that the Bills be read a first time. The schedules to the bill involved a money grant, and the provisions of their present Act required that the proposition of any money grant should proceed from the Governor. It was not his intention in any way to provoke discussion on the bills at this stage. Like any other matters of detail on the bill these schedules would be open to discussion when the House was in committee on the bill, and he must say he believed it would involve an absurd loss of time to discuss these schedules now. He would further say that he considered that no hon. member was pledged to any items of these schedules by voting for this address. He did not consider himself pledged to any of these items, but this was a preparatory step to bring them under discussion. This was the course he had adopted last session in bringing forward the Constitution Bills, and the same course would, he thought, be most convenient to the House on the present occasion, and he therefore simply begged to move the address.

Dr. DOUGLASS seconded the motion.

Mr. DARVALL thought the course proposed by the hon. and learned member was inconvenient and inexpedient, but he should not oppose it; at the same time he wished specially to guard himself from any assent to the schedules or their separate items.

Mr. COWPER thought the course proposed now, of avoiding any preliminary discussion, was the proper plan. At the same time he begged to say, in acceding to it, he was entirely at variance with the clauses in the bill relating to the constitution of the Upper House, and also with some items in the schedules.

The question was then put, and passed.

MAITLAND ROADS BILL.

The second reading of this bill was postponed till Friday next.

COURT OF REQUESTS TAXATION BILL.

The report of the Committee of the whole House on the Court of Requests Taxation Bill was adopted, and the third reading of the bill, ordered to stand an order of the day for Tuesday next.

WESLEYAN METHODIST TRUSTS BILL.

The Council went into Committee on this bill and the clauses were assented to, and the Chairman reported the bill, which was ordered to be read a third time on Tuesday next.

Council adjourned at a quarter to 5 o'clock till Tuesday next.

NOTICE OF MOTION.

Friday, August 5.

Mr. Bligh to move, That the Bathurst Copper Mining Company's Bill be now read a second time.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL ACTS.

The following is a brief abstract of the Acts framed by the Select Committee of the Legislative Council for the constitution of the colony.

First, is an Act to confer a constitution on New South Wales, and to grant a civil list to her Majesty. The first clause provides for a double Legislative Assembly, to be called the Parliament of New South Wales; the Governor having the power to assent to laws relating to Imperial interests, subject to the disallowance of her Majesty. 2nd, that Bills, as recited, may be reserved for her Majesty's pleasure, viz.—1. Bills touching the allegiance of the inhabitants of this colony to her Majesty's Crown. 2. Bills touching the naturalization of aliens. 3. Bills relating to treaties between the Crown and any foreign power. 4. Bills relating to political intercourse and communications between this colony and any officer of a foreign power or dependency. 5. Bills relating to the employment, command, and discipline of her Majesty's sea and land forces within this colony, and whatever relates to the defence of the colony from foreign aggression, including the command of the municipal militia and marine. 6. Bills relating to the crime of high treason. 3rd. That the Governor's right to disallow Bills be subject to question, and reserved for the decision of the Privy Council; and all such Bills to be in abeyance pending such decision. 4th. Power to vest in her Majesty of appointing Legislative Councils, provided that no minister of religion or judge of the Supreme Court shall be eligible. 5th. Hereditary titles may have a seat awarded to them for life in the Legislative Council. 6th. When the holders of such hereditary titles amount in number to fifty or upwards, the present Legislative Council to cease, and a Council composed of Patentees for life, and of a certain number of elected persons holding such titles, to be thenceforward the Legislative Council. The 7th clause makes the holding of the appointments to the Legislative Council good for life, subject to subsequent provisions of this Act—namely, vacation of seat by absence, or by resignation of allegiance, or insolvency. Clause 10 is a purely technical clause, relating to the trial of questions of vacancy, &c. 11 regulates the election of President of the Council, and enacts that he may take part in their debates. The next clause of importance is the 14th clause, regarding the qualification of electors. A clear estate of £100, or a householder holding property to the amount of £10 in value, annually, or holding a license for depasturing cattle or sheep to the value of £10, or any man having a salary of £100 a year, or paying for his board and lodging £40 a year, or for his lodging only £10 a year, after occupancy of six calendar months, may vote. Clause 15. Provides for joint owners in the usual way. Clause 16. Provides for the division of the colony into electoral districts, leaving the present Act as it stands, except that the electoral districts of East Camden and West Camden shall each return two members instead of one member to serve in the said Legislative Assembly; the electoral districts of the united counties of Cook and Westmoreland, and of Murray and Saint Vincent, and of Roxburgh and Wellington, shall each return two members instead of one member; the county of Cumberland shall be divided into two Ridings, to be called the North and South Ridings, the boundary of which shall be the waters of Port Jackson up to George-street North as far as Dawes' Point, thence from the western boundary of the city of Sydney along the public road leading from Sydney to the punt at Emu Ferry, and each of the said Ridings shall return two members; the united counties of Northumberland and Hunter shall return three members instead of two; the County of Durham shall return three members instead of two; the City of Sydney shall return four members instead of three; the Sydney Hamlets, the Town of Parramatta, the Northumberland Boroughs, and the Stanley Boroughs, shall each return two members instead of one member; the Electoral Districts of the Pastoral Districts of the Murrumbidgee, of the Lachlan and Lower Darling, of Liverpool Plains and the Gwydir, and of New England and the McLeay, shall each return two members instead of one member to serve in the said Legislative Assembly as aforesaid. The 17th clause gives power to alter the system of representation. 18th. Any person, absolutely free, qualified and registered as a voter in and for any electoral district, to be qualified to be elected a member. Clause 19th. Any person holding any office of profit, or having a pension from the Crown during pleasure, or for term of years, shall be incapable of being elected, or of sitting or voting as an elected Member of the Assembly in any Assembly which may be hereafter convoked and holden, unless he be an official member of the Government for the time being, holding one of the following offices: Colonial Secretary, Colonial Treasurer, Collector of Customs, Auditor-General, Postmaster-General, Attorney-General, Solicitor-General, Inspector-General of Police, Surveyor-General, and Chief Commissioner of Crown Lands. Clause 20. The acceptance of office of profit or pension to create vacancy, except in the cases of naval and military officers, and of promotion in the case of civil executive officers. Clause 21. Disqualification of ministers of religion of all denominations. Clause 22. Disqualifying contractors and persons interested in contracts from being members, exempting members of incorporated companies of more than 20 in number. Clause 23. Elections of disqualified persons to be void; and persons so disqualified sitting or voting to be liable to a penalty of £500. Clause 24. Governor to fix time and place for holding the Parliament. Clause 25. Sessions to be held annually, and the Parliament to continue five years, subject at all times to prorogation or dissolution by the Governor. 26. The first Parliament to be called together at some period not later than six months after the proclamation of the Act. 27. The members of the Legislative Assembly to elect their own Speaker, and to have power to remove him and re-elect another; such Speaker always to preside at meetings of the Assembly. 28. The presence of at least 20 members, exclusive of the Speaker, necessary to constitute a meeting of the Council, and the Speaker to have on all questions a casting vote. 29. Failure to elect members in any district not to make incomplete the Legislative Assembly, or prevent a competent quorum from acting. Clause 30. No member to sit or vote until he has taken the prescribed oath of allegiance. Clause 31. Affirmations instead of oaths to be taken in some cases. Clause 32. Members to have right to resign seats. Clause 33. Members absenting themselves for one whole session, or making oath of or declaration of allegiance, &c., to foreign power, or doing any act to entitle him to the privilege of citizenship in foreign states, or becoming bankrupt, or insolvent, or public defaulters, or who may be attainted of treason, or convicted of felony or any infamous crime, to vacate their seats. Clause 34. In case of such vacancies, Speaker to issue a writ for a new election, either in or out of session. Clause 35. The Legislative Council and Assembly to establish rules and orders for orderly conduct, such rules and orders having received the assent of the Governor to have the force of law on members of the respective bodies. Clause 36. Governor may have power to transmit drafts of laws to either House. Clause 37. Every Bill which has been passed by the Legislative Council and Assembly, whether with or without amendments, shall be presented for Her Majesty's assent to the Governor of the said colony, and the Governor in all Bills relating to the local or municipal affairs of the said colony shall declare at once according to his discretion that he assents to such Bill in Her Majesty's name, or that he withholds Her Majesty's assent; and in all Bills touching or affecting any imperial subject, the Governor shall declare according to his discretion, but subject nevertheless to the provisions contained in this Act, and to such instructions as may from time to time be given in the behalf by her Majesty, her heirs, or successors, that he assents to such Bill in her Majesty's name, or that he withholds her Majesty's assent, or that he reserves such Bill for the signification of her Majesty's pleasure thereon. Clause 38. Disallowance of Bills assented to by the Governor by her Majesty, to make void such Bills from the date of such disallowance. Clause 39. No reserved Bill to have force until the Governor shall signify her Majesty's assent thereto. Clause 40. Power given to alter and repeal Acts, either respecting the nomination and election of another Legislative Council or of a separate Legislative House, provided that it shall not be lawful to present to the Governor of the said colony, for her Majesty's assent, any Bill of the Parliament of the said colony by which any such alteration in the constitution of the said colony may be made, unless the second and third reading of such Bill shall have been passed with the concurrence of two-thirds of the members for the time being of the said Legislative Council and of the said Legislative Assembly respectively: Provided also, that every Bill which shall be so passed for any of such purposes shall be reserved for the signification of her Majesty's pleasure thereon, and a copy of such Bill shall be laid before both Houses of the Imperial Parliament for the period of thirty days at least before her Majesty's pleasure thereon shall be signified. Clause 41. Governor to be guided in his assent to bills by the instructions of the Secretary of State in respect of bills affecting any imperial subjects. Such instructions, however, not to fetter the discretion of the Governor in giving or refusing Her Majesty's assent to bills of mere local or municipal concernment. Clause 43. Appointments to all public offices in the colony to be vested in the Governor. Clause 44. Judges continued in the enjoyment of their offices during good behaviour—notwithstanding any demise of the Crown. Clause 45. Judges to be removeable by the Crown on address of parliament. Clause 46. The salaries of the judges to be secured during the continuance of their commissions. Clause 46 All existing laws and statutes, except as repealed or varied in this Act, maintained. Clause 47. All courts of justice, commissioners, or officers preserved, except as far as they may be abolished, altered, or varied under this act Clause 48. Provisions heretofore made in respect to the continuance of temporary acts to hold good. Clause 49. Duties not to be levied on supplies for troops, nor any duties inconsistent with treaties with foreign powers. Clause 50. Customs duties may be imposed contrary to existing acts of parliament, provided such duties be not differential. Clause 51. For the purpose of this Act, the boundaries of the colony of New South Wales shall not be curtailed on the north within the twenty-sixth degree of south latitude, and they shall be on the south and the south-west a straight line drawn from Cape Howe to the nearest source of the River Murray, and thence by the course of that River to the eastern boundary of the colony of South Australia; on the east, the one hundred and sixty-second degree of east longitude; and on the west the one hundred and forty-first degree of east longitude, reckoning from the meridian of Greenich. Clause 52. Boundaries of the colony of New South Wales, Victoria, and South Australia, not to be altered without legislative sanction of the colony parting with its territory. Clause 53. Civil lists offered to Her Majesty. Clause 54. All duties and revenue funds collected in the colony to form a consolidated revenue fund for the public service of the colony. Clause 45 Such fund to be charged permanently with the expense of its collection Clause 56. A civil list of £63,000 to be payable out of the consolidated fund to her Majesty. Clause 57 gives power to the Governor to abolish offices in the second part of the schedule appended to the Act, and provides that accounts in detail of the expenditure under the schedules be laid before the Colonial Parliament within thirty days of the beginning of the session next after such expenditure shall be made. Clause 58 Civil list to be accepted by her Majesty in lieu of all territorial, casual, and other revenues of the Crown, including all royalties from whatsoever source arising within the said colony, and to the disposal of which the Crown may be entitled either absolutely or conditionally, or otherwise. Clause 59. Not more than £1550 to be payable at the same time as pensions for the Judges of the Supreme Court, and not more than £5900 to be payable in the whole by way of pension or retiring allowance of officers liable to removal from office on political grounds. Pensions shall be demandable by such Judges, to the amount of seven-tenths of their actual salaries, on permanent disability or infirmity, or after fifteen years' service in this colony: provided also, that the officers so liable to removal shall be the Attorney and Solicitor General, the Colonial Secretary, Colonial Treasurer, and Auditor General, and upon the removal from office of any of the present officers, they shall be entitled by way of pension or retiring allowance to the full amount of the salaries respectively received by them at the time of the passing of this Act: provided also, that if after the assignment of any such pension or retiring allowance, any of such judges or officers shall accept any new appointment under the Crown, then and in every such case the pension or retiring allowance of any judge or officer shall merge or be reduced pro tanto, according as the salary or emoluments of any such new appointment are of greater or less amount than the pension or retiring allowance of such judge or officer. Clause 60. Not more than £2,500 to be paid for pensions for superannuation other than those provided for specially. Such superannuation pensions to be regulated by the Superannuation Act, 4th and 5th William IV., cap. 24. Clause 61. Legislature empowered to make laws, regulating sale, and other disposal of waste lands. Clause 62. The consolidated revenue to be appropriated by Act of the Legislature—provided that debentures or any other charges on such consolidated revenue are not to be affected by such consolidation. Clause 63. No money vote or bill to be lawful unless recommended by the Governor. Clause 64. No part of the public revenue to be issued except on warrants from the Governor. Clause 65. Provisions of this Act to have no force until so much of 13 and 14 Vict., cap., 59, and so much also of 5 and 6 Vict., cap 36, and of 7 and 8 Vict., cap. 72; 7 and 8 Vict., cap. 74; 9 George IV., cap. 83; 9 and 10 Vict., cap. 110, as relates to this colony, and is repugnant to reserved bills, be repealed. This provision not to affect any previous contracts of Her Majesty respecting any such lands, nor any vested rights which have arisen under 9 and 10 Vict., cap. 104; nor any vested right or interest which has accrued under any Order of Council issued by Her Majesty in Council in pursuance thereof. Clause 66. The term Governor to mean the person for the time being lawfully administering the government of the colony of New South Wales. Clause 67. Act to be proclaimed one month after it be received by the Governor, and to take effect from day of proclamation. 68. The proclamations necessary in the Act to be published in the Government Gazette.

The second Act is an Act to authorise her Majesty to assent to a Bill of the Legislative Council of New South Wales, and to repeal so much and such parts of divers Acts of Parliament therein enumerated as relate to the colony of New South Wales, and as are repugnant to the said Bill. The first clause enacts that her Majesty be empowered to assent to the reserved Bill (the Act before abstracted). Clause 2. That if her Majesty do assent to such reserved Bill, so much and such parts of the Acts recited relating to New South Wales, and as are repugnant to the said reserved Bill, shall be repealed. Clause 3. The Act may be amended or suspended by any Act to be passed in this session of Parliament

GREAT DEMONSTRATION AT BENDIGO.

(From our Special Correspondent.)

Bendigo, July 18, 1853.

The movement in opposition to the gold license system is rapidly extending, and bids fair to be the most important association which has yet been formed on the Victoria gold fields. The agitators are daily gaining strength by the folly and suicidal policy of the Government. Not content with exacting the license fee by means of a (numerically) strong armed force, but they hunt up the gold digging community in the most obnoxious manner, making licensees of all those whom they come in contact with. The miners themselves are not alone the object of their wrath; but the storekeepers, many of whom are men of character and standing, and who have invariably been on the side of law and order, are insulted by the Government authorities without the least plea for such conduct. I write facts, and they can be relied on, as I am cautious in respect to giving credence to all I hear against Ruling Powers. I shall quote some instances illustrative of these matters which come under my notice.

Mr. Mewin's cook was on his way to the camp with the money and names of the parties in the establishment, for the purpose of getting the necessary licenses. Several attempts had been made, previous to the 4th (the day referred to), to obtain the licenses, but without effect, in consequence of the pressure at the commissioner's tent. The cook was met by the police, and although on his way, as stated, which he made evident to the police by the production of the money and names, yet was he taken into custody and marched through the diggings. Passing Mr. Mewin's store, he was seen by his employer, who went out with the object of explaining matters to the officer in command; the storekeeper himself was then arrested, and both mulcted in the penalty, the magistrate convicting them in the most insulting language.

Mr. Simpson's case, of the Canadian warehouse, is another instance of over-stretched authority. He was asked by a common policeman, in a most abrupt manner, at the store door; the policeman insisted on seeing the license three times, and on the third occasion followed Mr. Simpson into the sale room of Neal and Co. Stung by such insolence, the storekeeper, on the third application, said, "There it is, you beggar." He was immediately arrested, and fined £10. Another person was fined for calling a policeman "Joe-ey." Mr. Foster, the magistrate, enquired of the accused "Are you a Yankee?" The reply was in the negative. Because, says the very judicious J.P., "if I knew you to be a Yankee I would fine you £60, under the Riot Act." A very respectable person, namely the Paymaster of the 2nd Foot Guards, was fined for the non-production of his license, and brought before a Vandemonian convict in the detective force to be identified, under the idea, as alleged, that he was an escaped convict.

A mounted trooper last week cut at a man's tent, wherein he had rushed, upon seeing the advance of the armed force, in order to secure his license. While the constable was thus amusing himself, the man came out of his tent, and the sword caught him on the forehead and wounded him. This occurred in the rear of my tent.

These are only a few specimens of the doings of the police at Bendigo. They are of every day occurrence, and they are only a portion of the system which the gold digging community is now determined to break down.

The final demonstration against the license tax took place on Saturday, at View Point, Bendigo, just opposite the camp. The number present were variously estimated at from ten to fifteen thousand. My opinion is that there were full 10,000.

Mr. Jones was voted to the chair, and commenced by stating the pleasure that any man, however high in station, must feel in filling the office he then occupied. That meeting was the largest he had ever witnessed, as, although he had seen demonstrations in the sister colony got up to destroy the hydra head of convictism, yet he doubted whether the largest of them ever equalled in point of numbers one half of the present meeting. He wished he had a voice of thunder that all might hear. He rapidly sketched the condition of the colonies before and after the period of the gold discovery, and called attention to the harbours of Port Jackson and Victoria; the colonial waters now swarmed with the shipping of all nations. Before the year 1851 the arrival of a ship a day was considered something, now eight or ten ships of the largest class come to Melbourne in one day. He referred to the revenue of the colony, which had increased tenfold since the gold fields came to light. The merchants of these colonies were, up to the year 1851, but little known; now they take their rank among the merchant princes of the world, and the storekeepers are becoming millionaires. The squatter, too, found he was no loser, but, on the contrary, had grown rich with the other classes of the community. The gold had not only done this, but it had broken the last link of convictism. But, in return for this what was the conduct of the Government towards the very men who wrought this wonderful change? Why, it first taxed them five times as heavily as did the home Government tax the people in England—even in one item (that tax they had met to destroy) the gold digger paid £18 per annum, the tax in England being between £3 and £4 per annum each adult. He then compared the shadow of a government which we had in Victoria with the home Government, with its matchless fleet, able to compete with the world in arms, and her military in every part of the world. Look at the roads in England and these in Victoria, and then look at the Post Office department—compare the police at home with the specimens we have of that body in this colony. In England, the police were really a protection to the people; in Victoria, their highest aim seemed to be to oppress them.—The speaker then alluded to the conduct of the police at Bendigo, to the storekeepers during the current month. He could relate some particulars, but would not detain the meeting. (Loud cries of "Let's have them.") The speaker then stated that several of the injured parties were present, and it would be better perhaps to hear the evidence from them, to which the meeting assented. The speaker continued: If the conduct of the police was felt by the storekeepers, who could easily pay the fines inflicted on them, how was it with the diggers? Many hundreds of them were in this colony penniless and unprotected, and if fined for non-possession of their license, how fared they? (Loud cries of "chained to logs, or sent to the roads.") The State ought not to exact a greater power in respect to the debtor than the private creditor. Why should the Government treat men as criminals because they could not pay 30s. (Shame! shame!) He then alluded to the immense and almost irresponsible power given to the Commissioners, which power was too often abused. Among the Commissioners were men of great merit, and worthy of the esteem of the people, but there were others also selected for the office who were totally unfit for it. Young and inexperienced, they seemed to treat the gold digger as an untameable animal, who ought to be chained. If these things were local only, we might fancy that the evil was only partial, but look at all the gold fields; look at the Ovens, the scene of the exploits of General Myers, at the head of four men. (Great laughter.) "Cock your muskets, surround the whole party, and take them into custody," said that distinguished individual; and then his retreat before the enraged diggers, after being the principal cause of the death of one of them, then his retreat to Melbourne, and finally his disappearance altogether, perhaps to reappear at some future day in some other locality.—(Great cheering.) Now turn to Mount Korong, where it was publicly asserted that a man died, chained to one of these logs, exposed to a tropical sun by day, and the parching dews of night in these wild regions. Then we come to Forest Creek, where the government had been pulling down the people's houses, and afterwards rebuilding them, paying the sufferers for their losses. Coming near home to Bendigo, what could be said of Bendigo? Oh! Bendigo, Bendigo!—(Cheering and laughter.) The whole management of the gold fields was radically bad. Dismissing one man here, and another there, would not do; the whole system was bad (great cheering); the gold digger must be treated as the rest of the community, and assessed fairly and equitably. Could the diggers generally pay the 30s. tax? (Loud cries of no, no.) He could not. From his (the speaker's) own experience, there was great distress on the gold fields; many found a nameless grave. The speaker then stated, to redress these grievances they had met peacefully and loyally, like Englishmen claiming the privileges of their constitution, to cut out what was bad, and to retain what was good. The government treated the gold digging community like slaves, which was the surest way of making them rebels. They would rely on moral force; as for fighting, that was out of the question, there was nothing to fight against. Let the government do justice to the digger speedily. The Anti-Gold License Society would do its best to carry out their objects—too much must not be expected from them. They could not advise the people not to pay the license fee next month, the time was too short to expect the Government could frame a measure in; but he spoke the voice of the society when he told them that he hoped the next month would be the last 30s. license the gold diggers of Victoria would ever be called upon to pay. (The speaker concluded amidst general applause.)

Mr. George Thompson and Captain Brown, the two delegates, were then introduced to the meeting. They detailed in forcible language the feelings of the gold diggers at the M'Ivor and Forest Creek, at which places committees were formed to co-operate with the society at Bendigo. Mr. Thompson, in a speech of great power, drew the line between physical and moral force. He shewed that physical force was only justifiable when every other means had failed, as in the case of the American Revolution. He thought that the Government would accede to the petition; at all events give them a trial; if they did not, then it would be necessary to determine what was to be done. Captain Brown followed in the same strain; his remarks were full of wit, and seemed to be greedily devoured by the large assembly. Several other gentlemen addressed the meeting in favour of the movement, after which the Chairman read the petition, which was put to the meeting, and carried with "three times three." About a thousand signatures were added to the petition, and upwards of £50 collected on the spot.

The meeting was over at nightfall, and I never saw a larger or better conducted assembly, clearly showing that the gold diggers as a class are worthy of the greatest consideration from the Government; but they also declared unmistakably that if justice was not done them they would take it.

The Chairman of the Association, Mr. Thompson, and Captain Brown, expect to leave for Melbourne on Wednesday; they are three delegates appointed by the society; the peace of the gold fields will greatly depend upon the success of their mission.

Sunday Evening.—News has just arrived of the recall of Mr. La Trobe; the news came by the Argus—it flew like wildfire through the Bendigo, and one general feeling of satisfaction seems to prevail in this respect.

A policeman shot at a man in Golden Gully this week. The case was brought before the Commissioner; the constable declared that he fired in the air, and the affair was dismissed in consequence. Nice times! very nice times these!

We have the usual amount of sticking up, and the police are very active in discovering the perpetrators.

PARRAMATTA.

Better late than Never.—Year after year have we called the attention of our leading men to the crying nuisance to which we have been subjected for years gone by in that of all other nuisances, namely, the slaughter-houses which are placed in the centre of our rural town. Several cases of fever were discovered in the neighbourhood, and by the doctors were ordered to be removed from Phillip-street. But now we are beginning to make a move in the right quarter, and to some effect. C. W. Finch, Esq., M.C., (who, with his numerous and respected family, has resided amongst us for some time), has been led to take the matter in hand; that gentleman has made the necessary preliminaries for a public meeting, which will take place in the Court House on the evening of Friday, the 5th August, for the purpose of petitioning the Executive to extend to us the provisions of the Act of Council 14 Victoria, No. 30, in which case our justices will have the power to abate the nuisance, and thereby to a great extent purify our healthy town.

The Water Works.—This question of questions, which has caused so much division and contention, is as much as ever the source of perplexity to a large portion of our inhabitants. The people's committee has been again called together, and a full meeting took place last evening, for the purpose of making arrangements for a monster meeting, to be held in the long room of the Odd Fellows Hotel, of which due notice will be given by advertisement. A petition is to be got up to the Governor-General, strongly, but respectfully, protesting against the expenditure of the money granted being spent on the salt beds of the Domain, in preference to the generally approved locality in the North Rocks, and which latter place has been condemned by a late motion of Mr. Forbes, who has lately been added to the Committee by the Governor-General, with the object, no doubt, of coming to some arrangement for the carrying out the work, but which has, doubtless, in the estimation of the majority of the inhabitants of the district as well as the town, created great dissatisfaction. Some of the best informed men in the community are of opinion, and we believe it will be noticed at the public meeting, that if His Excellency the Governor-General, seeing he has appointed the present Water Committee, would allow the people to select an equal number from amongst themselves, so that upon the broad constitutional principle of representation the people could have their representatives to sit with the Government nominees, that the thing would give satisfaction, and the business would be brought to an issue by the work at once proceeding.

Roofing for Houses.—It is a matter of no trifling consideration with us to find out what is best to be done for covering our dwellings and other buildings. The majority of our buildings are now requiring, not to be repaired, but actually to be renewed. It is impossible to get either slates or shingles, and the only alternative is to wait in hopes that our merchants will import a sufficient quantity of galvanised iron. We are indebted to Colonel Macarthur for setting us an example in the beautiful specimen of iron roofing, that gentleman having covered his handsome cottage at his Parramatta residence with the above-named material, which really looks handsome, clean, and durable. We speak advisedly when we say that unless our merchants do something on an extensive scale to meet our wants, we shall be by next winter in rather a queer predicament.

Proclamation.—In case small-pox or other disease were to break out amongst us, an order would no doubt be issued for cleansing and limewashing the houses of the poor, prisons, hospitals, emigrants' barracks, &c.; and it would quickly be discovered that not a peck of lime can be purchased in this place. This is indeed a serious consideration, and nothing is more conducive to health than white-washing. Since the death of Mr. Henry Ellison our supply has ceased; but we would throw out the hint, as well for private speculators as for the public benefit, that money is to be made by this business, and hope that, as spring approaches, the river flats will again be visited by numerous shell boats.

ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

Gentlemen,—Finding that certain petitions that have appeared in the People's Advocate relating to the Nugget Company's claims have been erroneously attributed to me, I beg to disclaim whatever merit may attach to them. I was not the promoter of those petitions,—but it is no more than common justice that the rights of companies as well as individual gold diggers should be ascertained and defined, which I believe is all that is sought by the petitioners, except as regards the Commissioner of the district.

I am, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
W. P. WILSHIRE.

Louisa Creek.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

Gentlemen,—Do you consider that a person travelling through a gold field to purchase gold is a trader in the contemplation of the Act, and bound to furnish himself with a license? The gold he purchases has already been taxed through the finder. Why should another be taxed to whom it is only transferred? Is this also commissioner-law?

I am, gentlemen, &c.,

THE FUTURE OF AUSTRALIA AND AMERICA.

No. 2.

The last paper on this subject defined the position of this country and America in relation to Great Britain—regarded the affinity of the three powers—quoted a sentence of truth, beauty, and importance, from the American President's address—adopted that language as the expression of our own sentiments—and briefly enforced the duties arising from the views then taken.

In proceeding with the subject let us bring to bear upon our minds a fuller view of our position, and of the great future; and we shall perceive that Australia and America ought to co-operate, now and in that future, for the advantage of both nations, and for the good of humanity at large. And in pondering the matter, we shall see it well to adopt other of the President's sentiments, uttered in an enlarged and prophetic spirit—at the same time that we do not forget our connexion with Great Britain, or ignore her claims.

But before going into the general subject let us dwell a moment upon, and seek to remove any feeling of jealousy which may exist. Our American brethren are now coming to our coasts; their vessels are in our harbours, their merchants in our streets. Their numbers are limited at present, but they are evidently seeking to do business here, and to establish an international trade. Now will it be wise to regard them with a jealous eye? Doubtless, no. Should we not give them a cordial welcome, and cultivate the friendship of our brother Jonathan? Will it not be politic and proper thus to act? Doubtless it will. It is not in the nature of things that fair competition should take away our fortunes or impede our commerce. There is room enough for all, and then to spare. If America exports supplies of necessaries here, either in the shape of food or merchandise, will not the community be the better for them? Shall we not be enabled to obtain many of those necessaries or comforts of which we are debarred at present? The answer must be in the affirmative. If the community at large derive advantage, the few will surely not object on private grounds. At the same time, as with individuals so with nations, there must be a reciprocity of benefit, and unless such be the case no bargain can be made. At present we are much in the position of a man so busy that he has not time even to procure a meal, and therefore it is better that he should pay some one to supply him while he goes on earning money, than that he should go without food.

The writer, however, is not influenced by American feelings, or a desire to advocate American trade, but he simply feels it necessary to the great end of our national existence that all jealousy should be removed, and that amity and confidence should be established to the fullest extent.

The idea then to be worked out in action is this. That Australia and America, having the same origin, an identity of national perentage—coming into existence as nations circumstantially from the same causes—having much the same ingredients in their national composition, have now the like great destinies to work out, nationally and for the human family. And that in so doing they should be governed by the same high principles—the same national policy—the same lofty purposes, and should co-operate as brethren and allies in the great work which lies before them; for although "their past is limited, their future is boundless, and its obligations throng the unexplored pathway of advancement."

Let us look a little on the past and present, and then extend our vision, as far as the short sight of humanity allows, into the dim future. Australia and America are "great facts," unrivalled in the world's history; and in relation to ourselves it is important to feel (as does our brother of America in relation to that country) that "of the complicated European systems of national polity we have heretofore been independent. From their wars, their tumults, and anxieties, we have been happily almost utterly exempt. Whilst these are confined to the nations which gave them existence, and within their legitimate jurisdiction, they cannot affect us, except as they appeal to our sympathies in the cause of human freedom, and universal advancement. But the vast interests of commerce are common to all mankind, and the advantages of trade and international intercourse, must always present a noble field for the moral influence of a great people."

America as a nation has existed little more than sixty years; as a colony, we have existed about the same period. The fields of America have been irrigated by the blood of her sons (from such sad incident our history has been exempt), but otherwise our stories are not much unlike. There was the convict element in both cases; and then came the wise and the good, and the hard worked artizan, and the toiling farmer and the man with many children and much faith, and the man of intellect and cultivated mind, and the pushing man of business; and they gradually mingled with the throng, and formed our populations. And (except that America has had some German blood infused), all those vital ingredients were in both cases derived principally from our joint parent land—Great Britain. And so the work went on bravely, and men toiled and laboured; and the stroke of the same vigorous axe resounded on both shores; and the primeval forest lessened at each stroke, and in both lands the rude hut made way for the substantial dwelling; and erst the noble mansion and the busy street sprang up; and now the wretched aborigines recede further and and still further, and then die away; and the pioneer has gone out in the south, as well as in the west, and has "prepared a way in the wilderness." And here, on the spot where 60 years ago scarce a sound was heard, but of the rustling leaf or the frightened kangaroo, machinery moves its hundred arms, and the steam power shrieks in exultation as it labours for man's good. And America now has her gold fields, and we have ours. And we are brothers.

Yes; we were both cradled in the same lusty father-arms, those arms which centuries before had wrought out liberty from serfdom and feudality, and dashed to pieces, like brittle glass, or potters' ware, the tyrant's sceptre and the priestly thrall. We breathed together the atmosphere of progressive liberty and spiritual freedom; we inherited the like powerful will, the same power of endurance, perseverance, rectitude of principle, and moral courage. And thus in our birth and parentage we were each advanced before the other nations of the world. And America has had her Washington and we our Bourke.

And for what purpose? SAXON.

ARMY.—GENERAL ORDER.

(From Yesterday's Government Gazette.)

Head Quarters,
Sydney, July 25th, 1853.

By Major-General Sir Robert Nickle, K.H.
General Order, 74.

Pursuant to the gracious nomination of Her Majesty the Queen, Sir Robert Nickle, K.H., assumes the command of the troops in this portion of Her Majesty's dominions, as Major-General on the Staff, and in consequence of the assurances of his experienced predecessor in this command as to the prevailing good and soldier-like conduct of the troops, he enters upon his duties with the utmost satisfaction and confidence.

The Major-General is pleased to appoint Lieutenant William T. F. A. Wallace, Grenadier Guards, to be his Assistant Military Secretary, and Captain Henry John King, 3rd Foot, to be his Aide-de-camp.

(Signed) E. Macarthur, D.A.G.

Engraving.—We have seen a very creditable specimen of engraving in a portrait of Mr. Hargraves, from a daguerreotype by Hart. The artist is Mr. Sadd, a gentleman recently arrived from America. Mr. Sadd has with him some engraved portraits of leading men in America, which show that he has considerable skill in his profession.

Police.—His Excellency the Governor-General has appointed Mr. Henry Vansittart Stonhouse to be Clerk of Petty Sessions at Maryborough, Wide Bay.

Arms Act.—His Excellency the Governor-General has been pleased to declare that the town of Brisbane shall come under the operation of the 2nd section of the Act of Council 16th Victoria No. 27, regulating the carrying of firearms and other offensive weapons.

Executive Council.—His Excellency the Governor-General directs it to be notified that Major-General Sir Robert Nickle, K.H., was this day (July 28) sworn in a member of the Executive Council, as senior officer in command of her Majesty's land forces in this territory, and took his seat at the Council accordingly.

Yesterday's Government Gazette.

Electoral Lists.—His Excellency the Governor-General has directed it to be notified that he has appointed the undermentioned gentlemen to assist in revising the electoral lists. Moruya—Messrs. Thomas Forster, John Hogue, and William Trueman Collett.

Inspector of Weights and Measures.—The Justices in Petty Sessions assembled at Orange have appointed Mr. George Weiley, District Constable, to be Inspector of Weights and Measures for the Police District of Orange.

Goulburn.—The Justices in Petty Sessions assembled for the district of Goulburn have appointed Mr. J. M'Alister, Chief Constable, to be Inspector of Weights and Measures for the district.

AT a Public Meeting, held in the Court House, on Tuesday last, for the purpose of taking into consideration the propriety of raising by subscription a reward to be paid on the discovery of the body of Mr. John Neville, of Bathurst, innkeeper, and, if it be found that Mr. Neville came to his death by the violence of others, the raising a further subscription to be paid to any person that can give such information as will lead to the apprehension and conviction of the offender or offenders, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:—

That, in consequence of the sudden disappearance of Mr. John Neville, it is feared that foul means have been employed to deprive him of existence; and this meeting is of opinion that some immediate measure should be adopted to stimulate individual exertion to ascertain the facts of the case.

That a subscription list be opened for the purpose of raising a fund from which a reward shall be offered for the discovery of the body of the said John Neville.

Resolved—That should it appear that the said John Neville has been murdered, a further reward shall be offered to any person giving such information as shall lead to the conviction of the offender or offenders.

At the conclusion of the meeting the accompanying subscription lists were opened for the purposes specified:—

We, the undersigned, hereby agree to subscribe and pay the amounts set opposite our respective names as a reward to such person or persons as may discover the body or remains of the late Mr. John Neville.

QUEANBEYAN.

Queanbeyan, July 25.

REVEREND AND DEAR SIR,—We, the undersigned Churchwardens of Christ Church, Queanbeyan, feel much pleasure, at the request of your parishioners of Queanbeyan, Bungendore, and Molongo, in presenting you with, and begging your acceptance of, a purse containing eighty sovereigns.

They wish to present this as an Easter offering, and as a mark of the esteem and regard they feel for you, when considering the faithful manner in which you have discharged your onerous and important duties amongst them during the last fifteen years.

While they regret that your long absence from the district, caused by severe indisposition, has prevented them the pleasure of earlier presenting you with this gift, they now rejoice in being able to congratulate you, on your return with renovated health.

That the Giver of all Good may long spare you to discharge the duties of your sacred office is the earnest prayer of your attached parishioners.

We remain, rev. and dear Sir,
Your obedient servants,
(Signed) W. F. HAYLEY,
W. C. ARMSTRONG,
W. HUNT,
Churchwardens.

The Rev. Edward Smith,
Parsonage, Queanbeyan.

Parsonage, Queanbeyan,
July 26th, 1853.

MY DEAR PARISHIONERS AND FRIENDS,

I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your kind letter, with the accompanying purse containing eighty sovereigns, as an Easter Offering, and for which I beg you will accept my best thanks. I hope I fully participate in the pleasure with which I doubt not in every instance these offerings, so entirely voluntary, have been received. Such acts of kindness can hardly fail materially to strengthen feelings of Christian kindness and affection between clergymen and their parishioners; and I firmly trust it will be so in the present instance.

Whilst I receive with unfeigned pleasure and satisfaction your congratulations on my return to you with renovated health, I would acknowledge God's goodness in having so far restored me and enabled me to resume my duties among you; and it is my earnest prayer that whatever portion of health and strength it may please God to give me, may be spent in promoting your spiritual welfare.

I thank you for your kind expressions of attachment and regard, and of your opinion that I have faithfully discharged my important duties. I hope I feel their importance, and can say with sincerity that it is the highest object of my ambition so to discharge my sacred duties that I may please God and satisfy the reasonable expectations of my parishioners.

I cannot refrain, on this occasion, from acknowledging the kindness which during the many years I have ministered among you, in weakness and much imperfection, I have uniformly experienced, and I pray to God that your present liberal gift, and former act of kindness, may be "fruit which may abound to your account."

I know of no feeling which should prevent me from confessing, and which, indeed, from the altered state of things in the colony, together with my late indisposition, must be evident, that, but for the kindness which you have now evinced, I should have been in difficulties; I therefore thank you for your kind consideration, and wishing you every blessing, temporal and spiritual,

I remain, my dear friends and parishioners,
Your faithful servant in the Gospel,
E. SMITH,
Incumbent of Christ's Church, Queanbeyan.

[ADVERTISEMENT.]

To Messrs. Sheppard and Alger, Agents for the Monumental City.

DEAR SIRS,—We have received from you a gold watch and chain recovered from the remains of our deeply lamented friend, the late Robert Mackenzie, Esq., of the firm of Mackinnon, Mackenzie, and Co., Calcutta, who was a cabin passenger, and lost in the wreck of the American screw steamer Monumental City, run on shore, in our opinion, through the gross and most culpable negligence of the master, and the equally gross and culpable ignorance and want of judgment on the part of the chief mate.

While we thank you for your courtesy and kindness in handing over to us (as the friends and business representatives of the late Mr. Mackenzie) this watch and chain, for which we hold ourselves responsible, we feel it our solemn duty to take this opportunity, both on private and public grounds, to express our earnest hope that foreign steamers and vessels of all kinds which take any share in our coasting trade shall, in the event of real or apparent mismanagement, whether from carelessness or design, be under the control of a judicious and carefully framed law, the provisions whereof shall bring the officers of all such steamers or vessels before a legal tribunal, who shall have the power to investigate and award punishment in every case where the lives and property of Her Majesty's subjects are lost or sacrificed through carelessness or wilfully.

Ere the sad and much talked of loss of the Monumental City be forgotten, we trust that the Legislature will not overlook this matter; and we feel sure that all representatives of foreign but friendly powers who have vessels trading on these coasts, and all agents, masters, or owners who may have come with them, will gladly see the promulgation of a law which shall take cognisance of, and protect from carelessness, recklessness, or design, leading to the destruction of life, cargo, and vessel.

God forbid that such another catastrophe should happen on our shores to appal us in the midst of our busy pursuits; but so long as carelessness and ignorance, with still more criminal propensities, are inherent in human nature, let us at least have laws to check and punish them.

Having been the agents for the lost steamer, and knowing that you are so connected with others, we deem it not out of place to make this acknowledgment and observations public; and we trust that you will not fail to point out to owners and masters of all foreign vessels, not only the propriety but the good policy and necessity for being placed upon the same footing and under the same laws as those which apply to vessels of our own.

Foreign consuls, merchants, agents, underwriters, and the public generally, have reason to see to this question, on many commercial as well as private interests therein involved.

We are, dear Sirs, yours, truly,
LINDSAY, MATHESON, & CO.

500,000 PERSONS CURED!!!
BY

DR. TOWNSEND'S UNITED STATES SARSAPARILA.—This may be considered the best general medicine now before the public. As a purifier of the blood, in spring and summer complaints, as well as all disorders arising from general derangement of the system, or an infection of the fluids, it has probably no superior. Thus, in scrofula, erysipelas, sore eyes, quinsey, sore throat, jaundice, asthma, eruptions of the skin, rheumatism, ulcer sores, syphilitic cases, salt rheum, piles, costiveness, and all bowel complaints, scald head, and all diseases arising from the injudicious use of mercury, general debility of the whole system; also, weak, sour, and irritable stomachs, dyspepsia, &c.; it is one of the most remarkable medicines in existence. It will cure the liver complaint, incipient consumption, and all affections of the lungs and liver quicker and more thoroughly than any remedy I know of. It sweeps out the whole train of coughs, colds, asthmatic and bronchial affections so completely and easily, that it astonishes and delights any person who uses it. In diseases of children, and as a general nursery medicine, it meets with unqualified success, and saves the lives of thousands. It is particularly applicable to female complaints, hence its value to married as well as unmarried ladies in all their peculiar diseases.

In all diseases of the skin, where Blotches, Pimples, Sores, and Acrid Eruptions develope themselves, this Sarsaparilla seems to be a perfect antidote.

This Medicine improves with age, and when a hundred years old will be better than now, and can never sour or spoil. It is an invaluable Fall and Spring medicine, preventing and removing Bilious diseases, Jaundice, Sour Stomach, Chills and Fevers, and Fevers of all kinds.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

Our railway is now occupying public attention, and there is some prospect of its being completed to Goulburn during the present century; there are some one to two hundred men employed on it—about as many as a private individual would put on half an acre of land—for its excavation. Since its commencement an immense deal of time has been wasted, and we are repeatedly told of five hundred men to arrive; but we want five thousand men constantly employed for the completion of an undertaking of such incalculable importance. The Government guarantee, five per cent. per annum on the paid up capital, is a first-rate investment in the existing state of our money market; shareholders have no object, therefore, in pushing the matter with the requisite degree of spirit. There are in the market some fifteen to twenty thousand tons of goods, either unsaleable or difficult of sale at fair paying rates. The loss on this immense quantity of merchandise, through the total want of internal communication, is not less to the owners than two hundred thousand pounds. The loss to importers during the twelve months, and to agriculturists, farmers, landed proprietors, &c., will far exceed one million, which arises solely through want of energy on the part of the sufferers themselves, and with every possible degree of uncertainty and discomfort in transacting business. The interior of this country could be made to produce, at a nominal cost, a vast quantity of grain, more than sufficient to support twenty such colonies; yet, through want of roads, the land is unoccupied, and we are paying 10s. and 10s. 6d. per bushel for wheat of New South Wales growth, and all farm and dairy produce are at equally extravagant rates, and thousands of persons at the present moment in distress or engaged in unremunerative employment. One of the richest countries in the world, owing to the want of means of internal transit, has to import butter, bacon, cheese, pork, potatoes, hay, wheat, flour, oats, &c., at most extravagant rates.

Spirits continue depressed in the mean time, though late importations have added little to our stocks. Our impression is there must be a reaction for certificates, although parcels to arrive or in harbour may continue unsaleable. Beer is being offered low. Sugars are firm, and better descriptions looked for. Salt is without alteration. Teas are not taken so freely as stocks would warrant; but the opening of our spring demand, and a better supply of teams, will make a great alteration in this market. Flour is firm at £25, and fine Launceston wheat would fetch 12s. per bushel, if not more. The demand is good for wines. Oilmen's stores, through being repeatedly forced off at auction, have declined in value. Drapery, ironmongery, &c., &c.—every article of merchandise has more or less felt the effects of the scarcity of teams, and extravagant rates of carriage. The depression was anticipated some time past, and we may, from the end of the ensuing month, look for a general reaction: in the mean time, to make quotations of prices which could be obtained by forced sales would only have the effect of destroying confidence in our market abroad, and misleading the community as to future operations.

R. HARNETT, Broker.

PRODUCE CIRCULARS.

The biddings were less spirited on Thursday than they were the week before, but prices ruled about the same, and the whole of the wools were sold.

Purchasers profess a diffidence in buying at present rates; there can be no doubt, however, taking all concurrent circumstances into account, that prices will go on improving.

Beef Tallow sold freely again, for South American shipment, at 37s. 6d. to 38s., and Mutton, for home consumption, 44s. to 45s.

Hides brought similar prices to last week.

Store Cattle are in great demand for Port Phillip, as also Cattle and stations, that on the Richmond selling at auction at £3 17s. 6d.; this, however, resulted from the carrying capabilities of the station being in excess of the number sold with it. The same property would not have commanded 30s. twelve months ago.

Fat Cattle are fetching £10 per head, owing to the flooded state of the roads, and beef is realising 9d. to 10d. per lb. This is of course only temporary, but it shows the entire dependance of the Sydney market upon the northern districts for its supply of fat stock.

Freights to London—Wool, ¼d to ¾d per lb.
Hi[illegible]s. to 25s. per ton
Tal[illegible]30s. to 35s. per ton.
Oil, £3 to £3 10s per tun
Gold, ½ per cent. by sailing vessels, ¾ per steamer.

Exchange on London.—Bank Drafts, 2 per cent. premium.

Private Bills (with produce hypothecated) par, if drawn against Tallow, Wool, or Gold.

Large quantities of produce have come to hand this week, which realised full rates.

Tallow.—The great demand for this article, both in the home trade and for exportation, has caused a further advance of fully £2 (two pounds) per ton.

Wool.—Good samples much sought after.

Hides—Enquiries at full rates.

Farm and Dairy Produce.—There is a slight reaction in favour of maize, oats, barley, bacon, and butter, and orders have again been received from Port Phillip, which will doubtless give an impetus to trade, and occasion an improvement in present prices.

SYDNEY MARKETS.—Friday.

The Mills.—Messrs. Barker and Co.: The only arrivals of wheat this week have been by the road, and that not to a great extent. Good samples fetch from 9s 6d to 10s per bushel. Price of flour remains at £25 for fine and £23 for second quality, per ton of 2,000 lbs. Bran 3s 6d per bushel.—Mr. Breillat: The increased price given for wheat has had the effect of bringing a considerable supply to market, which has readily been taken at 9s to 10s 6d per bushel. There is less excitement in the flour trade, the demand during the week having been of a steady nature, and mostly confined to the bakers. The price at these mills continues at £23 per ton of 2000 lbs. for fine, and £21 for seconds. Bran 3s. per bushel.—Messrs. Furlong and Kennedy: We have no alteration to quote. Best samples of wheat sell readily at 10s to 10s 6d per bushel, which prices have induced a rather better supply than has been the case for some weeks previously. Fine flour remains at £23, and seconds at £21 per ton. Bran 3s per bushel.—Messrs. J. and H. Hayes (Albion Mills): Fine flour remains firm at last week's quotations, £25 per ton, seconds £23. Bran 3s 6d per bushel. We have had several loads of country wheat come to market, best samples 10s 6d to 10s 9d.

Bread.—The bakers are now charging 7d for the 2 lb loaf.

Biscuit.—Mr. Willie's prices remain as last quoted, namely, for cabin 3?s, pilot 30s, and ship 20s per cwt.; meat biscuit 20s per tin of 30 lb.

Campbell-street Market.—A rather good supply of hay and straw arrived, and went off briskly: the former at from £16 to £20, and the latter at from £5 10s to £6 10s per ton. Green food is scarce, and is worth from 1s to 1s 6d per dozen bundles. Yesterday and to day's arrivals of wheat are to the extent of nearly 40 loads, realising from 10s to 10s 6d per bushel. Maize is scarce, at 8s 6d. Two loads of bark were sold—one at £8, and the other at £8 10s per ton.

George-street Markets.—Fowls 4s, ducks 6s, geese 10s to 12s, turkeys 12s to 20s, pigeons 1s 6d to 2s, wild ducks 4s to 6s 6d per couple. Butter 2s to 2s 2d, cheese 7d to 8d, bacon and hams 7d to 7½d, lard 4d to 5d per lb. Eggs 1s to 1s 3d per dozen. Potatoes 10s to 14s, onions 50s to 60s per cwt. Cabbages 4s to 9s, cauliflowers 4s to 8s, lettuces 1s to 1s 6d, turnips 2s to 3s, celery 6s to 9s, leeks 1s to 1s 6d, parsnips 2s 6d to 3s, carrots 3s to 4s, pumpkins 4s to 10s per dozen or dozen bundles as the case may be. Oranges 6d to 1s, lemons 6d to 9d, pears 8s to 12s, apples 3s. Rio fruit pumpkins 8s to 12s, bananas 1s 6d to 2s per dozen. Beef 3d to 5d, mutton 3d to 4d, veal 8d to 10d, pork 8d to 10d per lb, lamb 5d per quarter.

Stock for Slaughter.—The late heavy rains, having greatly increased the difficulty of collecting stock on the runs, as well as having both stopped the fords, and made the roads themselves all but impassable, have caused a considerable advance of prices for stock, the drivers of which have succeeded in bringing them to market. The following are the principal sales of which we have been able to learn the particulars: Of horned cattle, Mr. M'Intyre sold 96 head to Messrs. Argent and Merritt, at £3 per head; Mr. Hoskinson sold 100 at £5 10s. to Messrs. Neale and Davis; Mr. Onus sold 110 at £6 17s. 6d. to Messrs. Merritt, Raper and York; Mr. Reardon sold 70 at £4 15s. to Messrs. New and Sullivan; and Mr. Dempsey sold 140 at £7 to Messrs Ryan, York, and Co. Of sheep, Messrs. Peisley and Merritt purchased of Mr. Russell 1300, at 7s. per head; and Messrs. Neale and Sullivan purchased of Mr. Brown 1160 at 9s. per head. Calves are scarce, and fetch from 25s. to 35s. each. Pigs realise 6½d. per lb.—The slaughtering butchers sell carcasses of beef and mutton at from 2d. to 3d. per lb., according to quality.

Horses.—Mr. Burt (of Stewart's Horse Bazaar) reports the horse market to be exceedingly brisk. The week's sales have shown an unprecedented demand for all sorts of well broken horses. Prices have also ruled extremely high, particularly for young well-conditioned well broken, draught horses. Strong roadsters and gig horses are much wanted, and sell readily at good prices, if suitable for immediate use. Draught stallions are in great demand. The prices during the week have been for heavy draught, £40 to £70; light ditto, £17 to £28; first class saddle and gig, £25 to £50; ordinary horses, £10 to £20.—Mr. Martyn reports that the demand for good and well broken stock still continues, especially good carriage and gig horses. The demand for the Melbourne market of heavy draught has received a slight check, the high state of the rivers in the interior having prevented several drafts reaching the southern market. Heavy draught from £60 to £77, light ditto £25 to £45. Good pairs of carriage horses, much enquired for, none for sale. First rate hacks up to 14 stone, from £30 to £45; gig ditto, £25 to £40.—Mr. S. Wooller, of the Bull's Head Horse Repository, George-street, reports that he has sold during the week 135 head of horse stock, at prices ranging from £6 to £55, viz.,—heavy draught horses from £32 to £55, light ditto from £25 to £35, gig and carriage horses from £20 to £40, good hacks from £15 to £30, inferior ditto from £6 upwards. Good draught horses are much enquired for, but the supply is not equal to the demand.—At a sale of horses held by Mr. Ryan, at Penrith, on Thursday, the following prices were realised:—1 at £26, 1 at £17, 1 at £13 5s., 1 at £26 10s., 1 at £12 15s., 1 at £5 10s., 1 at £7 10s., 1 at £13 10s., 1 at £5, 1 at £13, 1 at £12 10s. The above were a light description of stock, adapted for gig and saddle.

Colonial Produce.—The following colonial produce has been received coastwise during the week: 210 bushels 206 bags maize, 276 bags grain, 368 bushels wheat, 6 bags barley, 6 tons 238 trusses hay, 1 ton 160 bags bran, 103 tons potatoes, 10 dozen pumpkins, 1 ton 215 kegs butter, 1 ton 41 cases 180 cheese, 35 cases eggs, 1 ton 42 sides 10 cases bacon, 76 quarters beef, 179 bales wool, 325 casks tallow, 421 hides, 155 bundles sheepskins, 66 coops fowls, 261 pigs, 20 horses, 30 kangaroos, 75 sheep, 5 calves, 125,590 feet timber, 12,800 laths, 20,000 shingles, 360 bushels shells, 671 tons coals.

The New Quarterly Review says, taking the cube yard of gold at £2,000,000, which it is in round numbers, all the gold in the world at this estimate might, if melted into ingots, be contained in a cellar twenty-four feet square and sixteen feet high. All our boasted wealth already obtained from California and Australia would go into an iron safe nine feet square and nine feet high.

HANKS AND LLOYD.
PRELIMINARY ANNOUNCEMENT.
Opening of the Australian Tea Mart and General Provision Establishment, George-street, opposite the Market.

MESSRS. J. HANKS AND WILLIAM LLOYD, having made arrangements for the opening, on an extensive scale, of a new TEA, GROCERY, AND GENERAL PROVISION WAREHOUSE, on the premises in George-street, opposite the Market, as recently occupied by Mr. Vickery, respectfully announce their intention to their friends and the public, and solicit a patronage it will always be their study to merit and extend.

Mr. Hanks having been engaged in this line of business for upwards of twenty years in Newport Market-square, Leicestershire, and Mr. William Lloyd having conducted a similar trade for some years past in Hobart Town, they feel every confidence in stating they will be able to afford the fullest satisfaction to their customers, not only in the unexceptionable quality of their stock, but in the prices they will be enabled to sell at, the great experience they have had, and the command of ample capital, affording them judgment and facilities for purchasing, which they believe cannot be excelled by any other house in the trade.

In drawing public attention to the opening of this establishment, the proprietors beg to state it is their intention to conduct it on principles that will merit the entire confidence of those with whose support they may be favoured. These principles will be Goods of unexceptionable quality only Lowest current market rates
Punctuality

ECONOMICAL Cabinet Museum of Miniature Sculpture in Fictile Ivory, made and published by Elkington and Co., Birmingham and London.

Fictile Ivory is a name given to a simple and economical composition, consisting chiefly of Plaster of Paris with Silica, and certain other matters capable of being moulded into the most delicate and beautiful forms, and which, by nice manipulation, is made to take the appearance of Ivory so exactly, that in many instances, where the article re-produced has been well chosen, it is difficult to distinguish the imitation. A variety of articles have already been manufactured in this material, comprising subjects in Alto Relievo, Busts, Statuettes, Cameos, and every description of carved work in Cups, Vases, &c., usually fabricated in real Ivory. These carvings are sufficiently hard to admit of being mounted in metal gilt parts; and the union of the gold with the Ivory-like composition is most charming.

The undersigned has received a variety of these celebrated manufactures, comprising many exquisite works of art, to an inspection of which they respectively invite the ladies and gentlemen of Sydney.

This is the first importation of Elkington's unrivalled productions.

AUSTRALASIAN BOARD OF MISSIONS.

AT a Public Meeting held in St. James's School Room, on Tuesday Evening, 20th July, 1853.

The Venerable Archdeacon Cowper, Chairman; and afterwards Captain P. P. King, R.N.

The Bishops of Newcastle and New Zealand having given an account of the recent Missionary voyage of their Lordships in the schooner Border Maid, it was unanimously resolved—"That this meeting desires to express its gratification and thankfulness at the interesting narrative of the Missionary Bishops, and at the same time to record its determination, in humble reliance on the Divine blessing, to supply by annual subscriptions the funds necessary for the prosecution of the mission."

W. COWPER, Chairman.
3402 P. P. KING, Chairman.

AUSTRALASIAN BOARD OF MISSIONS.

AS the Bishop of New Zealand is likely to sail for the Islands in the course of this week, it is particularly requested that contributions to the Northern Missions may be at once paid. Subscriptions and donations will be received at the Commercial Bank; or by the Rev. W. H. Walsh, and any of the Parochial Clergy, or by the undersigned.

RUSSELL'S HOTEL,
352, PITT STREET, SYDNEY.

GEORGE RUSSELL feels great pleasure in announcing to his friends and the public that his Hotel is now complete in all its departments, and that gentlemen arriving in the colony will find there every accommodation and comfort that is to be met with at a London Hotel. The selection of wines and spirits has been carefully made from the best brands, and will be found to be unrivalled.

This Hotel is situated in the most central part of Sydney, and offers advantages to all classes which are not to be met with at any other public establishment. No expense has been spared in the decorations of the suite of rooms, every arrangement having been made to combine elegance with comfort, and to render the whole unique. The Billiard Table is one of the best in Sydney, and the Bar arrangements will be found to give every satisfaction.

Private Dinners prepared under the superintendence of a professed cook. 3209

GEORGE TULLY, of the late firm of Mitchell and Tully, begs to express his thanks to friends on the Hunter and in the colony generally, also to the mercantile community, owners and masters of vessels trading to the port of Newcastle, for their kind patronage during his residence for the last twelve years in this city.

G. T. wishes to make it known to his old patrons that he, as Custom House agent, ship agent and broker, and general agent, will be at all times prepared with punctuality, civility, and despatch, to receive and execute any orders that he may be honoured with.

Brandy, rum, and gin supplied to shipping in bond.

Wine in wood and bottle, of best quality, to be had at the stores of

GEORGE TULLY.

A large and constant supply of oaten and lucerne hay and maize on hand.

WRIGHT AND HYATT'S ELLIPTIC ROTATORY ENGINE.

THE attention of Engineers, Railway Directors, Steamboat Proprietors, and others who are interested in the more extended adoption of steam power, is requested to the Elliptic Rotatory Engine and Steam Boiler, acknowledged by all who have seen them to be the greatest improvements of the age. The Engine cannot be better described than by the underneath descriptive extract, from the "Practical Mechanics' Journal," for December, 1852.

"The Elliptic Rotatory Engine is one of the most successful examples of the modern attempts to apply steam power directly to a revolving crank lever, so as to economise steam, lessen the weight, simplify the constructive details, and convey the power directly to its work. Such an engine is indeed practically equivalent to the causing the steam to lay hold of and actuate the crank or revolving shaft, just as the hand turns round a winch, without the intervention of joints, levers, and connecting rods.

Information will be given, and orders received for the above on application to

METALLIC BOOKS FOR EXPORTATION.

HENRY PENNY'S Indelible Metallic Paper Memorandum Books, adapted alike for Writing and Sketching.

The peculiarity of this article consists in the paper being so prepared, that with a metallic pencil, it forms a substitute for ink in the clearness and indelibility of the writing. For commercial purposes, and in every case where permanency of the writing is of consequence, these books will be found invaluable, as the friction of the leaves does not at all deface the writing.

Manufactured in three qualities, (oblong and upright shapes), and in a great variety of sizes and bindings, ruled or plain.

Export orders to any amount executed at one week's notice, and a liberal discount allowed.

TO LADIES.

ROWLAND'S KALYDOR, for the Skin and Complexion. Composed for the most part of Oriental balsamic exotics, to the utter exclusion of all mineral admixture; it operates as a thorough cleanser of the skin, by mild yet powerful and imperceptible influence; eradicates all cutaneous eruptions, Tan, Pimples, Spots, Redness, &c., removing Dark and Sallow Complexion, and realizing a healthy and Juvenile Bloom, rendering the skin delicately clear and soft, and irradiating with transparent whiteness the Neck, Hands, and Arms. Gentlemen, after shaving, will find it allay all irritation and tenderness of the skin, and render it soft, smooth, and pleasant.

Its purifying and refreshing properties have obtained its selection by QUEEN VICTORIA, and the several COURTS throughout Europe, together with the élite of the Aristocracy.—Price 4s. 6d. and 8s. 6d. per bottle.

CAUTION.—The words ROWLAND'S KALYDOR are on the wrapper of each bottle, and A. ROWLAND AND SON, 20, Hatton Garden, on the Government Stamp affixed on each. Sold by C. M. Penny, H. Mace, A. Foss, P. I, GEORGE WILLIAM GRAHAM, of East Bank, Woolloomooloo Bay, in the city of Sydney, in the colony of New South Wales, formerly serving under articles of clerkship to Robert Owen, of the said city, gentleman, one of the attorneys of her Majesty's Supreme Court of the said colony, and lately serving under assignment of such articles to James Naimby Shuttleworth, of the said city, gentleman, one other of the attorneys of the said Court, do hereby give notice that I intend, on the last day of the ensuing second term, to apply to the Supreme Court of New South Wales, to be admitted an Attorney, Solicitor, and Proctor thereof. Dated this ninth day of July, A.D. 1853.

1282 GEORGE W. GRAHAM.

NOTICE is hereby given that application is intended to be made to the Legislative Council of New South Wales, in the present session for leave to bring in a Bill to incorporate a Company to be called the "Australasian Coal Mining Company," for the purpose of working Coal Mines and Coal in New South Wales, and in other parts of Australasia, inclusive of New Zealand, and of purchasing and leasing Coal Mines, and Mineral Land containing Coal, and of selling Coal in the different parts of the Australasian Colonies, and of supplying or consigning Coal to China, India, the Cape of Good Hope, the Continent of North and South America, and the Islands of the Pacific, and elsewhere, for sale, and for doing all other things necessary for the full development and profitable extension of the Coal resources of New South Wales and of Her Majesty's other Australasian Colonies, and with power amongst other things to lay down and use and work with all necessary engines and carriages, and cattle, railroads, or tramroads, for the conveyance of the Coal of the Company, and also other goods and passengers, either on account of the Company, or for hire, and also to purchase or hire one or more steam-vessels, or other vessels, for the purpose of carrying the Coal of the Company.

And it is proposedt that the said Bill shall contain provision for regulating the capital of the Company, and the mode of subscription and increase thereof, the appointment, election, and authority of Directors, the powers of general meetings, the auditing of the accounts, the enrolment of the deed of settlement. Also, for empowering the Company to purchase, lease, and hold lands, and to borrow money under certain restrictions to be thereby provided: also, for limiting the liability of shareholders to a sum not exceeding twice the amount of their respective shares of subscribed capital; and for such other purposes as may be necessary or expedient for or in connexion with, the purposes aforesaid, or any of them.

Dated this 26th day of July, A.D. 1853.

HOLDEN AND M'CARTHY,
Solicitors for the Australasian Coal Mining Company. 3305

BALMAIN ESTATE.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the Attorneys of the Trustees of the above estate are prepared to entertain applications for purchase by private contract of any portion of the same.

SALES BY AUCTION.

WOOLLER'S HORSE REPOSITORY, George-street, opposite the Police Office. Established 1853,—under the new rules. No charge made at this Repository for putting up horses, &c., for sale by auction.

Mr. S. WOOLLER will sell by public auction, every Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday, at 11 o'clock each day.

N.B.—All horses, &c., sold, the owners can have their money immediately after the sale. 3437

MARTYN'S Horse and Carriage Bazaar, 240, Pitt-street. Regular Sale Days—Tuesdays and Fridays. All parties sending Horses or other Stock for sale, are particularly requested to send written instructions previous to sale, stating brands, age, qualifications, and if with or without reserve.

GREAT BRITAIN OMNIBUS, HORSES, AND HARNESS.

MR. MARTYN has received instructions from Mr. Perry of Penrith, to sell by auction, at the Horse and Carriage Bazaar, 240, Pitt-street, on TUESDAY, August 22nd, at 11 o'clock,

The Great Britain Omnibus, now running between Sydney and Parramatta, capable of carrying 24 passengers, eight good machiners, young, in good working condition, and all warranted stanch in collar, with two nearly new sets of four-horse harness.

N.B.—The proprietor parts with the above on account of having more miles of road than he can well attend to, but to any person with a small capital and strict attention to business, the Great Britain would be a small fortune in a very short time, especially with the expected increase of passengers and traffic which will take place during the spring and summer months. The present proprietor will assist with all the passengers that he can that arrive with his coach from Bathurst.

The above can be seen until Saturday next, on the road between Sydney and Parramatta.

PRELIMINARY NOTICE.

MR. A. POLACK has received instructions to sell by public auction, on an early day, of which due notice will be given,

All that substantially and well finished stone house and premises, with stables, garden, and well of excellent water, situated in Forbes-street, Woolloomooloo, between the premises of Messrs. Samuel and Bennett.

The land is 50 feet x 140 feet. The house occupies 17 feet, leaving frontage enough left whereon to erect two more first-class houses in the front, and 3 fronting the street at the back.

For further particulars apply to the auctioneer, at his temporary offices, Hunter-street. 3606

MOST IMPORTANT CITY PROPERTY, Situated in Pitt-street, O'Connell-street, and Hunter-street.

MR. A. POLACK has the honour to announce that he has for sale by auction, on an early day (if not previously sold by private contract), that very valuable piece of ground, situated at the immediate junction of Pitt-street, O'Connell-street, and Hunter-street, in the CITY OF SYDNEY.

Mr. Polack confidently appeals to all those who have a knowledge of Sydney to testify to the extreme importance of this site for building purposes. It possesses a frontage to three of the most important thoroughfares. Its proximity to the Custom House and to the proposed Exchange points it out as placed in the very heart of the business portion of the town. It is the only piece of ground to be purchased in the neighbourhood, and he is convinced must prove the site of a

FIRST-CLASS BUILDING, commensurate with the rapidly rising importance of this

METROPOLIS OF AUSTRALIA.

It has a frontage of 78 feet to Pitt-street,
" " 30 feet to Hunter-street, and 50 feet to O'Connell street.

For a Banking Establishment it is unrivalled, and Mr. Polack is convinced that, at no distant period, it will be worth 50 per cent. more than he is now empowered to accept for it.

The title is undisputed. 3609

FIVE ACRES AT WAVERLY.

MR. A. POLACK will sell by auction, at Russell's Long Room, Pitt-street, on MONDAY, the 1st August, at eleven o'clock, Five Acres of Land, situated at the rear of the properties of D. A. Commissary Brigden, Richard Peek, R. S. Ross, and — Graham, Esqrs., and a short distance from Waverley House, the residence of A. H. M'Culloch, Esq.

☞ Good alluvial ground, with a perpetual stream of water running through it, stamps this piece of ground as the very best spot in the Waverley district suitable for a market garden. Adjoining the property of Mr. Dickson, it has as well a commanding view of the ocean. It would be a first rate place as a residence for a merchant—every steamer and ship coming into the harbour being visible from the land.

Terms at sale.

For further particulars apply to the Auctioneer, Hunter-street.

TWO BRICK COTTAGES ON THE SURRY HILLS.

MR. A. POLACK has been instructed to sell by public auction, at Russell's Long Room, Pitt-street, on MONDAY, August 1st, at 11 o'clock,

Those two brick-built Cottages situated in Albert-place, Surry Hills, each containing three rooms, with a frontage of 22 feet 6 inches, and 69 feet deep, with a reserved lane. There is an excellent well of water. The number of applications for this snug property has induced the proprietor to place them for public competition.

Albert-place is situated a few yards from the property of Major Smyth, and immediately opposite the residence of Mr. Uther.

The plan can be seen at the auctioneer's, Hunter-street.

Terms at sale. 3608

FIFTY SHARES IN THE AUSTRALIAN JOINT STOCK BANK.

MR. A. POLACK will sell by auction, on MONDAY next, the 1st August, at Russell's Long Room, Pitt-street, at eleven o'clock, 50 Shares in the Australian Joint Stock Bank.

Terms, Cash. 5605

MR. A. POLACK will sell by auction, in the Long Room, at Russells Hotel, Pitt-street, on MONDAY, August 1st, at 11 o'clock precisely, 640 Acres of Land at Black Creek, Hunter River, in the parish of Stamford, county of Northumberland.

Grant by purchase, and described in the deed thus:—

SIX HUNDRED AND FORTY ACRES, in the county of Northumberland, commencing at a line west 117 chains from the northern extremity of the north boundary line of C. Fair's 640 acres grant, and bounded on the north by a west line of 80 chains; on the west by a south line of 80 chains; on the south by an east line of 80 chains; and on the east by a north line of 80 chains to the before described point of commencement, being the land which the said Clement Cairn Elrington was permitted to purchase without competition, &c.

To give some idea with regard to the value of this property, it may be mentioned that it was sold a short time after selection to one of the then best judges of land in the colony, for £1000; but in consequence of the present proprietor being about to leave the colony, the Auctioneer has received instructions to sell it on the above-named day, without the slightest reserve.

Terms will be announced at the time of sale.

TWO SMALL HOUSES, STRAWBERRY HILL.

MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, Pitt-street, on TUESDAY, 2nd August, at 11 o'clock,

Two small houses, in Wilton or John-street, Strawberry Hill.

These houses are built of stone, and contain two rooms each, one below and one above, and stand in a block of land 25 feet square. They can be occupied as one house or two, as may be required, and will command a rent of about 6s. per week each.

A good chance for a mechanic or person with small means wishing to be relieved from house rent. Terms at sale. 2540

6000 FIRST-CLASS SHEEP, With a Three-years' Lease of 1920 ACRES FREEHOLD LAND.

MR. MORT is instructed to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, Pitt-street, on WEDNESDAY, August 3, at 11 o'clock,

6000 FIRST-CLASS SHEEP, together with a three years' lease of 1920 acres Freehold Land, having the advantage of a run, held under the pre-emptive right of the said land, situated 40 miles from Goulburn, near the Crookwell, in the county of King.

THE SHEEP

are a general flock, consisting of the average number of each sex, from hoggets to aged; they are combining the advantages of big carcase and fine wool. The clip of last year realised in Sydney 18¾d. per lb.; being the highest price of the day.

LARGE AND FINE WOOLLED,

The sheep are now in fine condition, on their way from the Bland Country, and will be at the farm some time previous to the sale.

THE LAND

is well adapted for agricultural, grazing, and dairy purposes.

The Improvements comprise
A good Dwelling House Stable and Yard
Enclosed Garden, &c.
Two cleared paddocks for cultivation
Large grass paddock.

The House has been used for a Licensed Public House, and commanded a good business; and from its being situate on the main line of road from Goulburn to the Northern and Western countries, it would be a profitable speculation if it were again converted into which, from the great traffic now existing on that line of road, would be the means of the proprietor soon realizing a fortune.

☞ The above most valuable property presents to the sheep farmer, the agriculturist, or publican, an admirable opportunity to invest funds to great, even to unusual, advantage. It may be remarked that nothing can be said in detraction of either sheep or land.

Terms—One third cash; the residue by an approved endorsed bill at twelve months, with six per cent. interest added. 2038

ALLOTMENT IN THE TOWN OF WINDSOR. With Buildings erected thereon.

MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, Pitt street, on FRIDAY, the 5th August, at 11 o'clock,

An Allotment of Land in the Town of Windsor, containing eleven perches, more or less, with a frontage to Church-street, and adjoining the premises of Mr. John Primrose, Innkeeper.

On the land the following buildings are erected—

A BRICK-BUILT COTTAGE, A BRICK-BUILT BREWHOUSE,
And
A SLAB STORE, WITH A BRICK FLOOR.

A verandah runs along the front of the Brewhouse and Stores, and in the former there are from 4000 to 5000 good bricks, which were left when the plant was removed.

Title first-rate.

Windsor, like every other town in the neighbourhood of Sydney, has been filled to excess for some months past, and a good chance is now offered to any enterprising man to make a handsome profit by altering the above premises into comfortable dwelling-houses, which would let immediately upon good terms. Terms at sale. 3187

WOODLANDS FARM, 100 ACRES, Close to the Town of Liverpool.

MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms Pitt street, on FRIDAY, the 5th August,

A splendid FARM containing 100 ACRES, within a quarter of a mile of the Town of LIVERPOOL, known as Woodlands Farm. It is bounded by Cabramatta Creek on one side, and more than 50 acres are cleared and fit for cultivation.

On the farm is erected

containing six rooms, with back and front verandahs, and extensive basement accommodation.

The cottage cost the proprietor above £1000.

The whole is fenced in and subdivided into paddocks, and the water in the creek has never been known to fail.

The increasing demand for small farms warrants particular attention being called to this fine property, so immediately in the line of the Sydney Railroad. Its proximity to the township renders it valuable for a future extension, and if taken merely as an investment, the capitalist or speculator will be safe in securing this valuable property.

Plan on view at the rooms.

25 ONE HUNDRED ACRE FARMS. Near Merton and Muswellbrook, on the River Hunter.

MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, the 5th August, at 11 o'clock.

25 Farms, about 100 acres each, being portion of the Bengalla Estate, in the immediate neighbourhood of Muswellbrook, and surrounded by the townships of Murton, Wybong, Dartbrook, and Bengalla.

On one of the farms is a never failing well of water, testifying at once that water can always be procured, independent of the creeks which intersect the land in several directions.

The soil is good, and situation first-rate, being only 2½ miles distant from the high road leading to the northern gold diggings, consequently in the immediate neighbourhood of a local market.

The great demands for small farms warrant Mr. Mort calling attention to the eligible opportunity this sale offers of securing a small estate, surrounded by a large extent of Government land ensuring a run for stock. The attendance of capitalists, speculators, and farming men is requested at this sale.

Terms—One third cash; residue by approved bills at 3, 6, and 9 months, without interest.

Plan on view at the Rooms. 2351

BANK STREET, CHIPPENDALE.—TWO NEAT COTTAGES.

MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, Pitt-street, on TUESDAY, the 9th August, at 11 o'clock,

TWO STONE-BUILT COTTAGES,

Situate in Bank-street, Chippendale, with a frontage of 40 feet 4 inches to that street, by a depth of 58 feet.

The Cottages are substantially built of stone, and each contains 4 rooms, well finished in every respect, with yards in the rear, and

WELL OF GOOD WATER.

The yards are fenced in, and planted with fruit trees; and the Cottages are at present let to respectable tenants, at 17s. 6d. each per week.

Immediate possession can be given.

Mr. Mort begs to call the attention of speculators and mechanics in search of a home of their own to the compact property now offered for sale.

This property is situated about the centre of Bank-street, and either of them would pay well if converted into a shop, as the population is numerous and fast increasing.

If secured as an investment, a good return may be calculated upon, as each of the houses would let at 20s. a week.

Terms at sale. 3664

SMALL FARM, LANE COVE, Nearly 10 Acres.

MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, Pitt-street, on WEDNESDAY, the 3rd of August, at 11 o'clock,

A small FARM, or Orchard Ground, containing 9 acres, 3 roods, and 7 perches, being part of John Roby Hatfield's purchase of 18½ acres.

This land has a frontage to the water, and runs back to the Government road, which bounds it for 396 feet.

It adjoins the properties of Maclehose, Statham, and others on one side, and Mrs. Reibey's on the other. It is well wooded and has plenty of heavy timber on it.

A capital chance for the market gardener, or any party on the look-out for a small farm, having water communication with Sydney. The timber would nearly repay half the purchase money. Small farms, situated as this is, in a good locality, and adapted for orchard land, or the cultivation of green stuff for the Sydney market, must be in demand, and increase in value.

Terms at sale. 3661

EVERY MAN HIS OWN LANDLORD. TWELVE COTTAGES AT NEWTOWN,

In Lots of one or more, to meet the wishes of purchasers.

MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, on WEDNESDAY, 3rd August, at 11 o'clock,

TWELVE NEAT AND SUBSTANTIAL COTTAGES, AT NEWTOWN,

Described as follows:—

Four Cottages on the Newtown Road, built of brick, on stone foundations, each containing two rooms and kitchen on ground floor, and one large room above. They are neatly pointed in front, and furnished with eaves guttering.

The yards attached to each are paved, and have underground drains, so that the buildings are kept free from damp, and enclosed with 6 feet close fence painted, with back entrance, and good water.

The internal fittings are first rate, there being register stoves, cheffonier cupboards, and cornices with centres to ceilings, neat staircase, and cupboard under.

THE KITCHENS

are floor boarded, and furnished with shelves, rendering each cottage complete in every respect.

The above cottages have been erected by the present proprietor with every attention to comfort and convenience. They are beautifully situated, having on one side extensive views of the country towards Windsor, backed by the Blue Mountains, and on the other towards the waters of Botany.

They are in a healthy and highly respectable neighbourhood, and are let at present to respectable tenants, at a rental of 20s. per week each.

Also,
SIX COTTAGES

in the rear of the above, brick built, with yards paved and drained, enclosed with a close six-feet painted fence, and having back entrances. Let to respectable tenants, at 10s. each per week.

Also,
TWO COTTAGES

in the vicinity of the mansion erected by Mr. Aldis, and now occupied by George Crawley, Esq. They are similar to the last mentioned, and let at the same rate.

Mr. Mort begs to draw the attention of capitalists and mechanics generally to the choice selection of a residence offered by this sale. As a means of investment, the capitalist cannot do wrong in buying the whole, as they are well built, and of a convenient size, ensuring permanent tenants, and consequently a handsome return.

The terms being liberal, the mechanic may buy his house and save his rent, and the locality is too well known to require any comment upon the convenient distance from Sydney, or the salubrity of the position.

Plan on view at the Rooms.

Terms—One half cash, and the remainder by approved bills at 3, 6, 9, and 12 months. 8042

Land near the Sydney Lighthouse
Land in Lane Cove
Allotments on the Hastings
Allotment at Five Dock
The Bello Retiro Estate
Allotment in Braidwood
Five Acres on the Ellenborough River
And Allotments at Yass.

MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, Pitt-street, on WEDNESDAY, August 3, at 11 o'clock,

The following Landed Properties,

Lot 1.
Nearly 5 acres of land in the vicinity of the South Head Light House, with a frontage to a government reserved road, and bounded on the east by the sea coast

Lot 2.
90 acres of land near Lane Cove, being part of 100 acres granted to Benjamin Clayton, having a frontage of 34 chains to the Lane Cove Road, and adjoining the properties of Michael Ansell, Mr. Matthews, and Mrs. Shears, and backed by Government land. On this land is a cottage now in the occupation of Mr. Gooch.

Lot 3.
One allotment of land in the Bello Retiro Estate, being No. 19 of section 1, with a frontage of 33 feet to Lord-street, by a depth of 130

Lot 4.
3 allotments in Hastings North and South

Lot 5.
A corner allotment in the town of Braidwood, containing ½ an acre

Lot 6.
Allotment at Five Dock, near Sydney, being No. 35 of the town of Battersea, near the residence of Captain Wilson, and close to the ferry

Lot 7.
5 acres of land at the Ellenborough River, county of Macquarie, being farm No. 205

Lot 8.
5 allotments in Victoria-street and Hibernia Crescent, Yass, being portions of O'Connell Town.

The above properties being offered for sale to close out-standing accounts, Mr. Mort begs to draw the attention of capitalists and others to lots 1 and 2 in particular.

The land in the vicinity of the South Head Lighthouse is beautifully situated for residences; and a visit to the locality forming the usual recreation for so many of the citizens of Sydney, parties in search of country sites would do well to look at this spot.

The land at Lane Cove is in the neighbourhood of the property of Richard Hill, Esq., whose fruit has carried off the prizes of the Botanic Society for successive seasons. It is capable of sub-division, and would sell most readily in smaller portions.

The land is well timbered, and soil first-rate.

Chippendale-place West.
TWO COTTAGES.

MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, Pitt-street, on TUESDAY, 9th August, at 11 o'clock,

TWO COTTAGES in Chippendale-place West, Chippendale, each containing two rooms, one below and one above. The cottages are bricknogged and weatherboarded, plastered, and ceiled, and erected upon a stone foundation. They have a yard in the rear, with a and stand upon a block of land 25 feet by 48 feet 6 inches.

They are situated next to Belfast Cottages, and are let to weekly tenants at 6s. each per week, but would realise 7s. without any difficulty.

This is a capital chance for two mechanics of moderate means to club together and buy this little property. House rent will be saved and the property can be gradually improved.

Terms at sale. 3756

COSTA RICA COFFEE, Now landing, ex Sophie.

MR. RISHWORTH has received instructions to sell by public auction, at Mr. Mort's Rooms, Pitt-street, on MONDAY, 1st August, at 11 o'clock, 45 BAGS COSTA RICA COFFEE, now landing, ex Sophie.

Terms at sale. 3632

DAMPTON ESTATE, DARTBROOK, NEAR SCONE. 2560 Acres.

MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 5th August, at 11 o'clock,

THE ESTATE OF DAMPTON, IN DARTBROOK, UPPER HUNTER,

Situated about 10 miles from the town of Scone.

The flats adjoining the Dartbrook, about 600 acres, consist of good arable land; and the whole of the remainder is undulating open forest land, fit for pastoral purposes.

There is a paddock of about 300 acres, and 3 smaller paddocks of 32 acres, 13 acres, and 7 acres, respectively, more or less.

THE IMPROVEMENTS

consist of a Weatherboard Cottage, containing 8 ROOMS, with slab-built out-offices in the rear; but these buildings are at present in a state of disrepair.

The property adjoins the estates of Messrs. Docker, Stephens, Thompson, Cozen, and Scales, and is backed by Government land. It has a fine frontage to the waters of Dartbrook.

Mr. Mort is desirous of drawing the attention of parties on the look out for country properties to the valuable estate now offered for sale.

The position of the house is first rate, commanding a beautiful view, and is situated immediately on the high road from the Hunter to Liverpool Plains, by the Cedar Brush.

It is surrounded by the estates of the most respectable proprietors in the neighbourhood, and possesses a large quantity of land fit for agricultural purposes.

The demand for country properties is increasing daily; and farms like this, in a good locality, and well watered, must prove profitable investments.

PATENT PRESERVING PROVISION MANUFACTORY, CAMPERDOWN.

Four Acres of Land and valuable Buildings, forming one of the most complete Establishments in New South Wales.

MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, Pitt-street, on WEDNESDAY, 10th August, at 11 o'clock,

The establishment known as the PATENT PRESERVING PROVISION MANUFACTORY, at Camperdown.

The establishment consists of the following:

An extensive cut ashlar stone building, erected for a dwelling house, and now used as a SLAUGHTER-HOUSE, attached to which on one side is a shed, with tripots complete for rendering tallow; also

A STOCKYARD AND PEN; and on the other side an extensive building containing

EIGHT-STALL STABLE,
LARGE FOWL-HOUSE, and EXTENSIVE PIGGERY,

having yards complete connected to a double dam of wrought stone work, one half of which is open for the pigs and sheep, &c., and the othe half for the horses.

To the fowl-house is attached a

POULTRY YARD,

and the floors of the piggery and stables are pitched, and the whole establishment compact as well as complete

The MANUFACTORY and ENGINE HOUSE are detached, and with the tinman's workshop and stores form one range of buildings, erected on a stone foundation, and fitted with boilers and pans with steaming apparatus, all in first-rate order. There is a for filling the boilers from a well of water, never known to fail, independent of which, to guard against the possibility of mishaps, and for the use of the live stock, there is an

FORCE PUMP

EXTENSIVE RESERVOIR

for supplying the dams, and connected therewith by means of a Stone Tunnel carried underground 247 FEET LONG, the water from which is carried through the Slaughter House, being the means of keeping the place perfectly clean and wholesome. In the Slaughter-house is also fixed an APPARATUS FOR MAKING SAUSAGES.

THE PRESERVING AND SMOKING HOUSE, with Oven attached, is in a separate building, and quite complete.

THE DWELLING-HOUSE

is conveniently situated, built of brick, and containing four rooms, with a detached kitchen and men's hut adjoining. Also a NEAT GARDEN.

And immediately in the rear of the house is a fine cultivation paddock, with beautiful soil, fit to grow anything. It is at present under a crop of green barley. The whole is fenced in and in capital order, and stands upon an area of

FOUR ACRES.

The establishment is situated adjoining the garden known as Charley Smith's, between the Church of England Cemetery and the Parramatta Road, and fronting the cross road from Newtown to Camperdown, which frontage is subdivided into having frontages of about 26 feet by a depth of 119 feet, which, with the buildings, will be put up in one lot, or sold separately, as may be decided upon, to meet the wishes of intending purchasers on the day of sale.

Mr. Mort begs to draw the attention of capitalists as well as enterprising individuals to the valuable property now offered for sale only in consequence of the proprietor's projected departure for Europe. The first establishment of the kind formed in New South Wales, and erected with every regard to convenience and accommodation,—it has fully answered the expectation of the spirited proprietors, and with ordinary supervision must be the means of realising a rapid fortune to the fortunate purchaser.

The recent disclosures with reference to the preserved meats for the Royal Navy and service of H. M. Government in England, have directed attention to the supplies from New South Wales, which are universally acknowledged to be of far superior quality to any thing manufactured at home; and the increasing demand for the Indian navy, the British merchant service, foreign ships of war, and other vessels gradually accumulating in the Southern seas, warrant the assertion that money cannot be better expended than in carrying on an establishment like this, which offers a fine scope for the formation of a with an extended field for a candle and soap factory.

Economy of labour must have been kept in view when the establishment was formed; for its completeness, combined with its compactness, renders it capable of being worked with very few hands,—a most essential point, as events have proved.

The facility of communication with the metropolis—the vicinity to the high road by which all the stock passes in for slaughter—the extensive feeding grounds in the neighbourhood, and the central position of the establishment—are points not to be overlooked; and taken as a whole the advantages offered by this sale can be safely and conscientiously recommended as a remunerative speculation, worthy the attention of any one having capital at his disposal.

Terms at sale.

Plan on view at the Rooms.

Parties desirous of inspecting the premises are invited to do so on and after Monday, the 25th instant; and samples of the various articles manufactured on the establishment, together with every other particular or information, can be obtained from Moses Joseph, Esq., Sydney, or at the Rooms of the auctioneer. 263

SMALL INVESTMENT. COTTAGE IN WOOLLOOMOOLOO.

MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, Pitt-street, on WEDNESDAY, the 3rd August,

A SMALL COTTAGE IN WOOLLOOMOOLOO, situated at the corner of a lane between Crown and Palmer streets, Woolloomooloo, with a frontage of 26 feet 3 inches by a depth of 48 feet 9.

THE COTTAGE

contains two rooms and a skillion. It is built of brick, upon a stone foundation, and let at present at 10s. a week to an old tenant. It has a yard with back entrance.

Mr. Mort begs to call the attention of purchasers to this little investment, which will save the immediate pressure of some rent, and it can be enlarged to advantage when materials get cheaper. A small tenement like this will always command a tenant, and as an investment will amply repay the purchaser.

DALE-STREET, CHIPPENDALE. SMALL COTTAGE.

MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, Pitt-street, on WEDNESDAY, the 3rd August,

A small Cottage, situated in Dale-street, Chippendale,

Containing two rooms, standing on a block of land, having a frontage of 22 feet 6 inches to Dale-street, by a depth of 33 feet.

The cottage is built of brick on a stone foundation, and is neatly and well finished in every respect.

In the yard is a shed, and a well of good water, lined throughout with bricks.

Well worth the attention of mechanics and others on the look-out for a small residence. The proprietor is residing on the premises, and will be happy to give any information to parties wishing to inspect the same.

PRINCELY PROPERTY. LAKE INNES.—PORT MACQUARIE.

MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, the 19th August,

The following valuable Properties:—

Lot 1.
The magnificent estate, known as
LAKE INNES,
At Port Macquarie.

Lot 2.
An extensive block of Land, in the township of Port Macquarie, with fine brick built 5 story stores, dwelling house, bakery, and cottages erected thereon.

Description of Lot 1.—The estate of Lake Innes, being a grant from the Crown of 2560 Acres of Land, but measuring in reality about 4000 acres; all enclosed with a substantial fence or bounded by water which skirts the estate on 3 sides, and divided into paddocks.

There is an agricultural Paddock of first rate soil, containing 100 acres, besides a vineyard of about 8 acres; two other vineyards of 5 acres each, and an orchard of 5 acres, enclosed with a hedge and fence. There is also a Lawn with Shrubbery surrounding which latter is brick-built, containing upwards of twenty rooms, with bath room and closets, and a splendid verandah on two sides, measuring 240 feet in length.

The house is well finished and replete with every comfort, suitable for a large family. The rooms are oil painted and in good order.

THE OUT OFFICES, consisting of detached kitchen, servants' halls, domestics apartments, laundry, stores, and cellars are brick built, capacious and well finished; and to accommodate Thirty Horses, with coach house and other appurtenances. The whole forming one of the most complete establishments in the colony of New South Wales, and erected with a view to comfort and convenience regardless of cost.

The property approaches to within 3 miles of the town of Port Macquarie, and adjoins the township reserve. There is a splendid carriage road from the town to the mansion, distance about six miles.

Iron ore abounds on the estate, which could be worked to great advantage in consequence of the facilities afforded by water carriage. The land generally is well adapted for agricultural purposes, enhanced most materially in value by the abundance of fresh water upon the estate, and its vicinity to a local market and shipping port.

Mr. Mort would fail to do justice to this splendid property, situated to the northward of Port Jackson about 180 miles, and within a mile and a half of the sea coast, were he not to call the particular attention of Capitalists in Melbourne as well as in Sydney to the important property now offered. The mansion is situated on an eminence commanding from the verandahs views of a nature so magnificent that once enjoyed they can never be forgotten. To the southward, the bold and craggy head of Camden Haven, with the ocean on one side and the undulating forest land on the other, forms a striking feature in the landscape; and on the west are the placid waters of Lake Innes, with the varied scenery of forest lands and open plains, bounded in the far distance by the mountains forming the table land. The journey to Sydney can be accomplished in four or five days, over a level road for the most part of the way, and through the estate of the Australian Agricultural Company to Raymond Terrace, from whence the steamers start every morning.

Lot 2

Is an extensive Block of Land situate in the Township of Port Macquarie, described as follows:—Frontage to Horton-street of 132 feet, and frontage to Short-street of 132 feet, by a depth of 330 feet.

On this land are erected an extensive Block of Buildings, being two large Stores, each five stories high, sizes being 67 feet 6 inches and 42 feet long respectively, by a width of 30 feet 4 inches, together with two Cottages, five two-story Houses, Bakery, Stables, Out-offices, and other accommodations, costing originally upwards of £6500.

All built of brick in the most substantial manner, and well finished.

The walls of the Stores are substantially and faithfully built, under careful and scientific supervision, and the whole property is securely enclosed.

It is well worthy of remark that the Government has, within the last few days, despatched an expedition to Port Curtis, under an enterprising surveyor, for the purpose of opening the lands in that district for location; and, with the fleet of steamers gradually accumulating in the waters of Port Jackson, "being the shadow only as yet of coming events," we may safely calculate upon the advancement of Port Macquarie in connection with the traffic which must shortly be open with the more northern ports.

Backed by Wilson's Plains, and other large tracts of land well adapted for agricultural purposes, and only 90 miles from the sheep stations of New England, and the extensive squatting districts to the westward, Port Macquarie, with the aid of a couple of steamers, cannot but progress, as already a large amount of wool and tallow is shipped at this place, it being by far the nearest shipping port; and the proprietor of such extensive premises, distant from the principal wharf only about 200 yards, can ask his own terms, or carry on personally a business with a certain prospect of accumulating a fortune.

"To do everything well" was the characteristic of the party who erected the stores and mansion, and embellished the grounds of Lake Innes, and he carried out his motto with a splendid site to work upon, which cannot be surpassed; and the auctioneer impresses upon capitalists the advantage of embracing an opportunity the like of which seldom occurs.

Colonel Mundy, in his recent work on this colony, has pourtrayed a very faithful description of this place, and as it was written merely as a sketch of what he actually witnessed and felt, it may be taken as a plain unvarnished account, without the least exaggeration.

Plan on view at the rooms.

60 ACRES LAND ON THE M'DONALD RIVER,
840 Acres Land in Argyle
33 Acres Land at Illawarra
2000 Acres Argyle, Inverary Park
1130 Acres on the Burrowa River
42 Acres in Argyle
To be sold without reserve.

MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, Pitt-street, on WEDNESDAY, 10th August, at 11 o'clock,

The following properties:

Lot 1.
A mortgage for £75, with all interest due thereon from the 30th November, 1837, at the rate of 12½ per cent., which sum, with interest, is secured upon in the county of Cook, at the M'Donald River, or first branch of the Hawkesbury, granted by the Crown to Edward Devine, and by him mortgaged to the present vendor.

The M'Donald is well known as a tributary of the Hawkesbury, emptying itself first above Wiseman's Ferry. The banks of the M'Donald are famous for the small farms, evincing the richness of the soil by the profuse vegetation; and parties contented to settle in a healthy locality to "till the land" and live quietly and comfortably, will do well to attend this sale.

There is water carriage to Sydney.

Lot 2.
840 Acres of Land at Jerricknorra, county St. Vincent, commencing on Jerricnorra Creek, at the north-east corner, and bounded on the north by a line west 104 chains; on the west by a line south 80 chains; on the south by a line east 90 chains to Wog Wog Creek; and on the east by that and Jericknorra Creek to the commencing point, with the improvements thereon.

A fine district for agricultural pursuits, and a first rate farm, with plenty of water and extensive runs adjoining.

The first gold discovered in the county of St. Vincent was on the Little River, which waters this Estate; and the probability of gold being found in the immediate locality, imparts a value to the land which ought to be borne in mind on the day of sale.

Lot 3.
32 Acres 2 roods 31 perches of land (part of John Hubert Plunkett's original grant of 1280 acres) situated at Illawarra, in the county of Camden, being lot 28 in Mill Creek, with improvements thereon.

This is on the main road, and situated at the foot of Mount Keira.

A handy farm for a moderate minded man in the garden of New South Wales! What more could be desired?

Lot 4.
Inverary Park, 2000 acres, in the county of Argyle, bounded on the west by a line north 180 chains, forming part of the boundary of Inch's farm; on the north by a line east 120 chains; east by a line south 180 chains; south by a line west 120 chains to the commencing corner, with all the improvements thereon.

A few years since, and Inverary Park was famous for its broad lands under cultivation—its orchards, its garden, and its beautiful paddocks; but the death of its proprietors, coupled with other circumstances, reduced this estate, like many others, to a condition of disrepair. As "Good Times," however, are now coming it only requires an outlay of a few pounds to render it flourishing; man must do a little and nature will do much.

The first gold discovered in the Argyle district was found on this property.

Lot 5.
1130 acres in the county of King, at the head of the Burrowa River; bounded on the north by the Burrowa River; on the east by a section line 130 chains south; on the south by a section line 80 chains west; and on the west by a section line 116 chains north.

Within a short distance from the township of Yass, and well worth the attention of parties on the look out for land for agricultural or pastoral purposes.

Lot 6.
42 acres of land in the county of Argyle, near Windellumа; commencing at Nadjigomar Creek, about 4½ miles from its confluence with Budgong Creek at the north-east corner of a measured portion of 40 acres; bounded on the south by a line west 25 chains; west by a line north 17 chains; north by a line east 26 chains to Najigomar Creek; on the east by that creek to the commencing point, with the improvements thereon.

This land is well adapted for tillage, and in the neighbourhood of extensive runs. Wheat growing in the Southern district has proved most profitable of late.

A choice selection, where some good bargains may be picked up.

Mr. Mort begs to direct the attention of capitalists, farmers, and others to this unreserved sale of country property. There can be no mistake about lands increasing in value; as numbers flock in, farms will be enquired after, independent of which, the gold dug out of the land cannot be devoted to a more lucrative purpose than in purchasing the land itself.

Terms at sale. 3182

10,000 SHEEP,
With the Stations of Bega and Double Creek,
TWOFOLD BAY.
Also, MOB OF CATTLE.

☞ A very superior lot of sheep, warranted sound and never to have been diseased—with a run valuable not only for its pastoral purposes, but also for the splendid agricultural tracts of land which are obtainable under its pre-emptive rights.

TERMS: Half cash—half by approved bill at six months, with Bank interest added.

MR. MORT is instructed by Peter Imlay, Esq., to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, 26th August, at 11 o'clock,

That gentleman's very valuable stations and sheep, which he is disposing of in consequence of his leaving the colony.

THE SHEEP,

which are sound and never were diseased, consist of about

3500 wethers, two to six tooth
4450 ewes, two tooth to aged
2000 lambs
70 rams

10,020 more or less.

The quality of which is well understood, as Mr. Imlay's stock is found throughout the colony.

THE STATIONS

—known as Bega, and Double Creek—are of excellent description, the first-named station being the first selected in the district. The country is well watered and grassed in all seasons, lightly timbered and sound.

There is a large quantity of first-rate cultivation land, which is purchaseable under the pre-emptive right at the upset price of one pound per acre. This land, from its proximity to the shipping port, would realise high prices if sold in small farms.

The run will carry about 13,000 sheep, and it has upon it all necessary improvements, viz.,

Superintendent's dwelling, with garden well stocked with fruit trees.

Two cultivation paddocks, receiving huts at the out stations, hurdles, &c.

After the above,

A mob of cattle, comprising, it is supposed, about 800 head, which the purchaser will have time allowed for taking delivery of.

☞ In the advancing state of the wool market, with the increasing value for the carcase, to say nothing of the great value of the lands obtainable under the pre-emptive right, this property is pre-eminently desirable as an investment.

The proximity of the station to the sea-port renders the shipping of the wool a matter of trifling cost, whilst the position it occupies, with reference to the Port Phillip and Sydney market, is highly desirable.

The departure of Mr. Imlay for New Zealand is the only reason for disposing of a property profitable to work, and delightful to reside upon. The climate is most enjoyable, the scenery exceedingly good, and the soil most productive. An energetic proprietor may form a thriving village upon the station, as the lands are highly desirable for cultivation and dairy work, and the market close to the port, which is only a few miles from the station.

Further particulars on application. 3456

BOILING-DOWN ESTABLISHMENT, PORT MACQUARIE.
Preliminary Notice.

MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, the 19th August next,

The newly-erected Premises in the town of Port Macquarie, known as the Boiling Down Establishment, occupied by Mr. H. Tozer, consisting of brick and other Buildings, with Boilers and apparatus complete.

These buildings have been recently completed by Messrs. Cohen and Co., on the banks of the river, and are complete in every respect with brick drains and every other convenience.

They are rented to a most respectable tenant for a term of three years from the 1st January, 1853.

The attention of capitalists is directed to this property as a safe and profitable means of investment. Port Macquarie is only 90 miles from the extensive stations of New England, and in close proximity to the numerous cattle stations eastward of the Dividing Range, the stock from which can be much more profitably sent into Sydney in the shape of tallow, than as beef or mutton.

Further particulars in a future advertisement. 2843

SPLENDID WHARF PROPERTY, DARLING HARBOUR.
Nearly One and a-half Acres of Land.

MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, Pitt-street, on FRIDAY, the 26th August,

The following valuable property—

The extensive Wharf, Stores, and Buildings known as Brodie and Craig's Wharf, situate at the foot of Bathurst-street, and entered upon from Barker-street, with

TWO WATER FRONTAGES,

the western front to

DARLING HARBOUR

being

226 feet,

and the southern front being 237 feet; and the depth of the whole block, from east to west, being about 290 feet.

Nearly the whole property is filled up, and has a substantial sea wall to the water, rendering the Wharf one of the finest in the city of Sydney.

The Improvements are as follows:—

THREE HOUSES FRONTING BARKER-STREET,

faithfully and substantially built, each containing five rooms, two attics, detached kitchen, and yard, with private entrance in the rear. They are built of brick, and were erected for the accommodation of the firm, who spared no expense in making them comfortable and convenient. On the Wharf is

AN EXTENSIVE TWO-STORY STORES,

80 feet by 15 feet, erected of hardwood timber and weather-boarded; attached to which is a

COAL YARD,

80 feet by 20 feet; also, a range of two stories high, 72 feet by 20 feet; attached to which is a large TIMBER YARD, 96 feet by 76 feet; independent of which there are stables, engineers' shops and other buildings too numerous to particularise; but being in the heart of Sydney intending purchasers can easily inspect the premises and judge for themselves.

A Timber Slip or Basin has also been constructed to facilitate the landing of heavy timber; and notwithstanding the mass of buildings already enumerated, a large space of ground is still vacant for the erection of ADDITIONAL STORES and WAREHOUSES, so urgently needed for the increasing commerce induced by the gold discoveries and the flow of immigration arising therefrom.

Mr. Mort, in offering a property of this nature for public competition in the heart of the metropolis, feels inclined to let the public inspect the premises, and judge of the intrinsic merits of the property, without any comment from him; but at this peculiar moment there are circumstances operating so strongly in favour of extensive waterside premises, that a few remarks may not be out of place.

Vessel after vessel arrives in the harbour, and scarcely any notice is taken of the gradual augmentation of shipping in the waters of Port Jackson by the citizens of Sydney; but the party who has been absent from the metropolis only a few months exclaims with astonishment on his return—"What a host of vessels in the harbour!" Already is the want of wharfage accommodation strongly felt, and the inconveniences arising therefrom are daily increasing. The property now offered has the peculiar advantage of a gradual and easy ascent from the water side to the main thoroughfares of the city; and the day is not distant, when the head of Darling Harbour, like the Sydney Cove, will be one Circular Wharf, with the additional advantages of immediate access to the centre of the metropolis—thus securing the principal portion of the traffic brought into Sydney for shipment by the

SYDNEY RAILROAD.

It may be safely asserted that anything in the shape of a wharf will be readily occupied, and every store well filled with merchandise before another year passes. It must be so; and the proprietor of a property like this may take the world easy. His fortune will be made.

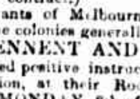

The attention of the

MERCHANTS OF MELBOURNE

is particularly called to this important sale, as so fine an opportunity seldom occurs of securing a water side property complete, where a large vessel can haul alongside and discharge her cargo into secure stores without any delay or expense of carriage.

Plans on view at the Rooms.

Terms.—One-fourth Cash; the residue by a bill at 12 months, with bank interest added. 2976

MONDAY, 8th August.

Positive Sale of the powerful Screw Steamship West Wind, 450 tons register, and 250 horse-power.

(Unless previously disposed of by private contract.)

To the Inhabitants of Melbourne, Geelong, and the colonies generally.

W. M. TENNENT AND CO. have received positive instructions to sell by public auction, at their Rooms, MELBOURNE, on MONDAY, 8th of August, at 12 o'clock,

That very powerful and substantial new steamship WEST WIND, 450 tons register, and 250 horse-power.

This fine boat was built at Wilmington, Delaware, and launched in December, 1851. Her timbers are of oak, and the engines were manufactured at great expense by the celebrated firm of Messrs. Rennie and Nephew.

Length of keel, 144 feet 6 inches; breadth, 26 feet 6 inches; depth of hold, 14 feet.

Her cabin accommodations are of a very superior order, being capable of carrying 60 passengers with the greatest comfort. The steerage is so arranged that 150 passengers can have separate berths, with port holes in each, thereby securing a continued ventilation, which is so conducive to the health of those at sea.

The Saloon is most elegantly fitted up, and for interior comfort or beauty of design, is certainly not surpassed by any vessel at present afloat; it is situated amidships, and is very spacious, and can comfortably dine sixty to eighty people. When comfort, which is so much required at sea, is taken into account, it places this vessel, so far as that is concerned, above any yet in the Australian colonies.

The auctioneers need not make any remark of their own, either to her capability or to her suitability for the colonial trade, as they little doubt but that the merchants of Sydney, Van Diemen's Land, as well as those of Victoria, will be fully alive to the advantages to be derived by keeping such a noble craft to meet our fast extending trade; and invite inspection on her return from Adelaide, about the 30th instant. Every information will be given by the Captain on board; or by the auctioneers, Elizabeth-street.

Terms—One third cash, remainder bills at three and six months, bearing bank interest. 3383

BRITISH BARQUE WATERHEN.
BOWDEN AND THRELKELD (successors to George A. Lloyd) have been favoured with instructions to sell by auction, at the City Mart, 474, George-street, Sydney, on FRIDAY the 5th day of August next, at 11 o'clock,
The fine fast-sailing British built barque WATERHEN, 355 tons register, carrying 670 tons weight and measurement; stands on the A1 red at Lloyds, as per certificate. She is well and faithfully built, underwent all necessary repairs, and was reclassed at Lloyds in January, 1853; had new lower rigging fore and aft, previous to her sailing on her present voyage.
This vessel is well found in sails, rigging, ground tackle, stores, tanks, and water casks, with an extensive and full inventory. She shifts without ballast, and has turned out in London 550 loads of timber, and in Dublin, in 1851, discharged 23,720 bushels of wheat from Alexandria, which proves her to be well calculated for the New Zealand, Van Diemen's Land, China, or the Manila trade.
She now lies at Moore's Wharf, where intending purchasers are invited to inspect her.
Further particulars can be had, and the inventory seen by applying to the Auctioneers, at the City Mart.

THREE HOUSES IN BOTANY-STREET, Near the Criminal Court House, DARLINGHURST.
MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, Pitt-street on TUESDAY, the 2nd August,
Three Houses situated in Botany-street, and standing on a block of Land, having a frontage of about 28 feet by a depth of 80 feet.
These Houses are newly erected of brick on stone foundations, and may be described as follows:—
Two Houses, fronting Botany-street, containing 6 rooms each,—3 on the ground floor and 3 above, with grates, and well finished in every respect. They are cemented in front and have venetian blinds, and the whole are slated.
In the rear of the Yard, and having entrance by a back lane is a built of rubble stone, containing 4 rooms, with water closets in the yard complete, with stone cesspools. The whole place is fenced in, and the proprietor, who is residing in the last-mentioned house, will afford every information.
TWO-STORY HOUSE,
The 2 six-roomed Houses, fronting Botany-street, are only just completed, but can be let immediately at 35s. or 40s. per week.
Parties are invited to inspect the premises, being the third and fourth houses from the Court House.
TO BE PUT UP IN ONE LOT.
Mr. Mort begs to draw the attention of parties having money to invest to this fine opportunity of purchasing new houses of a most tenantable description. Situated in a healthy position, they are also convenient to the busy parts of the city, and, in the present dearth of lodgings, would pay well as Boarding-houses.
Plan on view at the Rooms.
Terms at sale. 2693

BARQUE BELLA VISTA,
198 Tons Register, carries 280 Tons.
MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, Pitt-street, on an early day, of which due notice will be given,
THE BARQUE BELLA VISTA,
A Baltimore Clipper, built in 1847.
The framework of this vessel is oak and locust, and she is planked with oak, copper-fastened throughout, and coppered with heavy copper only 18 months since; her inside lining is oak and pine alternately; she is 95 feet long, with a beam of 21 feet 6 inches, and a depth of hold 10 feet; she draws 9 feet 6 inches when full, and her cabin accommodations are of a superior character.
She is fully found in everything requisite, and fit to go to sea immediately after discharging; an inventory of her stores and gear is in preparation, and can be seen at the office of the auctioneer when ready.
This vessel has been profitably employed in the Moreton Bay trade, and is now parted with solely because the owner wishes to leave the colony.
Mr. Mort begs to draw the attention of the mercantile community to the beautiful craft now offered for sale. When the Bella Vista was run into by the brig Jack on a recent occasion, she was opened to ascertain the extent of damage, and it is worthy of remark that all parties concerned stated that they had never seen a vessel so well put together before. She is pronounced by all the shipwrights in Sydney to be the best built craft that ever came from the United States, and her sailing qualities fully bear out the high encomium passed upon her.
She is well adapted for the Melbourne or New Zealand trade, and in fact is just the craft to be profitably employed wherever commercial enterprise has obtained a footing in any part of the world.
Mr. West, the shipbuilder who opened her, will give every information, and on her arrival in Sydney she will be open for inspection at Kellick's Wharf.
Terms liberal, at sale. 3946

1,200 2 and 3 year-old Wethers
150 Rams
4,150 Mixed Sheep, from 12 months to 2 years old
Total .. 9,100 more or less.
Cattle.—About 240 head, on the run, with the right of brand given in to about 50 head running on the Wieambilla Creek.
The runs are those well known as
WOMBO FOREST,
WIEAMBILLA, And UPPER WIEAMBILLA.
and may be described as follows:
Wombo Forest, about 30 miles below Warra Warra, capable of depasturing about 12,000 sheep.
Wieambilla, adjoining block, capable of depasturing about 4000 sheep.
Upper Wieambilla, adjoining block, capable of depasturing about 4000 sheep.
Wambo Forest has a frontage of about 15 miles to each side of the Condamine, upon which is the head station; and the other two runs embrace the country on the Wieambilla Creek and Ewer's Creek, to the Condamine river. The country is fine open forest land, and the sheep can be run in flocks of 2000, and do well.
The stations are sound and healthy, and the locality one of the finest in New South Wales for sheep farming; and the assessment being taken at the minimum rate, the above runs will carry a far larger number of sheep than above stated.
THE IMPROVEMENTS
comprise, on the Head Station,
A NEAT COTTAGE, built of slabs, grooved top and bottom, shingled and floored, containing 5 rooms,
With KITCHEN, STORES,
And THREE HUTS.
A WOOL SHED AND PRESS,
And TWO PADDOCKS, containing 50 or 60 acres of land.
A STOCK YARD to hold about 400 head of cattle.
And
on the Out-stations
SIX HUTS.
The following articles on the stations are to be taken at the prices fixed:—
2 drays, 20 good working bullocks with gear complete, tarpaulins, one cart, and set of harness—for £220.
9 broken-in horses, at £12 each.
21 mixed lot of horses, at £8 each.
And the supplies on the station, at the time of delivery of the stock, to be taken at a valuation.
Mr. Mort begs to call the particular attention of parties on the look-out for valuable sheep stations, to the opportunity now offered of securing the same in the finest district in the colony of New South Wales, and which cannot be surpassed by any other, either for its salubrity, soundness of the Runs, or respectability of the Squatters.
The Stations are most compact, forming one series of Runs, well-watered and well-grassed, situated about 30 miles from the celebrated Runs of Warra Warra.
The wool has always been shipped at Moreton Bay, to which port there is a first-rate road.

VILLA SITES, BALMAIN.
48 Allotments.
DAY OF SALE, WEDNESDAY, 24TH AUGUST.
MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, Pitt-street, on WEDNESDAY, the 24th of August, at 11 o'clock,
48 ALLOTMENTS OF LAND
at Balmain, being the choice selection of the lots disposed of in the original sale of Messrs. Thacker and Co., consisting of blocks Nos. 31 and 32, with deep water frontages, and open to the cooling breezes of summer.
These blocks are subdivided into allotments, having frontages of 50 feet to 120 feet, by depths of 100 to 200 feet, with reserved roads.
Mr. Mort begs to draw the attention of all parties resident in the metropolis to the rare opportunity now offered of securing a site for a neat country villa, where refreshing breezes and beautiful views can be enjoyed within so short a distance of the city.
The depth of water fronting Snail's Bay, towards the Parramatta River is very considerable, and in parts of the property now offered for sale, natural wharves present themselves, adapted for good sized vessels. The advancement of Balmain, in the direction of the dry dock at Cockatoo Island, will call the capabilities of this locality into action; and whether for residences or landing places into the heart of this fast increasing and most beautiful of the suburbs of Sydney, the site of these allotments cannot be surpassed.
Sufficiently elevated above the salt water to be free from the dampness arising therefrom, and yet not exposed to the bleak gales from the southward and westward; Nature has preserved a happy medium, and Art only is now required to improve what she thus offers.
The lots will be distinctly marked and pegged out, so that purchasers can be satisfied they will be put in possession of the actual spots they have decided upon acquiring.
Terms.—25 per cent. cash deposit, and the residue by bills at 6 and 12 months' date.
Plan on view at the rooms. 1769

5000 PRIME CATTLE.
With the following fattening STATIONS on Liverpool Plains.
PRELIMINARY NOTICE.
MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, about the middle of September,
5000 HEAD OF WELL-BRED CATTLE, together with the following Stations:—
DRIL-DOOL
CUBBAROO
SOUTH ORIEL
AND BULLARAWA
situated on the Namoi River, and well-known as the most fattening stations in that district.
It is only necessary to state, with reference to the quality of the cattle, that they are all of the well-known J. B. O. brand, so much sought after by the butchers of Sydney.
For further particulars apply to Messrs. Rundle, Dangar, and Co., Queen's-place; or to T. S. Mort. 3790
